LIND PREPARES TO TELL HIS MESSAGE

O'Shaughnessy Has Asked Huerta Whether Note Will Be Received.

ACCEPTANCE IS EXPECTED

Another May Follow, but Full Import of Mr. Wilson's Desires May Be Delayed.

WASHINGTON IS RELIEVED

Calmness of Mexico Over Lind Pleases Officials—Hope from Mrs. Lind's Presence.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—The message of the State Department at Washington which John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, has for President Huerta is ready for presentation. At least part of the State Department's desires are expressed in a document which was translated into Spanish to-day.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé, took steps to-day to ascertain whether the Mexican Government would receive the communication. That it will do so there is little doubt, since it has never expressed unwillingness to accept Embassy communications, and the receipt of this message would not involve the reception of Mr. Lind or Dr. William Bayard Hale, who also is in Mexico on behalf of the State Department.

All persons concerned in the presentation of the statement of the attitude of the United States Government toward Mexico are reticent as to its character, but there is reason to believe that the first note, if it is accepted, will be followed by at least one other. The full import of Washington's suggestions or demands, however, will be left for a still later stage.

Mexican officials are uncommunicative regarding the special mission of Mr. Lind, but unofficially their attitude of non-compliance with any plan of interference on the part of the United States Government has not been altered.

Mr. Lind and Dr. Hale were in close conference for several hours to-day. The most of Mr. Lind's time, however, was spent at his hotel, chiefly that he might be near Mrs. Lind, who is kept to her room by illness. Her indisposition is not serious. The plan to lodge Mr. and Mrs. Lind at the embassy was abandoned, as the building is practically dismantled.

Reporters of several Mexican papers tried to interview Mr. Lind at his hotel, but they met with little success.

Mr. Lind stated that he did not have the slightest intention of discussing affairs regarding Mexico with private individuals. He said his business was with official Mexico, and that he would be very careful with whom he talked. There need be no apprehension, he added, that he would embarrass the Government by any indiscretions of that sort.

Mr. Lind was an early riser this morning. The sun had not mounted high over Mount Popocatepetl before he was astir. He took a stroll through the park in front of his hotel and down San Francisco Avenue before the shutters were removed from the store windows.

A few hours later an automobile called at the hotel and conveyed Mr. Lind to the Embassy of the United States, where, to the accompaniment of hammering of carpenters in adjoining rooms, where they were preparing the household goods of Henry Lane Wilson, the former Ambassador, for shipment to the United States, the "adviser" entered upon his duties, taking temporary offices there.

Federico Gamboa, the new Secretary for Foreign Relations, speaking to-day with regard to Mr. Lind's mission, said it could scarcely be properly described as one of peace, since no war existed between Mexico and the United States.

"I have great faith," the Secretary said, "in the reasonableness of the judgment of the United States, and I have the conviction that the difficulties between Mexico and the United States soon will be adjusted."

EMISSARY KEEPS SILENT.

Refuses to Talk of His Mission Except with Officials.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Since his arrival here last night ex-Gov. Lind has continued to remain discreetly silent concerning his mission.

At the Hotel Lascurain to-night, after several hours' conference with the Chargé d'Affaires, Mr. O'Shaughnessy, at the American Embassy, Mr. Lind refused to discuss his plans or talk about the Mexican situation at all, just as he has done ever since he was asked to come here by President Wilson.

The Mexicans and the members of the foreign colony of the city alike apparently display no interest in the presence of President Wilson's representative.

Mr. Lind, so far as is known, has

BURGLAR SCARE AT PIER.

Nocturnal Visitors Driven Away by the Blowing of Whistles.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 11.—Cottagers in Ocean Road were frightened last night by the sounding of an alarm at one of the villas, which several unknown visitors approached from the road. When discovered they made a hasty retreat, and whistles were blown in the neighborhood.

No new clues have been developed recently in the Hanan jewel robbery, and two detectives were recalled from the case to-day.

FRAWLEY PROTECTS $6,000.

Gets Attachment for Money He Advanced Contracting Company.

The Sheriff's office received yesterday a $6,000 attachment against the contracting corporation Pethick Brothers & Co. of 51 Chambers Street on an assigned claim for money advanced by State Senator Frawley. As Vice President of the company Mr. Frawley put up the $6,000 as deposit on a bid for the Passaic Valley sewer. As the bid was not accepted the money was returned to the company.

As Mr. Pethick, the President of the company, is abroad, and as the Senator wished to prevent other persons from checking out the money, he arranged for the attachment as a matter of precaution.

FRIENDS AID SUNDAY PLAY.

Old Flushing Meeting House Grounds Offered to Youngsters.

Members of the Flushing Society of Friends have given their support to the plan to open the public playgrounds in that place on Sunday afternoons. The society has given the use of a large plot surrounding its meeting house on Broadway, Flushing, to the playground association, and next Sunday children will be playing in the backyard of the old Quaker Meeting House which was built in 1694. Miss Ruth Howard, who has been interested in the work, said that the opening of the playgrounds would keep the children off the streets.

"At this time of the year most of the Sunday schools are closed," she said, "and the playgrounds cannot take them away from the Sunday school. This is the only public playground in the borough to be open on Sunday."

GAYNOR MEETS A DOUBLE.

Thinks He Is Looking Into a Mirror When Dr. Wilson Confronts Him.

Mayor Gaynor's double is spending the Summer at Oak Island Beach, on Great South Bay, opposite Babylon, L. I. He is Dr. Thomas Wilson of Hudson, N. Y., and he looks so much like the Mayor he says that when a few days ago in Brooklyn he sat down opposite the Mayor in a trolley car, Mr. Gaynor thought he was looking into a mirror.

"Mayor Gaynor looked at me in astonishment when I sat down opposite him," Dr. Wilson asserted. "We both alighted at the same corner and introduced ourselves, after which we had a long conversation, and the Mayor invited me to visit him at the City Hall or at St. James. Then I invited Mr. Gaynor to visit me at my home in Hudson. He laughed heartily when I told him that I was defeated for an elective office in Columbia County, N. Y., because I looked so much like him."

AUTO RUNS DOWN THREE.

Garage Owner Hits Two Children and Young Cyclist.

Two children and a young man were injured last evening when they were run down and struck by an automobile in Sterling Place, Brooklyn. One of the children, James Namgano, 8 years old, of 925 Pacific Street, was removed to the Swedish Hospital in a serious condition.

The boy and his brother, Harry, 2 years old, were playing in the street in front of 923 Sterling Place when an automobile owned and operated by Ward Cavanagh, a garage owner, of 190 West 100th Street, Manhattan, was passing, going west. At the same time John Damato, 22 years old, of 608 Sterling Place, mounted on a bicycle, approached from the opposite direction.

Cavanagh saw the boys in the street and turned out to avoid them, when he saw Damato on the wheel directly in his path. He tried to turn in short to the curb to avoid all three, but it was too late. He struck Damato and knocked him from his wheel and then struck the two children. The auto then crashed into a fire hydrant and cut the hydrant off at its base.

James Namgano sustained a compound fracture of the left leg, cuts and bruises about the head and body, and internal injuries. Harry Namgano and Damato received cuts and bruises, and after being attended by the ambulance surgeon were removed to their homes.

COULDN'T FORGET TRAINING

Old Fire Horses Dash Away with Supply Wagon When Alarm Sounds

The good old days have not been forgotten by "Dick" and "Harry," two horses attached to the fire engine house in Seventy-seventh Street, near Broadway, which have been retired from active duty as fire horses and set to work at the less interesting task of drawing the supply wagon.

The horses were in the engine house yesterday afternoon with the supply wagon at their heels. Suddenly, as they were standing there woolgathering, an alarm sounded. At the first clang of the bell both horses jumped forward. Out the door and down the street they ran as in the days of old, galloping at their best speed. Their technique, though, was rusty. At Seventy-seventh Street and Broadway they lost all sense of direction and, running blindly across the street, jumped the low fence inclosing the grass plot over the Subway, broke their harness to pieces, and left the supply wagon behind them.

This escapade brought them to their senses. Finding themselves disengaged from the supply wagon and seeing an abundance of green grass before them, they fell to and browsed contentedly, watching the gathering crowd out of the corner of their eyes. It was an hour before Edward Benson, their driver, could coax them out of the inclosure and lead them back to their stalls.

DINERS IN HEALY'S BESIEGED BY POLICE

Dwyer Tries to Imprison Four Women and Sixteen Men All Night in Restaurant.

RESERVES GUARD DOORS

Healy Tells Patrons Not to Worry, and Slips Them Out by Rear Exits After Bluffing Police.

eHaly's restaurant at Columbus Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street was placed under siege by the police reserves of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station in charge of Inspector Dwyer at 1:15 o'clock this morning because twenty patrons, sixteen men and four women, refused to leave at the 1 A. M. closing time. Dwyer stationed guards at all the main entrances with instructions to prevent any one leaving. He had then warned Thomas Healy, the proprietor, three times to close his place, and threatened to keep the diners there until 6 o'clock unless they immediately went away. The diners laughed and jeered at him.

At 2:05 o'clock the seige was still on, despite the efforts of several of the patrons to leave. They found stocky policemen guarding the entrances; men who wouldn't listen to what they had to say and simply muttered that they were working under orders.

Then Mr. Healy solved the problem. He told all of the diners that if they wished to they could slip away by means of a back door. Sixteen accepted the offer at once and departed. The police, it was said, became aware that they were leaving before half a dozen had gone. However, no very determined effort was made to stop them. Two men and two women remained to finish their food at their leisure.

Wide Open at 1:05 A. M.

At 1:05 o'clock Healy's was running wide open, despite the assertion of the police that he would have to obey Mayor Gaynor's order. The police had ordered Healy to close his place, but he had refused to obey them, and they had withdrawn.

Healy's determination to keep his restaurant open caused a crowd to collect about the entrances fifteen minutes before the fixed closing hour. At 12:55 o'clock Mr. Healy closed his bar and securely fastened the door with a padlock. Almost at the same moment a policeman entered the main dining rooms.

"All out at 1 o'clock," he announced in a loud voice.

Healy stepped up to the bluecoat after the announcement was made.

"All my patrons have been notified now," he said pleasantly. "You as a policeman have done your duty. Now I wish you would leave the place."

Healy was careful to see that the last drink of liquor was taken from the tables at 1 o'clock sharp. There were then sixteen persons in the main dining room, three of them women.

The policeman who had made the first announcement stepped toward the door, where he was joined by another bluecoat.

Healy told them to go away.

"We have already been notified," he said, "there is no use for you to come in again."

The policemen seemed in doubt when they were in turn joined by Acting Capt. Hart of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station. It was learned later that one of the policemen had signaled to him.

Healy Blocks the Entrance.

When Healy saw the Captain he got in front of him, partly blocking the entrance.

"Captain," he said, "the policemen have told me to close. I will not. If you try to put my patrons out by force I will tell all of them that they have cause for civil action for damages."

"If they don't get out they will be put out bodily," retorted Hart.

Healy still blocked the doorway.

"If you must do something, arrest me," he said.

"No," retorted Hart, "I am going to put your patrons out."

Healy again reminded the Captain that such action would result in several suits being instituted against the city and Hart hesitated. Just when it looked as if he was about to order the policemen to follow him into the dining rooms to put the men and women into the street Inspector Dwyer approached. He said something to Hart which those on the inside could not hear. It brought about a complete change of front on the part of the Captain.

"I am to disappoint you," he said.

Then he walked away with the Inspector.

More Patrons Enter.

After Capt. Hart went away three men and one woman in the crowd outside entered the dining room and gave their orders. Everybody began to laugh and talk predicting the end of what they called Mayor Gaynor's "blue law."

It was scarcely a minute later that Inspector Dwyer reappeared, accompanied by Detective Sergt. Hughes. Healy stepped up to him.

"This is my property, Inspector," he said, "and no one but myself has jurisdiction here."

"I am acting under orders," replied Dwyer, as he went about notifying the diners. When they paid no attention to him he started away, asserting that he would be back in five minutes with the reserves.

At 1:15 o'clock Inspector Dwyer returned. He again ordered the diners out, and again was met with smiles. It looked as if Healy had won a victory and that Dwyer was helpless. Then he announced his latest plan. It was said that he probably had consulted with other police officials higher in authority when he made the last trip to his offices in the West Sixty-eighth Street Station.

"Unless you go," he said, "the doors will be closed and you will be locked in for the night. Men will be stationed at the doors and no one will leave here before 6 o'clock."

No one went, and then reserves invested the place.

After some of the patrons had made unsuccessful efforts to pass the guards at the doors things became quiet until 1:45 o'clock. Then two policemen, working under orders from Inspector Dwyer, attempted to close the doors, which had remained wide open. Healy jumped in front of them.

"Take your hands off those doors," he said.

Out of the crowd of 500 persons which had collected about the restaurant appeared Inspector Dwyer and Capt. Hart. Dwyer said to the two patrolmen:

"Close those doors."

"No, you don't," objected Healy, getting in their way. "This is my property, Inspector. You dare not touch it."

Manager Kayne of the restaurant placed his back against the doors and the policemen were unable to budge them.

"If you want to arrest anyone here is my manager," shouted Healy, "arrest him."

Dwyer didn't accept the dare.

"Never mind that," he said to the policemen, and they withdrew a few feet, but remained on guard.

SUSPECT GANG PLOT IN GIRL'S MURDER

Police Recall a Woman Decoyed Lustig to 'Humpty' Jackson's to be Shot.

The fact that Hungarians from the vicinity of Fourteenth Street and Second Avenue held a picnic in Cold Spring Grove on Sunday afternoon, together with the knowledge that William Lustig, who was shot and wounded in "Humpty" Jackson's coffee house at Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue a week ago by gangsters, had been drawn to the place by a telephone message from a girl, suggested to the police last night that possibly the woman who was found murdered at Inwood on Sunday night might have been killed as part of a gang plot.

It is known that the police have been hot on the trail of the girl decoy in the Lustig case, and it is argued by some of the men working on this latest murder that the gangsters may have feared she would reveal the names of all concerned in the Lustig plot if placed under arrest. Also there have been rumors that Lustig's decoy would voluntarily seek immunity by divulging the identity of the plotters. Either of these reasons, the police assert, would be sufficient to cause the gangsters, who hold life cheaply, to put her out of the reach of the police.

Under the direction of Capt. Hulse of the St. Nicholas Avenue precinct and Acting Capt. Herlihy of the West 125th Street Detective Bureau, a score of detectives were seeking clues yesterday as to the identity of the murdered woman, and the police were confident that her name would be ascertained within a day or so. Last night Coroner Winterbottom directed that an autopsy should be performed upon the body at 10 o'clock this morning at the Bellevue morgue.

The body was found near the junction of two paths in the heart of the woods on the old Dyckman estate. These paths are seldom used by the boatmen who moor their craft in the adjoining creek or inlet. The murder was discovered on Sunday night, because Frank C. Allen of 2,403 Valentine Avenue, the Bronx, after leaving his motor boat in the inlet, decided to avoid the path leading along the shore eastward to Broadway, because he recollected that rains had washed deep gulleys in it.

It was to the cottage of "Pop" Seeley, caretaker of the Dyckman estate, that he ran after finding the body, and from there a telephone message was sent to the St. Nicholas Avenue Station. Patrolman Flynn, who was on duty at 207th Street and Broadway, was also notified, and summoned an ambulance from the Washington Heights Hospital.

Find Murderer's Knife.

Until daybreak reserves from the St. Nicholas Avenue Station searched the thickets and underbrush with lanterns, seeking the weapon used by the murderer, or anything else that could be used to trace him. The search continued throughout the forenoon yesterday after Capt. Herlihy and Detective Sergt. Louis Hyman took charge of the case. At noon Mounted Patrolman Charles F. Hughes of the St. Nicholas Avenue Station found a bloodstained jackknife with an old-fashioned horn handle, hidden in a clump of bushes some ten feet from where the body lay.

A little later Capt. Herlihy picked up a woman's blood-stained handkerchief. The handkerchief bore no monogram or other mark. The knife was covered with blood, and had a single blade, 3⅝ inches in length. Later one of the detectives aiding in the search picked up a cobbler's iron last, which bore stains which might be either rust or dried blood. An empty bottle which had once contained a patent medicine was also found a short distance from the body, but it was not thought that it had any connection with the murder. In the centre of a clump of bushes which had been trodden down Capt. Herlihy picked up two cheap shell hairpins set with imitation diamonds, and many of the ordinary wire variety.

At 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning the Coroner allowed the police to take the body to the St. Nicholas Avenue Station, where the detectives made Bertillon measurements of it. At the station Capt. Herlihy removed from the woman's fingers a few strands of short brown hair, which had been pulled out by the roots. Later the body was removed to the Harlem Morgue at the foot of East 120th Street. It was sent last night to the Bellevue Morgue for the autopsy this morning.

The body had been much mutilated. The head was severed almost from the trunk. Under the chin were three deep gashes, and there were cuts on both cheeks. The hands and wrists of the murdered woman were deeply cut, as though she had attempted to wrest the jackknife from her assailant. On the top of her head was a deep wound, inflicted seemingly by some blunt instrument. Capt. Herlihy said later that such a wound could have been inflicted with the cobbler's last which was found near the body.

Saw Man and Woman Quarreling.

While the body was lying at the St. Nicholas Avenue station house, John J. Fitzgerald, a United States Customs Inspector, of 213th Street and Columbus Avenue, visited the station and told Capt. Hulse that at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening he had seen a man and woman walking in the direction of the grove and that they appeared to be quarreling. He said that the man was short and stocky and wore a dark suit and a gray, soft felt hat. Fitzgerald examined the body of the murdered woman, but was unable to identify it as that of one of the persons he had seen.

Edward Smith of Nicoll Place, which is near the point where the murder was discovered, told the reporters yesterday afternoon that while playing pinochle with some friends at his home on Sunday night he heard a shriek from the direction of the woods. This was at 8:30 o'clock. One of the party remarked that it was the screech of an owl, scores of which infest the woods, and no more attention was paid to it. In the inlet at the foot of the wooded hill upon which the murder was committed, a fleet of pleasure craft lies at anchor, and upon many of the boats the owners are spending the Summer. None of them heard any unusual sounds on Sunday night until after the murder was discovered.

The police are of the opinion that the murdered woman is a Slav. Hungarians from the vicinity of Second Avenue and Twelfth Street held a picnic in the grove on Sunday afternoon and their roistering did not stop until heavy showers in the evening drove them to shelter. A few stayed near the grove under the cover of some of the ramshackle boathouses on the shore of the inlet and were seen to re-enter the woods later where they had hidden a few kegs of beer. It was after the evening rain that the murder was committed, as the clothing worn by the dead woman was dry when her body was discovered. The rain, which was very heavy, stopped at eight o'clock.

FARLEY, ILL ON A COT, SEES HIS HORSE LOSE

Strikebreaker, Dying of Consumption, So Weak He Has to Sleep on the Field.

For several days spectators of the racing at the Empire City track, at Yonkers, have noticed that a man, apparently greatly weakened by disease, has watched the horses from a cot at a vantage point near the rail. He was taken to the track on last Thursday morning, and every effort was made then to hide his identity. Two physicians and two nurses accompanied him.

It became known yesterday that the man was James Farley, leader of strikebreakers, and that he was desperately ill of tuberculosis. He owns many race horses, and his presence at the Empire City track is in response to his request that he be allowed to look on once more while his favorite horse, Billie Miller, a trotter, competed there. Mr. Farley, it was said, had been living at the Hotel Astor in this city, and, notwithstanding his failing health, arranged to have his horse entered in the race on Thursday. The night before the race he called his physicians to him and told them that, whatever might be the consequences, he wanted to see the contest. They protested, but Mr. Farley was obdurate. Finally it was decided that the best course was to let him have his way. So early on Thursday morning an ambulance drove up to the Astor and Mr. Farley was put into it. He was away on his journey before any one except the hotel employes knew of his departure.

At first it was said the trip seemed to bring about an improvement in Mr. Farley's condition. He was carried on a stretcher to see his horse and took a lively interest in all that was going on. Then when the race was called he was put on a cot, his head supported on pillows. He watched the horses intently as they raced around the track, following every movement of Billie Miller with a trained eye. But he was doomed to bitter disappointment, as his horse came in fifth. The excitement of the race, it was said yesterday, had brought on a relapse.

It was decided that it would be unwise to bring Mr. Farley back to the city. Arrangements were made for him to sleep out of doors at the track when the weather was fair and to seek the shelter of one of the near-by buildings if it rained. Since the day that Billie Miller raced, Mr. Farley has spent most of his time around the stables. The hope was expressed, but in no very confident tone, that the change and out-of-door life might restore his health.

Mr. Farley, some of the men at the race track say, is afraid of an attempt upon his life. He has provided a guard of ten men, some of whom he employed in his strikebreaking days. They have been with him constantly, although he is apparently in no danger. One of the guards told him so, but he made no comment.

So far Farley has entered but one horse in the races. He has several thoroughbreds stabled at the track, though, and he has asked to be permitted to be near them as much as possible. A friend asked him the other day how he was feeling. Farley smiled a bit wanly and replied: "My horses are all I have to live for now."

Mr. Farley was born thirty-nine years ago at Malone, N. Y. He came into prominence first as a strikebreaker in 1895, and in the fifteen years that followed it was said he accumulated a fortune. He established a breeding farm at Plattsburg, N. Y., where he lived with his mother and sisters. He is unmarried.

He has always said that he was not an enemy of organized labor, and that he refused to go into strikes where the men were underpaid. Once he refused to assist the New Jersey Public Service Corporation, telling the officials of the company that their men were underpaid. On the other hand, he broke the Interborough strike in this city, netting $300,000 for himself, it was said. He has also broken strikes in Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Waterbury, and many other cities in this country and Canada.

TRAIN HITS NICOLL AUTO.

Machine Is Destroyed, but Miss Nicoll Escapes Serious Injury.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 11.—Miss Josephine Nicoll, daughter of De Lancey Nicoll, suffered merely a sprained ankle this afternoon when her motor runabout, which she was driving to the Nicoll Summer home here, was struck by a Long Island Railroad train at the Bridgehampton crossing. Driving with her at the time was Miss Eugenie A. Philbin, the daughter of Supreme Court Justice Philbin. Miss Philbin escaped unhurt.

The Bridgehampton crossing is guarded by a warning bell, but if it rang Miss Nicoll did not hear it, and the front wheels of her motor were on the track before she noticed the approaching train. At the sight of it bearing down on them Miss Philbin sprang from her seat and jumped to safety. Miss Nicoll was not so quick. As the train struck her machine she was tossed out, but fortunately thrown out of harm's way, while the runabout was dragged along the track and ground to wreckage.

Fortunately, too, neither the train nor the runabout was moving at high speed. Both the engineer and the firemen of the train insisted that the locomotive whistle was blowing and that the bell was ringing as the train approached the crossing.

BROKER HELD FOR LARCENY

Nassauer Is Accused in Deal Involving $16,000 in Bonds.

Gustav Nassauer, a broker living in the Bordeaux apartment, 539 Riverside Drive, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $16,000 worth of bonds, and was held in $10,000 bail by Magistrate Barlow in the Tombs Court. He was unable to furnish bail at the time and was locked up. Another hearing will be given to-morrow morning.

The complaint was made by Harrison H. Hardinger, a real estate broker, living at the Hotel Imperial. The complaint alleges that Hardinger sent to Nassauer on Aug. 8 twenty bonds valued at $16,000. Hardinger says he sent the bonds to Nassauer to show to a customer. A clerk delivered the bonds and came back without a receipt. Hardinger, in his complaint, alleges that since Aug. 8 he has been unable to get Nassauer either to return the bonds or to give a receipt, so he made a charge of larceny against him.

Neither Hardinger nor Nassauer would discuss the matter in court when the arraignment took place. Nassauer at once sent for a lawyer.

Rumor Early This Morning That an Injunction Will Be Sought to Block Impeachment.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—A resolution calling for the impeachment of Gov. William Sulzer for "willful and corrupt conduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors" was introduced in the Assembly last night by Majority Leader Aaron J. Levy.

Mr. Levy moved that the resolution be taken up for consideration this morning. Assemblyman Hinman offered as a substitute that consideration be deferred until next Monday evening. This was defeated by a vote of 30 to 62. The Levy motion was carried by a vote of 64 to 30. This was just before 1 o'clock this morning. The House then adjourned to meet at 11 A. M.

A general report was current among Senators and Assemblymen early this morning that friends of Gov. Sulzer were endeavoring to obtain an injunction to estop the Legislature at its session to-day from consideration of the impeachment proceedings.

There were present at last night's session fewer than 100 of the 150 members of the lower house. Some of them showed fight. The spirit of belligerency transcended party lines. There was no doubt that any attempt to force immediate action would have ended in disaster for the Governor's enemies.

The leaders of the majority in both houses of the Legislature, however, declared after the two houses had adjourned an hour after midnight that they were ready to go through with their programme of throwing the Governor into the political discard.

The impeachment resolution was introduced in the Assembly after a preliminary report of the Frawley investigating committee, submitting the disclosures regarding unacknowledged contributions to the Sulzar campaign fund and the Governor's alleged speculations in Wall Street had been introduced and adopted by a vote of 65 to 35.

The report reviewed all the evidence brought out at the hearings with regard to the Sulzer campaign fund, but did not rest the case on the Governor's failure to comply with the provisions of the Corrupt Practices act or his alleged use of campaign contributions for stock speculation in Wall Street. It went further and referred to the Governor's use of patronage and his veto power to reward the friends and punish the opponents of his Direct Nominations bill. Several weeks ago the Frawley committee gathered considerable testimony bearing on this particular charge.

The findings of the committee are printed in full elsewhere in THE TIMES. The committee's report does not demand the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer, but urges action either by the Legislature or the courts.

"We submit to the Senate and Assembly that the facts above stated are sufficiently serious in character and are so violative of the laws of this State and the rules of fitness for and conduct in high office, that the public ineterests demand some action in reference thereto whether through the exercise of powers of the Legislature, or by referring the facts and evidence to other duly constituted officers charged with duties in respect thereof," says the committee in its report.

Its Work Not Completed.

"There is in the possession of this committee," the report continues, "further authentic information of other similar evidence in respect to the subject of this report, as strong in quality and in large amounts involved as that on which sworn testimony has already been given.

"This committee, therefore, has not completed its investigation either on this account or others covered by the resolutions under which it is acting, but it has felt that the resolutions set forth in this report and the testimony accompanying it should be brought to the attention of the Legislature at once without awaiting a final report either on this or other subjects.

"The questions here involved are vital to clean government. They are above party or partisanship. They are vital to the citizens of the State, and call for prompt and well considered action. They call for an answer from Gov. Sulzer, because both his obstructive tactics and his silence warrant the conclusion that the charges can neither be answered nor explained."

The report calls for the punishment for contempt of Louis A. Sarecky, Gov. Sulzer's former confidential clerk, who was called as a witness before the committee and declined to answer all questions with reference to the Sulzer campaign fund, which he helped to administer. Similar action was urged against Frederick L. Colwell, Gov. Sulzer's alleged agent in the stock market, who is referred to throughout the report as the Governor's "dummy."

Sulzer Not at Capitol.

Gov. Sulzer did not go to the Capitol last night, as had been his custom when the Legislature held night sessions. The Executive Department was in darkness.

The Governor spent nearly the entire day consulting with his friends regarding ways and means to stave off impeachment. He turned a face that was pale and haggard to the newspaper correspondents who appeared in the Executive Chamber at the hour set for the afternoon interview.

"There is no statement to be made," said the Governor.

"Will you come to the Capitol as usual on an evening when the Legislature meets?" he was asked.

"No," said the Governor.

"There is a rumor that the Assembly will adopt an impeachment resolution at the session to-night. Will you have any statement to make if the rumor proves true?" asked one of the newspaper correspondents.

"I am not in the habit of worrying about rumors," the Governor replied. "I shall have no statement to make, no matter what the Legislature does," said Mr. Sulzer.

Later there was a report emanating from friends of Gov. Sulzer to the effect that he was preparing a final appeal to the people, in which he intended to point out that what he suffered now at the hands of the Tammany controlled lawmakers, he incurred because he was determined to fight the "people's battle" and enter upon no compromise with the organization. There are many friends of Gov. Sulzer who have sought to convince him that even though such an appeal might involve a confession of some degree of moral turpitude prior to Jan. 1, the public would overlook that if the Governor could show that he had walked in the "Street Called Straight" since his accession to power on that date.

His Friends Deserting.

Beyond the brief denial, unsupported by any proof, made public at the "People's House" after midnight on Sunday, the Governor declined any statement in explanation or denial of the charges on which the impeachment resolution is based. The Sulzer statement, in which he denied the stock gambling charges, has satisfied nobody—not even the Governor's friends. Lawmakers who reached the Capitol for last night's session almost without exception declared that what Sulzer sentiment there was throughout the State had vanished before the disclosures of the last few days.

When the legislature convened last evening after its recess since July 23, both Senate and Assembly galleries were thronged with spectators. In the Assembly Chamber, where the principal event of the night—the introduction of the impeachment resolution—was to be staged there was a record crowd.

Wagner in the Chair.

Immediately after Lieut. Gov. Glynn had called the Senate to order and had asked Majority Leader Wagner to take the chair, Senator Wende arose and demanded that the list of Senators present at the last meeting, July 23, when it was contended by the Governor that less than a quorum of Senators authorized a recess, be read.

"I'd like to know whether the Journal discloses the number of Senators present at that meeting," Senator Wende exclaimed.

"Does the Senator wish to make a correction?" Senator Wagner inquired.

"I do," responded the Senator from Buffalo. "I wish to have the complete record of those present read."

Senator Wagner announced that he was informed by the Clerk that no record of attendance was kept, as there was no roll call.

"But Mr. President," insisted Senator Wende, "I protest that on that occasion there was a roll call on my motion to adjourn sine die."

This was denied by Senator Frawley.

Senator Duhamel arose to support the contention of Senator Wende, but was interrupted by a point of order by Senator Blauvelt.

"Oh, Mr. President," persisted Senator Duhamel, "this is a serious matter and I—"

"The Senator will come to order and take his seat," directed Senator Wagner, closing the incident.

"Crucifying" the Governor.

Later on, when the report of the Frawley Committee had been presented, the turmoil was renewed by Senator Duhamel, who practically accused the Frawley Committee of appearing to have "crucified the Governor."

This brought Senator Frawley to his feet with the exclamation, "When the Senator makes the statement that this committee has crucified the Governor he says what is not true. I want to say that no man in this State is more friendly to the Governor than I."

Loud laughter by the spectators drowned Senator Frawley's voice, and Senator Wagner rapped loudly for order.

"The Sergeant at Arms will clear the floor and galleries immediately if this disorder occurs again," shouted the presiding officer. Both Senators Frawley and Duhamel were on their feet gesticulating and talking at once. Senator Duhamel asserted that he did not wish to imply dishonorable motives to the committee, but insisted that there was necessity for more evidence being taken, and criticised the committee for denying witnesses the right of counsel.

"Does the Senator believe that the evidence before the Frawley Committee warrants its report?" interjected Senator Blauvelt.

"No doubt," Senator Duhamel answered, "but there are two sides to every question."

He then moved that the report be recommitted with instructions to take additional testimony on both sides.

"It is the first time that an attempt has been made to place such a stain upon the State," he pleaded. "I am not satisfied that the evidence submitted is sufficient to impeach the Governor."

"But we haven't asked that he be impeached," Senator Frawley interrupted. He denied earnestly that the committee had attempted to besmirch or scandalize any one, and declared that the developments of the testimony were of a character that constituted the most painful incident in his public career.

Senator Thompson, Republican, argued

Text of the Sulzer Impeachment Resolution

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 11.—This is the text of the resolution for the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer as presented in the Assembly to-night

Whereas, The Joint Legislative Investigating Committee has filed a report in the Assembly on the 11th day of August, 1913, together with testimony, annexed thereto, showing or tending to show that William Sulzer, Governor of the State of New York, made a false and fraudulent report to the Secretary of State under his oath, as required by law, that the total contributions in aid of his campaign as candidate for the office of Governor were $5,460 and no more; and,

Whereas, In truth and in fact the amount was greatly in excess of said sum, to the personal knowledge of said Sulzer, such report further showing or tending to show that he converted to his own private use contributions given in aid of his said election for the purchase of securities or other private uses; that he engaged in stock market speculations at a time when he was Governor and vigorously pressing legislation against the New York Stock Exchange which would affect the business of and prices on the Exchange; that he used the power of his office as Governor to suppress the truth and to prevent the production of evidence in relation to the investigation of campaign contributions and violations of law in respect thereto by ordering and directing witnesses, some of whom were employes of the State, to act in contempt of the Joint Legislative Investigating Committee; and that, further, he used his office as Governor in rewarding or attempting to reward such witness or witnesses by securing or influencing their appointment or promotion in the State Government; that as Governor the said William Sulzer has punished legislators who disagreed or differed with him in legislation enacted in the public interest and public welfare, and has traded Executive approval of bills for support of his Direct Primary and other measures in which he was personally interested; that as Governor he willfully and corruptly made false public statements, advising and directing citizens to suppress evidence in reference to his unlawful use of contributions made to him for campaign purposes; and,

Whereas, He has otherwise corruptly and unlawfully acted or omitted to act.

Therefore, Be it resolved that William Sulzer, Governor of the State of New York, be and hereby is impeached for willful and corrupt conduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors.

in favor of accepting the report. Other remarks to that purport were made by Senators Walters, Foley, Pollock, and McClelland, and a motion to that effect prevailed.

Just as the presiding officer was about to put a motion to adjourn until this morning at 11 o'clock, Senator Wende sprang to his feet and waved a document, exclaiming:

"Mr. President, I have a resolution to offer!"

There was a storm of protest throughout the chamber which subsided when Senator Wagner declared the adjournment motion carried. The resolution called for the appointment by the chair of a committee of seven Senators to investigate the attendance at the last session and report to the Senate.

Late Beginning in Assembly.

It was nearly 10 o'clock before the opening gavel fell in the lower House. The leaders had been conferring and counting noses. They were aware that the slightest tactical error might prove fatal to their carefully laid plans.

When the session began, the attitude of the Republicans was by no means clear. An editorial in the local newspaper, controlled by the Republican State Chairman, William Barnes, Jr., emphasizing the right of the Assembly to institute impeachment proceedings at an extraordinary session and branding as absurd the assertion by Gov. Sulzer that the Legislature in seeking to oust him from office was exceeding its powers, had inspired the Democrats with the hope that the Republican machine would make common cause with the Governor's opponents in his own party.

They were treated to an unpleasant surprise, however, when Assemblyman Harold J. Hinman, Republican leader of the House, who represents one of the districts in Mr. Barnes's bailiwick, began to combat the plans of the Democratic leaders of rushing through their programme of deposing the Chief Executive of the State.

Mr. Hinman began his fight when a motion was made to approve the journal of the session on July 23, when the recess was taken. The correction of the journal has been contested by the Governor and has been the basis for his claim that the extraordinary session had ceased to exist. There was no quorum in either House on that night, but the journal, as is customary when the question of quorum is not raised, asserted that there was. Assemblymen Gibbs of the Bronx and Bovie of Westchester, both Democrats, and Assemblyman Schapp of New York, the Progressive member of the House, all protested when the motion to approve the journal without reading it was rushed through.

Assemblyman Hinman arose and moved for a reconsideration of the vote by which the motion to approve the journal was carried.

This motion gave the leaders the first inkling of the Sulzer strength in the House. The motion was defeated by a vote of 29 to 46.

Report Adopted, 65 to 35.

The Frawley report was adopted after a long debate. The vote was 65 to 35. The Republicans were divided, and a few of the Democrats voted against the adoption of the report.

Assemblyman Hinman opposed action without careful deliberation.

"I am opposed to precipitate action," Mr. Hinman said. "As I understand it the plan is to adopt that report, and present a resolution of impeachment. I do not speak as a leader of the minority. Every man must speak for himself.

"The Republicans have held aloof from this Democratic fight. They have kept in the even tenor of their way, and taken no part in this disgraceful proceeding. I shall insist on preserving the dignity of the State and its good name. This malignant attack is made for no good purpose. While Sulzer may not have been a good official, he is entitled to fair treatment. We are not concerned in Sulzer the man, but Sulzer the Governor. We have our own dignity to maintain. The Assembly has powers of indictment. I am not satisfied that this committee has made a candid inquiry. Although the resolution did not single out any State official, the Governor was singled out.

"When the public stops for a sober second thought it will condemn a Legislature which refused to turn out Stilwell and Cohalan and insists upon the throwing out of Sulzer.

"No merit attaches to the hysterical demand for the Governor's resignation. In the light of his dignified denial that report should be referred to the Judiciary Committee for research as to the law and precedent. I refuse to act until I have read all of the testimony of the Frawley Committee.

"If further reason is needed for delay it is found in the fact that there is the greatest kind of doubt as to whether we have power under the law to take up this matter in an extraordinary session."

Assemblyman Cuvillier answered Assemblyman Hinman, stating that if Gov. Sulzer received $67,000 and swore that he received only $5,000 he was committing perjury. Mr. Cuvillier read from the Sulzer campaign book, which said that Gov. Sulzer introduced the Corrupt Practices act.

Another plea for delay was made by Assemblyman Schaap, Progressive. He said he asked it in deference to the fair play which characteried the deliberations of the Frawley Committee.

"I ask you to look well into your consciences," said Mr. Schaap, "before you adopt without reading recommendations based on this testimony, which will go down in history as the most solemn act since the Senate was organized."

The majority leader, Mr. Levy, replied in a speech of half an hour. He jocosely accused Mr. Hinman of playing Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde in taking advice from William Barnes by day and Progressives by night. As for Mr. Schaap, Mr. Levy knew he would not willfully or wittingly state an untruth. Yet there were certain minor things not quite true that Mr. Schaap had allowed to creep into his presentation of his objections.

Mr. Gibbs asked him if he would impeach any man who would not be allowed to have the privilege of counsel, when appearing before the committee.

Mr. Levy believed in having counsel. He would deny no man counsel, not even before the bar of the Almighty.

"But when and where," Mr. Levy continued, "has a Legislature ever refused to receive and adopt the report of a committee, created by its own action, and endowed with all its functions by the Legislature? What Legislature would be guilty of such indignity and discourtesy toward its own creation?"

Levy Slurs the Governor.

Mr. Gibbs interrupted to inquire whether Mr. Levy could give a single case where a Legislature had adopted a report condemning the Governor without first reading the evidence.

"Well, I never knew a State that had such an unscrupulous Governor," Mr. Levy retorted. "I submit that this house does not bind itself to a single thing, save the punishment of Sarecky and Colwell, by the adoption of this report. Why all this talk about impeachment? We are not voting to impeach the Governor. When the proper time comes I may have something to say about impeachment, but now is not the time. All we want to do now is to adopt the report of the committee."

Detailed Vote on Report.

The vote on adoption, after several preliminary skirmishes and rollcalls, was 65 to 35, as follows:

YEAS.

Democrats—Burr, Butts, Campbell, Carroll, Carver, Caughlin, Cotillo, Cronin, Cuvillier, Daley, Dennen, Denney, Donohue, Dorst, Esquirol, Fallon, Farrell, Fitzgerald, Finnigan, Geoghan, Gillen, Gildberg, Greenberg, Hammock, Jackson, John A. Kelly, John J. Kelly, Joseph B. Kelly, P. J. Kelly, Kenney, Kerrigan, Kernan, Lane, Larimer, Levy, Lewis, Madder, Maloney, McCue, McDaniels, McElligot, McGrath, McKee, McKeon, McMahon, Monahan, Patrie, Pullman, Reasinson, Rosan, Scifferdecker, Silverstein, Small, F. J. Taylor, Tudor, Ulrich, Vanwoert, Walker, Ward, Weil, Yard, Speaker Smith. Total, 62.

Republicans—Schnirel, Myron Smith, Yale—3.

NAYS.

Democrats — Benninger, Bovie, Burden, Cole, Dix, Easner, Gallup, Gathright, Grier, Gibbs, Grimme, Gurnett, Hover, Hughes, Seely, Squire, Tulpon, Tilford, T. D. Tayler—19.

Republicans—Baxter, Bradley, Edwards, Fuller, Gage, Grace, Hinman, Magee, Malone, Norton, Seaker, Seelye, Shepardson, T. K. Smith, Wood—15.

Progressive—Schapp.

As soon as the result was announced the crowd, which had waited silently, began to leave the Assembly Chamber, and Mr. Levy, rising to introduce his resolution to impeach, had difficulty in making himself heard above the muffled sound of footsteps on the carpet.

When th eclerk began to read the resolution the crowd, half out of the chamber, stopped and the reading proceeded in intense silence. Mr. Levy was on his feet at the conclusion of the reading with a motion to lay the resolution over for consideration at a session at 11 o'clock to-day.

Assemblyman Hinman, supported by Assemblyman Gibbs, urged more delay. He wanted a week's time at least. The matter was too grave for shorter deliberation.

Mr. Gibbs faced the majority leader, and in a voice, vibrating with emotion, shouted his opinion of the Assemblymen of his own party.

"If William Sulzer were the greatest wretch that ever crawled this earth," he said, "you are not giving him a square deal. I blush for my party and its leadership to have to say so."

Garrison Put Out of Chamber.

While Assemblyman Gibbs was speaking there was cheering from a group of Sulzer enthusiasts back of the railing on the Assembly floor.

At one time the Speaker called the Sergeant at Arms to escort James C. Garrison, one of John A. Hennessy's aids, formerly an editor on The Press, out of the chamber.

Mr. Garrison was prompting Assemblyman Gibbs to decline to yeld to parliamentary inquiries prompted by his remarks. Finally one Assemblyman arose, and pointing to Mr. Garrison, asked why he was permitted to prompt the speaker.

Speaker Smith directed the Sergeant at Arms to escort Garrison from the Assembly Chamber.

Mr. Hinman's substitute motion, calling for a week's delay in considering the impeachment resolution was lost by a vote of 39 to 62.

After the defeat of Mr. Hinman's motion, the House adopted the Levy motion to consider the impeachment, and then adjourned.

Many Legislators for Court Action.

Many legislators seem to be of the opinion that the Sulzer case should be left to the courts to deal with. The Governor can be indicted, provided the Frawley report contains prima facie evidence that the Corrupt Practices act has been violated by him, and nearly all the lawyers in the Legislature with whom THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent has talked are of the opinion that enough has been shown to justify Grand Jury action.

The prosecution could be either in New York County, where the Governor swore to his statement of campaign contributions, or in this county, where the statement was filed with the Secretary of State.

FULL REPORT OF THE FRAWLEY COMMITTEE

The Governor Is Accused of Making False Statements of Campaign Contributions, Diverting Some of These to the Purchase of Stock, Speculating in Stocks While Pressing Anti-Exchange Legislation, and Using His Office to Gain Support for Favorite Measures—Action by the Legislature, or Other "Duly Constituted Authorities," Urged.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—Here is the report of the Frawley Committee in full:

The Joint Legislative Investigating Committee heretofore appointed with power, among other things, to investigate into, ascertain and report at this extraordinary session upon all expenditures made by any candidate voted for at the last preceding election by the electors of the whole State and upon all statements made by and on behalf of any such candidate for moneys or things of value received or paid out in aid of his elections, and their compliance with the present requirements of law relative thereto, does hereby report as follows:

That this committee has held public hearings, taken sworn testimony and investigated generally the specific matters above referred to; and this committee is of the opinion that said hearings and the evidence given thereat, have disclosed such unlawful conduct by one candidate at the last general election as to warrant and require an immediate and separate report in respect thereto, in order that the Legislature may take such action thereon at this extraordinary session as the public interests and welfare demand.

William Sulzer, a candidate for Governor at the last preceding election and now Governor of this State, in accordance with the requirements of the so-called corrupt practices article of the election law, and the statutes in relation to campaign contributions and expenses, filed on Nov. 13, 1912, a statement under oath, setting forth in effect that all the money received by him in aid of his election, directly or indirectly, as candidate of the Democratic Party for the office of Governor of the State of New York, in connection with the general election held in the State of New York on the 5th day of November, 1912, was the sum of $5,460, and no more. The following is the oath made and filed with the Secretary of State by William Sulzer:

> State of New York, City and County of New York.
> William Sulzer, being duly sworn, says that he is the person who signed the foregoing statement; that said statement is in all respects true, and that the same is a full and detailed statement of all moneys received, contributed, or expended by him directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person in aid of his election.
>
> (Signed) WILLIAM SULZER.
> Sworn to before me this 13th day of November, 1912. ALFRED J. WOLFF, Commissioner of Deeds, No. 72, New York City.

Indorsed by Sulzer and Sarecky.

A preliminary investigation of certain of the sixty-eight contributions aggregating said amount of $5,460 and set forth in said statement, disclosed that the checks for some of these conceded contributions were first indorsed in the name of William Sulzer and thereafter were indorsed by one L. A. Sarecky for deposit in the Mutual Alliance Trust Company at 35 Wall Street, New York City. There was also produced before the committee at its first hearing on this subject, a check for $2,500 for Jacob H. Schiff's campaign contribution to William Sulzer, signed Kuhn, Loeb & Co., to the order of said Sarecky, likewise deposited by said Sarecky in said account in the Mutual Alliance Trust Company.

With these facts and this evidence before it, this committee, on July 30, 1913, called the said Sarecky to the witness stand, who, after being duly sworn, admitted that for years he had acted as confidential secretary to William Sulzer, but refused to answer any questions relative to the campaign statement of William Sulzer, or to any campaign contributions, or to deposits in the Mutual Alliance Trust Company; and it is and was the opinion of your committee from the answers of said witness and his demeanor on the stand that his refusal to testify was at the instance and direction of Gov. Sulzer.

It further appeared at the said first hearing on this subject that a campaign contribution of $500 in aid of the campaign of William Sulzer from Abram I. Elkus, represented by his check to the order of William Sulzer, had been received and personally indorsed by the said Sulzer and deposited to his personal account in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, in which company the said Sarecky admitted that William Sulzer had for a long time had an account. At a subsequent hearing it appeared that the deposit slip accompanying said check when deposited in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company was also in the handwriting of William Sulzer. Neither the Shiff contribution nor the Elkus contribution was included in the sworn statement of William Sulzer, dated and verified Nov. 13, 1912.

Upon these facts the committee proceeded to have a further hearing in the City of New York, at which time there was produced a true transcript of the account of said Sarecky in the Mutual Alliance Trust Company and a true transcript of the account of said Sulzer in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, according to the original books of account of the said trust companies.

By the transcript of the Mutual Alliance Trust Company it was proved that the total amounts deposited during the period of the campaign in the account of L. A. Sarecky, and evidently for campaign purposes, instead of being $5,460, was $12,405.93; and William Sulzer not only knew that Sarecky's account contained his campaign contributions, or some of them, but he authorized their deposit therein as is shown by a letter signed by said Sulzer, dated Oct. 22, 1912, and addressed to the Mutual Alliance Trust Company as follows:

> Mutual Alliance Trust Company.
>
> Gentlemen: This is to inform that I have authorized my private secretary, Mr. L. A. Sarecky, to indorse my name to any checks donated to my campaign fund and to deposit same to his credit.
>
> Very truly yours,
> WILLIAM SULZER.

Ninety-four Checks Deposited.

The original deposit slips with the Mutual Alliance Trust Company for said period were also produced before your committee, and instead of showing that contributions had been received from sixty-eight persons, aggregating in amount $5,640, the fact was that there had been deposited ninety-four checks from various contributors, together with a sum in cash or currency of between $1,500 and $2,000.

At this same hearing there was also produced before your committee a personal check for campaign contribution by William F. McCombs, then Chairman of the Democratic Committee, for $500 to the order of William Sulzer, thereafter deposited by Sarecky in the Mutual Alliance Trust Company and not reported by William Sulzer in his statement sworn to Nov. 13, 1912.

There was further produced at said hearing in New York City a check by Henry Morgenthau, then Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Democratic National Committee, for $1,000 to order of William Sulzer, which check was indorsed personally by William Sulzer, and, although a campaign contribution, was deposited by him, accompanied by a deposit slip in his own handwriting, in his personal account in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

Thereafter there was produced a full transcript of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company's account of William Sulzer from Sept. 1, 1912, to Jan. 1, 1913, with the original deposit slips from which it appeared that the amount of deposits between said date to the account of William Sulzer was $24,395.31; that on Oct. 8th and 10th, when William Sulzer was in New York City, he deposited in checks and currency in said account the sum of $7,900, of which amount the said Morgenthau $1,000 check was a part; that on Oct. 12, 1912, during the campaign, William Sulzer further deposited currency amounting to $2,500 and a check for $1,000, and further on Dec. 16, 18 and 28, 1912, he deposited $5,100 in currency—all in said Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

Wall Street Speculations.

Your committee further reports that having received authoritative information that William Sulzer had used campaign funds for the purpose of buying securities or speculating on margins in Wall Street, some of them being carried on in the name of Frederick L. Colwell, a personal friend, as a dummy for Sulzer, it attempted to have produced the books of account of two brokerage firms in New York City, namely: Messrs. Harris & Fuller and Fuller & Gray, and also subpoenaed the said Frederick L. Colwell to testify.

That thereupon at first the firm of Harris & Fuller, or the members thereof refused to produce their accounts with William Sulzer; and Melville B. Fuller of said firm refused to answer any questions as to said account, and in like manner Frederick L. Colwell refused to answer questions as to any account of stock transactions relative to or connected with William Sulzer. It further appeared from the answers of said witnesses, their demeanor on the witness stand, and from authentic information in the possession of the committee, that they so refused to answer questions at the instance and request of Gov. Sulzer, and that Fuller had had an interview with Gov. Sulzer in Albany after being served with the subpoena, which interview was demanded by Gov. Sulzer and agreed that said Fuller should refuse to give any information respecting said account.

Thereafter the said Fuller was threatened with punishment for contempt by the Legislature, and finally appeared at a subsequent hearing, and produced a transcript of the account of William Sulzer, which account, for the purpose of keeping its existence secret from other customers of the firm, was known, numbered, and designated as Account 63. This account shows that William Sulzer was carrying on margin in the said office of said brokerage firm 500 shares of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Big Four) stock; 200 shares of American Smelters, and 100 shares of Southern Pacific.

And that on Jan. 1, 1913, while the said Sulzer was Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee in the House of Representatives and a member of said House, he owed the firm of Harris & Fuller $48,599.38 on said speculative account. It further appears that after his election as Governor the said Sulzer paid by deposit of cash or checks on his debt to said Harris & Fuller the sum of $21,000, and we call atention to the fact that within two weeks after his election on Nov. 18, 1912, he paid them in currency $10,000 and on Dec. 16, 1912, he paid them in currency $6,000, although none of these sums were drawn from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. That in the month of June, 1913, Gov. Sulzer was being continually requested by Harris & Fuller to make payment on account of his margins which had become very weak, and he was notified either to pay or take the account and transfer it to some one else, with the result that on July 15, 1913, Lieut. Commander Louis M. Josephthal paid for the said Sulzer the amount that remained due of $26,739.21. That said Josephthal is a member of Gov. Sulzer's military staff, being the only member of Gov. Dix's staff who was retained by Sulzer.

Colwell's Stock Purchases.

There was further produced before your committee under subpoena a certain account of Frederick L. Colwell, the friend and dummy of William Sulzer, above referred to with the firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co., brokers of New York City, wherefrom it appeared that on the 16th day of October, 1912, during the campaign, the said Colwell bought outright 200 shares of C. C. C. & St. L. stock, commonly known as "Big Four," for the sum of $12,025, and that said Colwell paid for said stock on that day with the following funds: Check of William Sulzer, $900; check of Theodore W. Meyers, $1,000; check of John Lynn, $500; check of Lyman A. Spalding, $100; check of Edward F. O. Dwyer, $100; check of John W. Cox, $300; check of the Frank V. Strauss Company, $1,000; check of John T. Dooling, $1,000, and currency, $7,125. Total, $12,025.

The evidence further showed that the check of William Sulzer for $900 was drawn on the Farmers Loan and Trust Company account above referred to, and no one can doubt that all of these checks were for campaign contributions, especially as Spalding testified that check was given for that specific purpose, and that it went in with other checks contributed for campaign purposes by members of the Manhattan Club.

"Account 500."

The committee had produced before it another account for the purchase of 200 shares of Big Four stock from the firm of Fuller & Gray, paid for by $11,825 in currency between the 21st and 31st days of October, 1912, during the campaign; this account being known as Number 500, for the purpose of concealing the fact that the account belonged to William Sulzer, and this stock was delivered by devious ways to the dummy, Colwell, who met the messenger by appointment at the Nassau National Bank in New York City.

This same Colwell, when again subpoenaed for another hearing, after having refused to testify as above stated, failed to appear when his name was called, and is now in contempt of the Legislature, as is also the former confidential secretary of William Sulzer, Louis A. Sarecky.

The foregoing is a summary of the salient facts and evidence in relation to campaign contributions and the conversion thereof, and of the most significant features of this evidence. Aside from and in addition to the large number of checks received for campaign purposes and not accounted for in the sworn statement is the large amount of currency which William Sulzer had and used in the purchase or protection of stocks during the three months between the day that he was nominated and the day he took office as Governor, namely:

Oct. 16, 1912, for the purchase of Big Four stock, $7,125 in currency.
Oct. 21 to 31, 1912, for the purchase of Big Four stock, $11,825 in currency.
Oct. 8, 1912, deposited in the Farmers Loan and Trust Company $1,400 in currency.
Oct. 12, 1912, deposited in the Farmers Loan and Trust Company $2,500 in currency.
Dec. 16, 1912, deposited in the Farmers Loan and Trust Company $1,100 in currency.
Dec. 18, 1912, deposited in the Farmers Loan and Trust Company $1,000 in currency.
Dec. 28, 1912, deposited in the Farmers Loan and Trust Company $3,000 in currency.
Nov. 18, 1912, deposited with Harris & Fuller $10,000 in currency.
Dec. 16, 1912, deposited with Harris & Fuller $6,000 in currency.
Total between nomination and inauguration, $43,950 in currency.

Your committee leaves to the Legislature the inference to be drawn from the possession and use of this currency.

During the time of these hearings and investigations William Sulzer as Governor has done everything in his power to withhold the truth, and obstruct the production of evidence and the course of justice. At his instance and direction both Sarecky, his secretary; Colwell, his dummy, and Harris and Fuller, his brokers, have refused to testify before the committee.

Promotion of Sarecky.

His influence in the promotion of Sarecky to an important and lucrative position in the State Hospital Commission as deportation agent, substituting an inexperienced young stenographer for an experienced physician in that position, could only be a reward for Sarecky's silence in protecting the Governor from damaging disclosures.

Gov. Sulzer made a false public statement, when on July 30, 1913, he said that he was away campaigning, and that he did not know of the campaign contributions omitted from his sworn statement. The Elkus check was indorsed by Sulzer personally, and he acknowledged the letter of Elkus transmitting campaign contributions.

We submit to the Senate and Assembly that the facts above stated are sufficiently serious in character and are so violative of laws of this State and the rules of fitness for and conduct in high office, that the public interests demand some action in reference thereto, whether through the exercise of powers of the Legislature, or by referring the facts and evidence to other duly constituted officers charged with duties in respect thereof.

Has More Evidence.

There is in the possession of this committee further authentic information of other similar evidence in respect to the subject of this report, as strong in quality and in the large amounts involved as that on which sworn testimony has already been given.

This committee, therefore, has not completed its investigation either on this subject or others covered by the resolutions nuder which it is acting, but it has felt that the revelations set forth in this report and the testimony accompanying it should be brought to the attention of the Legislature at once without awaiting a final report either on this or other subjects.

We submit to the Legislature that it was false when William Sulzer swore that he had received only $5,460 of campaign contributions and that he did so with full knowledge that he had received an amount many times that sum and had converted the same to his private uses; that he used contributions given to aid in his election for the purchase of stocks in Wall Street, which he or his agents still hold; that he had been engaged in stock market speculations at the time that he, as Governor, was earnestly pressing legislation against the New York Stock Exchange which would affect the business and prices of the Exchange, and that there was evidence before this committee to sustain a finding that as Governor he has punished legislators who opposed him by vetoing legislation enacted for the public welfare, and has traded Executive approval of bills for support of his direct primary and other measures.

The questions here involved are vital to clean government. They are above party or partisanship. They are vital to the citizens of the State and call for prompt and well-considered action. They call for an answer from Gov. Sulzer, because both his obstructive tactics and his silence warrant the conclusion that the charges can neither be answered nor explained.

We recommend the punishment for contempt of Louis A. Sarecky and Frederick L. Colewell hereinbefore referred to. We transmit herewith the record of the hearings with the testimony and exhibits.

Respectfully submitted by order of the committee.

BROKERS BACK UP SULZER.

Harris & Fuller Say His Account Was Not a Speculative One.

Gov. Sulzer's statement that his account with Harris & Fuller was not speculative, but represented a loan made upon stocks as collateral, was supported yesterday in a formal reply issued by the firm to questions concerning the matter. It read as follows:

> The Governor's statement as published this morning is correct as borne out by the transcript of the account which we rendered the Frawley Committee.
>
> It was not a speculative account in any sense of the term.
>
> The statement of Judge Olcott, our attorney, before the Frawley Committee previous to the testimony of our Mr. Melville B. Fuller explains our position perfectly.
>
> When the value of the collateral contracted so that the equity in the loan was below the required amount, of course, it was a matter of business for us to ask for more collateral or a reduction of the debit.
>
> When we delivered the collateral the equity in the loan at the then market prices was approximately $6,000, considered ample to protect the loan.
>
> HARRIS & FULLER.

It was pointed out to a representative of Harris & Fuller that Gov. Sulzer had said the stocks used as collateral had been bought years before his nomination for Governor, whereas the account presented to the Frawley Committee by Mr. Fuller showed that they had bought for him 100 shares of Big Four at 52 on Dec. 5, 1912. The reply was that this purchase had been more than covered by a payment of $6,000 on Dec. 16.

As to the Governor's denial that he had any dealings with Fuller & Gray or Boyer, Griswold & Co., it was recalled that the account with Boyer, Griswold & Co., according to the testimony, was in the name of F. L. Colwell and not in the name of Gov. Sulzer. Mr. Colwell formerly was a member of the firm of Harris & Fuller and handled Gov. Sulzer's business with them. Since leaving them he has had a desk at the office of Fuller & Gray. It was said yesterday that it would have been possible for Mr. Colwell to have placed orders for the Governor with the two firms without the Governor's knowing that any of them had been diverted from Harris & Fuller.

At the office of Fuller & Gray, 71 Broadway, it was said yesterday that Mr. Colwell wasn't in, hadn't been in and it wasn't known when he would be in. It also appeared that something had happened to Effingham E. Sutton since he testified on Friday that John Boyd Gray had told him that "account 500" was that of William Sulzer.

"Mr. Sutton is not connected with the firm," said Mr. Gray yesterday. Inquiries as to when he ceased to be a member of the firm brought out no definite information. Mr. Gray was averse to discussing the Sulzer matter, and admitted that he expected to be subpoenaed in the further investigation of the subject. He said Mr. Sutton could not have learned about "account 500" except from himself.

"I was the only one that knew," he said, "and I won't say what I told Mr. Sutton."

"Will you say that account 500 was not Gov. Sulzer's?"

"No."

"Will you say that it was?"

"I won't say anything about it."

The firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co. was dissolved recently, and Philip Boyer now is a partner in the firm of W. C. Langley & Co. of 10 Wall Street. He would not discuss Gov. Sulzer's statement yesterday further than to say that he stood on his testimony, which was that he had an account with Colwell, but none with Sulzer.

THE STATE PRESS ON SULZER.

Belief Expressed That His Political Career Is Ended.

Opinions of the newspapers of the State on the Sulzer situation are shown in the following extracts from their editorials:

A Political Wreck Beyond Repair.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 11.—The Post Standard (Rep.) will say to-morrow:

> Mr. Sulzer is a political wreck beyond repair. But it by no means follows that he will be impeached. Impeachment is serious business. It will only be employed in case a case is clearly made of "high crimes and misdemeanors."
>
> If the Governor should make a complete confession, we think well enough of him to believe that he would be better intrenched than he is at present. While he would stand convicted of gross hypocrisy—perhaps of personal dishonesty—we doubt whether he would be guilty of an offense properly punished by impeachment. It is quite indefensible in morals to appropriate a check sent to you for use in your campaign to your personal uses, but the Corrupt Practices act does not forbid such use of it. It may be that Mr. Sulzer repaid all that he spent in his campaign, after all, although that is a fraction only of what he received.

His Career Probably Ended.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 11.—The Democratic and Chronicle (Rep.) will say tomorrow:

> It is evident that proceedings could be instituted against the Governor under the Corrupt Practices Act and, if he should be convicted, his removal from office would follow without the necessity of going through the formality of impeachment proceedings. Whatever may be thought of the animus of the Frawley Committee, it is apparent that the Governor has been placed in a position where his tenure of office is in extreme jeopardy, and that unless he can offer a better defense than has yet been offered the movement to drive him out of office is in a fair way to be successful. In any event, his political usefulness has been destroyed and his public career probably brought to an end.

Entitled to Present His Defense.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, Aug. 11.—The Buffalo Express, (Rep.) will say to-morrow:

> Not the least amazing feature of the scandal that has grown out of the Frawley Committee's investigation is the nature of the denial which the Governor gave out for publication some time after Sunday midnight.
>
> However, the impeachment of a Governor is not a matter to be rushed into on the spur of the moment without taking full time to discover and weigh the evidence against him. Certainly, in any trial of the Governor the members of the firm which he claims never to have heard of would have to be subpoenaed to tell about the disputed transactions. Colwell and Sarecky, the two important witnesses who refused to testify, would have to be forced to testify. It would be well to have this evidence and all other that may be available before impeachment proceedings are begun. A too greedy haste on the part of the Tammany wing of the party to put Glynn in Sulzer's place might strengthen the Governor's defense. He is still Governor. He denies most of the evidence on which impeachment would be based, if attempted to-day. He is entitled to whatever opportunity he will take to show that the evidence is untrue before the Assembly takes the fatal vote which will suspend him from office and put him on trial.

The Possible Savior of the State.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—The Knickerbocker Press (Ind.) will say to-morrow:

> If William Sulzer had been less stubborn and obstinate when he assumed the Governorship of the State, if he had called about him mroe trustworthy advisers, men of greater breadth of knowledge and vision, men of cleaner personal character, and if he had about him such men of character to-day, Tammany would not dare attack him.
>
> It sometimes requires an overwhelming crisis to bring out of a man the bigness that is in him. It was a crisis of such magnitude that made Abraham Lincoln the savior of the nation. There are indications at the present crisis that his solemn obligations to the people of the State will make of William Sulzer a capable and efficient instrument for the delivery of the State for all time from the clutches of professional plunderers of the public treasury and the rule of political bosses, who are partners of shady business and compose the invisible Government which Theodore Roosevelt learned to know so well, and which Woodrow Wilson is learning about.

FROM NEW YORK CITY PAPERS.

Government by Blackmail.

From The World.

The Sulzer scandal is no less an exposure of the Governor than of Tammany Hall. It is the most convincing object lesson in Government by blackmail that New York has ever known.

Mr. Sulzer has not been destroyed because he pocketed campaign contributions, or because he failed to make the accounting that the law commands, or because he used the money to carry on his Wall Street operations. These are all traditional Tammany practices. Tammany candidates no less than Tammany bosses are expected to pocket as much of the campaign fund as they can with safety.

Tammany has exhibited the Governor to public shame and disgrace only because he broke with the organization and refused to take further orders from Murphy. If he had not attempted to be Governor in fact as well as in name, if he had not resisted the looting of the State, if he had not reached out for indictments, Tammany would have protected him. It would have "vindicated" him as readily as it "vindicated" Stilwell and Cohalan.

The Denial Too Late.

From The American.

The denial issued by Gov. Sulzer is too late and too sweeping to help him much. Issued after a ten-hour conference of his counsellors, it reads like a general denial where the defense is weak.

Eight accusing checks from different campaign contributors used in stock market transactions, the testimony of three stock brokers as to his accounts with three different firms, the details of his gambling losses and settlements, are not explained away.

The latest phases of the unprecedented and deplorable scandal are these:

1—The nine Judges of the Court of Appeals may differ, as other lawyers do, on the vital question whether the Legislature may, in its present extraordinary session, proceed with the impeachment trial.

2—Without the concurrence and active participation of at least five of the Court of Appeals Judges, the trial cannot proceed, even if the Legislature is disposed to hold it forthwith, because the State Constitution provides that "The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the Senators, or a major part of them, and the Judges of the Court of Appeals, or a major part of them."

No Restrictions on Impeachment.

From The Sun.

This is from Mr. Justice Story's "Commentaries on the Constitution of the United States":

> The object of prosecutions of this sort is to reach high and potent offenders, such as might be presumed to escape punishment in the ordinary tribunals, either from their own extraordinary influence or from the imperfect organization and powers of those tribunals. The prosecutions are, therefore, conducted by the representatives of the nation (or State) in their public capacity, in the face of the nation, and upon a responsibility which is at once felt and reverenced by the whole community.

To which it may be added that the Constitution of the State of New York does not attempt to define or limit in any way the offenses for which a Governor may be impeached; does not even restrict such high and solemn proceedings to crimes or misdemeanors alleged to have been committed by the impeached during his actual term of office, and does not confine the jurisdiction of the court of impeachment to offenses indictable under ordinary criminal procedure.

Conscious innocence, fortified by the proof of rectitude and spurning the idea of evasion by technicalities, could ask no swifter or surer instrument for the restoration of public confidence than is afforded to William Sulzer by the process described above by Joseph Story.

Says Sulzer Should Welcome Trial.

From The Tribune.

If Gov. Sulzer wants the public to believe that he is innocent, he had better not try to interpose technicalities in the way of his impeachment. To do so would only confirm the disagreeable impression, which his delay in answering the charges against him has produced.

If his denial of Sunday is the truth he should welcome the opportunity which a trial before the Senate and Court of Appeals will give him of showing his innocence and confounding his enemies. If he can meet satisfactorily the charges that he misused campaign contributions in Wall Street speculation and that he falsified the statement in regard to his campaign fund, the Senate will not dare to convict him upon these points. Public opinion will be guided by the attitude of the Judges of the Court of Appeals. They will furnish a check upon the partisan spirit among members of the Senate.

KANSAS NEVER SO RICH.

Gov. Hodges Says Crops Are Large Despite the Lack of Water.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 11.—"Kansas has raised enough feed this year for three times the amount of stock in the whole State," said Gov. Hodges at Olathe to-day. The Governor was at his old home for a visit with his neighbors and for the closing day of the Olathe Chautauqua.

"Cut out all the talk about 'poor Kansas' being 'burned up.' Our problem is not lack of products. It is exactly the problem they are having to deal with in Missouri and Iowa and Nebraska, and in all this part of the country—water. We never were in such a splendid financial condition, and never were so well prepared to stand a little setback on account of weather conditions. I have traveled from one end of the State to the other.

"We have raised enough stuff this year to fatten every head of live stock in the State, and then we could go in Missouri and other States and buy three head of cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep for every head of these animals now in the State and feed this imported stock, and still have plenty left.

"Kansas raised a big wheat crop this year, a big oat crop, and a big potato crop. Two cuttings of alfalfa were the best ever. The tame hay was all right, a big crop, too; and our bank deposits are at top notch.

"It really has been a year of plenty in Kansas, and we should not have noticed the shortage in the corn crop, but for the lack of water to tide the stock over for a few weeks. That is the only setback we are having, and that is not so serious as has been made out, though it is serious enough.

"But don't get the idea that Kansas is hard up; it isn't."

HENNESSY ATTACKS MURPHY HENCHMEN

Workhouse Record of Frawley's Aid, Horgan, Read Into Minutes at Sulzer Inquiry.

WANTS FRAWLEY ON STAND

Threat of Contempt Proceedings to Force Testimony—Delaney and Fitzpatrick Grilled.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—The opening session to-day of the special investigation of the State Departments by John A. Hennessy, Gov. Sulzer's Special Commissioner, was devoted largely to an attempt to discredit Matthew T. Horgan, who, as secretary to the Frawley Investigating Committee, has been instrumental in bringing to light many of the disclosures which threaten to lead to the impeachment of the Governor.

As a net result of the opening hearing immediate recourse will be had to the courts to procure the testimony of Senator James J. Frawley, Chairman of the Frawley Investigating Committee, and for the punishment of Horgan, for contempt in refusing to honor Commissioner Hennessy's subpoena. Mr. Horgan is a deputy in the State Department of Efficiency and Economy, but obtained a leave of absence to assist Eugene Lamb Richards, counsel to the Frawley committee.

Mr. Hennessy said he would undertake to subject to examination various witnesses who have testified before the Frawley committee and intimated that the courts might be invoked to pass judgment on certain perjury charges.

Mr. Horgan had been summoned as a witness, but did not respond, although he was at the Capitol. Mr. Hennessy received a letter from Chairman Frawley yesterday, informing him that, as Mr. Horgan was busily engaged in work to which he had been assigned by the legislative committee, he would not obey the summons issued by Mr. Hennessy. Senator Frawley in his letter contested the right of the Governor's commissioner to divert Mr. Horgan from the important work in which he was engaged.

Mr. Hennessy read into the record a number of affidavits and statements showing that Mr. Horgan had been arrested six times, that he had been sentenced four times as a disorderly person, and that he had served in the Workhouse on Blackwell's Island under sentences imposed by Magistrates Brann and Flammer. Magistrate Brann, according to the record read by Mr. Hennessy, sent Horgan to the Workhouse for three months, while Magistrate Flammer sent him for six months. Of the first term, in 1899, Horgan, according to Hennessy, served only ten days. The last time, in 1900, he served four months and twenty days. In December, 1902, according to Hennessy, he was found guilty of violations of Section 163 of the Penal Law—certifying falsely to public records. In May, 1904, he was found guilty of assault in the third degree on complaint of his wife.

Admits Record Is Correct.

Mr. Horgan, who has been a close friend of Gov. Sulzer for many years, to-night admitted that the record was correct, but asserted that, after the Civil Service Commission of New York City had thoroughly investigated his record, he had been permitted to take a competitive examination, under which he had served as Financial Clerk in the Controller's office in New York City, as court attendent in the Seventh District Court, and as a cashier in the Fire Department in Brooklyn and Queens, a position he held until last year, when he became identified with the management of Gov. Sulzer's campaign. The Governor thought well enough of Mr. Horgan to recommend him for a position on his committee of inquiry which made an investigation of the State departments soon after the Governor took office.

"It has been clearly established here," said Commissioner Hennessy at the inquiry, "that Matthew T. Horgan, Assistant Commissioner of Efficiency and Economy, was convicted six times. It has been established by the records certified from the Civil Service Commission that, in taking his examinations for other positions after his convictions, he swore he never had been convicted, but that he had pleaded guilty once to a misdemeanor, whereas, as a matter of fact, in that particular case, he went to trial and was convicted of falsely certifying to an official document."

Commissioner Hennessy added that he would adjourn the hearings indefinitely until he could make a test case through the medium of contempt proceedings against Horgan in the Supreme Court, "so that we may learn by this test case whether we have the authority to subpoena Senator James J. Frawley to testify in respect of matters that may be vital to him and to the interests of the State."

Commissioner Hennessy refused to say why he wanted Senator Frawley as a witness. Mr. Horgan to-night made this statement:

Due to Domestic Trouble.

Gov. Sulzer is indeed desperate when he goes back to my early married life to attack me. As a result of the condition of my domestic affairs, I was arrested several times. At no time was it ever charged that I committed any crimes or robberies or embezzlements or breaches of trust. Nothing has ever been charged against my honesty.

For the last ten years I have endeavored to lead an exemplary life, and I have not touched a drop of liquor. I have kept a home for my children, and worked honestly to make a living for my family and myself.

I deny that I ever gave a false certificate to the Civil Service Commission. Mr. Hennessey says that I certified to pleading guilty to a violation of the penal code, Section 163, which is a misdemeanor, in relation to certifying as a Commissioner of Deeds in a political primary contest. Hennessey says that instead I was convicted after trial. This matter was investigated by the New York Civil Service Commission in 1907, before I was appointed as court attendant. The facts are that I was arraigned, and I know that I pleaded guilty and that sentence was suspended.

The reason for this attack is plain. It is contemptible. It gives further evidence of the real charactr of Gov. Sulzer.

Mr. Horgan declared that he "had been threatened" a month ago that unless he gave up his work with the Frawley Committee his past would be brought up.

"Gov. Sulzer has known me for twenty years," he said, "and has known of all my troubles. He has been my adviser in some of them."

Another phase of the Hennessy investigation to-day was the grilling of William H. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, Tammany Leader Murphy's chief up-State lieutenant. This was in connection with the appointment of James J. Lannon as chief examiner in the office of the Commissioner of Efficiency and Economy. John H. Delaney, whom Gov. Sulzer appointed head of that department, denied on the stand that in his appointment of Mr. Lannon he had been influenced by Mr. Fitzpatrick, but he did admit that Mr. Lannon was introduced to him by the Buffalo boss.

When Mr. Lannon himself took the stand Mr. Hennessy showed that the witness, while employed in a confidential capacity by the State Excise Department in its Buffalo bureau at $1,500 a year, had done little or no work for the department, but had acted as the confidential man of Fitzpatrick, and had been leader of the Fifth Ward in Buffalo.

Purpose Purely Political.

It was apparent before the hearing had been long under way that its purpose was purely political. It is not intended that the Hennessy investigation shall extend to any department of the State Government except where the organization is supposed to govern. W. W. Farley, head of the Excise Department, owes his appointment to Murphy. Commissioner Delaney of the Department of Efficiency and Economy, though a Sulzer appointee, is suspected of organization leanings. Later it is planned to investigate the Conservation Commission, with a view to deposing two members who have failed to take sides with Sulzer in his fight on Murphy.

At the close of the hearing to-day Mr. Hennessy directed that a copy of the minutes be sent to the Attorney General and to the Civil Service Reform Association, with a view to procuring action against Fitzpatrick, Lannon, and Aloysius J. Egloff, Deputy State Excise Commissioner for Erie County, who certified the payrolls and enabled Lannon to draw his pay. Mr. Egloff was examined by Commissioner Hennessy and frankly admitted that Lannon, who was in the exempt class and could have been discharged summarily, did little or no work for the department. Lannon himself testified that he never was absent from the department more than four days without asking permission.

"Did you feel as though you ought to take pay for services you never performed?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, I took it," said Lannon. "I did all the work required of me."

Commissioner Delaney had a stormy time of it on the stand. Mr. Hennessy was a candidate for the job Mr. Delaney holds, and it is generally understood at the Capitol that he harbors feelings of bitter personal resentment against the man who supplanted him. When Mr. Delaney was called to the stand and before he had given any testimony, Mr. Hennessy said:

"I want it understood that if any witness calld here swears falsely he will be prosecuted to the limit of the law."

"Am I to understand that your remark about perjury refers to me?" asked Mr. Delany hotly. Mr. Hennessy assured the witness that no personal reflection was intended.

Mr. Delaney said the appointment of Lannon as chief examiner was made entirely upon his own responsibility and was in no way political.

"Why did the appointment go to a resident of Buffalo?" Mr. Hennessy asked Delaney Defends Lannon.

"That is not an inquiry pertinent to this investigation," was the reply. "I appointed Lannon because I considered him an honest, capable man, whose qualifications met the needs of the department."

Mr. Delaney explained later that he was not aware of Lannon's record in the Excise Department, and that he would not countenance any attempt on Lannon's part to shirk his duties.

Mr. Delaney said that when he appointed Martin J. Burke to inquire into the cost of providing free text books in all the public schools of the State he did not know that Mr. Burke had been designated as leader of the Thirty-fifth Assembly District by Tammany Leader Murphy.

"How did you happen to appoint Patrick J. Galvin of Rochester to a position at $10 a day?" Mr. Hennessy asked.

"Well," Mr. Delaney replied, "the Governor requested me especially to appoint Mr. Galvin to a $2,500 position, as he was an 'original Sulzer man.'"

Mr. Delaney scored the Highway Department, of which Mr. Hennessy is confidential agent, for alleged delinquencies. He said:

"My recent investigation into the Highway Department showed conditions as bad now, despite the employment of a confidential agent, as they were under the last régime. I am about to start an inquiry into this department, and I expect to call you as a witness, Mr. Commissioner."

"Well," retorted Hennessy, "I have been trying for some time to get the Frawley committee to recall me, but they don't seem to want me back."

When Mr. Fitzpatrick was called he said that counsel had advised him that the present inquiry was illegal, and that he need not testify, but that he would not quibble, as he had nothing to conceal.

"If you refuse," retorted Mr. Hennessy, "I will have you committed for contempt."

"You won't have to," the witness replied. "I wouldn't give the yellow journals a chance to make capital."

Mr. Fitzpatrick admitted that he had employed Lannon, but asserted that Lannon's private employment did not interfere with his duties in the Excise Department.

WANT TRUST REVOKED.

Daughters of H. G. Squiers Bring Suit Against the Farmers' Company

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Papers were filed here to-day in three actions brought by three sisters against the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York, in which the plaintiffs seek to have set aside a trust created by their father, the late Herbert Goldsmith Squiers, formerly diplomatic representative to the Republic of Panama and at one time an officer in the United States Army. The trust fund is $400,000, each sister having equal rights, and they claim that it came from the estate of their maternal grandfather, the late William G. Fargo of Buffalo, at the death of their mother, who left their father a life interest.

The three plaintiffs are Mrs. Henry Harwood Rousseau, Mrs. Harold Whitman, and Mrs. William Astor Drayton. All three plaintiffs say that in March of 1907, at the instance of their father, they signed an agreement to put the whole estate in trust with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, and that while they are willing to have the trust company hold the money, they wish to have the agreement revoked.

POWERS AT ODDS OVER THE BALKANS

Austria Angry with the Kaiser and France Has Given Offense to Russia.

VIENNA IS VERY UNEASY

Germany and France Want the Bucharest Treaty to Stand; Other Powers Want It Revised.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—The Daily Chronicle's Vienna correspondent wires, under yesterday's date:

"A dark cloud has been hanging for some time over the Triple Alliance, and anxiety is shown in well-informed quarters about the development of the dissensions that have arisen between Austria and Germany and, to some extent, Italy.

"The origin of these differences is characterized by an utterange of the German Emperor, who is alleged to have said: 'I don't like Austria to rattle with my sword.'

"Whether this is true or not, the fact is that the recent course of Austria's policy, particularly her campaign for a revision of the Bucharest Treaty, was taken without agreement with Germany, and even with German disapproval.

"The Kaiser's congratulatory telegram to King Charles, his decoration of Premier Majoresco, and his making King Constantine a Field Marshal in the German Army were visible expressions of the new direction in which German policy is going in Balkan questions.

"All this is causing great uneasiness in Vienna. Count Berchtold's policy finds little appreciation in Berlin, and his position has become precarious."

Both Austria and Russia are anxious that Bulgaria shall not be unduly weakened by her victorious enemies, and it is announced that they have reserved the right to revise the peace treaty.

Germany and France are opposed to any revision and want the peace now concluded to be made final.

Germany's attitude is plainly indicated by King Charles's telegram to the Kaiser: "Thanks to you, it remains a definite peace." The Viennese press denounces hotly the Kaiser's interference.

Russia, on her side, finds fault with France for taking her stand with Germany against revision. The Novoe Vremya says France, in pursuit of chimeras, is sacrificing her alliance with Russia.

The dissensions among the great powers are all to the advantage of Turkey, who declares that she will not evacuate Adrianople, despite statements in various quarters that the Concert of Europe will make the Treaty of London respected.

SOFIA, Aug. 11.—King Ferdinand today issued a pathetic address to his army.

The King thanks his soldiers for the bravery and devotion they displayed in the war against "the treacherous allies," and declared that their efforts would have been crowned with success, "had not a series of unforeseen political circumstances paralyzed our strength."

"Pressed on all sides," the address continues, "we were obliged to sign the Treaty of Bucharest, our country not being in a condition to struggle against five neighbors. Exhausted and tired, but not conquered, we had to furl our glorious standards until better days.

* * *

"Tell your children and your grandchildren about the gallantry of the Bulgarian soldiers, and prepare them to complete one day the glorious work you began."

COLOGNE, Aug. 11.—The Berlin correspondent of The Cologne Gazette says that the telegrams exchanged on Saturday between Emperor William and King Charles of Rumania, felicitating each other on the signature of the Balkan peace treaty, plainly indicated Germany's position toward the Bucharest compact.

There is no necessity, the correspondent adds, for Germany to participate in any effort to force an alteration of the treaty, which also is true with regard to the other European powers, and this means that any European campaign against the treaty is out of the question.

HEAR MRS. PANKHURST.

Doctors at Militants' Meeting—Seventeen Women Sentenced.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A number of foreign delegates to the International Medical Congress to-day occupied front seats at the weekly meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization.

Mrs. Pankhurst was present, attended by a nurse, and Annie Kenney was also on the platform.

Mrs. Pankhurst made a brief speech, which lacked the fire and militancy of her previous addresses. She welcomed the doctors, saying she supposed "our foreign friends are trying to understand the strange movement which is sweeping the whole world, and making the so-called weaker sex able to go through experiences which would have been deemed incredible a few years ago."

Remarking that both her own and Miss Kenney's licenses had expired, Mrs. Pankhurst attributed her immunity from rearrest to the desire of the Government to avoid such an occurrence while the Medical Congress was in session.

Seventeen militant suffragettes or sympathizers with the movement were brought up at a police court to-day and sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from a week to two months, or bound over to keep the peace as a sequel to yesterday's attempt to storm Premier Asquith's official residence in Downing Street.

Sylvia Pankhurst, the leader of the storming party, was not among the prisoners, as she had been taken direct to Holloway Jail to serve another portion of her previous sentence. One of Miss Pankhurst's arms was twisted and bruised in the course of yesterday's clash with the police. She is still suffering from the effects of her hunger strike during her last previous detention in jail, but her condition is not dangerous.

AFRICAN MURDER SOCIETIES

Governor Tells of Horrible Organizations in Sierra Leone.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—Government papers rarely contain such startling reading as a dispatch from the Governor of Sierra Leone published to-day, dealing with certain baneful organizations, or secret societies, known as the "Human Leopard" and "Alligator" societies, which have blacker records than the "Black Hand" and more dramatic methods.

The organizations exist, apparently, for the contradictory purposes of murder and medicine, for the medicine men have established the belief that their most famous drugs, especially thta known as "borfima," need human sacrifices in order to renew their full efficacy.

The members of these murderous, cannabalistic societies, which have terrorized certain neighborhoods, have mystic marks and strange equipment. Among the dry array of sections, subsections, and amended schedules of the official publication there are references to clothes made of babboon skin, the "kukoi," or whistle commonly used for calling together members of an unlawful society, and the iron needle used for branding members.

MANCHUS MAY RETURN.

Rumors that They Intend Coup—Battle at Wu-Sung Hourly Expected.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Peking gives rumors from Chinese sources of a possible Manchu coup.

The correspondent says also that it is reported that Gen. Chang-Hsun has declared himself Emperor of China and intends to fight his way to Nanking and impose his rule.

The rebellion, the correspondent thinks, is only in its infancy, and will continue indefinitely as, he says, the distant provinces are daily drifting further away from the Government.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11.—The Government's warships are moving down the river, and a combined attack by the army and navy on the Wu-Sung forts is hourly expected.

The rebels this afternoon attacked the loyalists holding the Kiang-Nan station, but were defeated with heavy loss.

HANKOW, Aug. 11.—An army of 25,000 rebels from the Province of Hu-Nan marched yesterday from Yo-Chow with the professed intention of capturing Hankow and proceeding thence to Peking.

A further shipload of Northern troops, completing a force consisting of probably 6,000 men, was sent from Hankow on the way to Sin-Ti, in the Province of Hu-Pé, where the Hunanese rebels are preparing to make a stand.

It is believed here that the Northern army will be successful, owing to the fact that the Hunanese are largely untrained recruits.

KIU-KIANG, Aug. 11.—The advance of the northern troops on Nan-Chang has proceeded almost without opposition from the rebels.

TOKIO, Aug. 11.—The Japanese Government is somewhat embarrassed by the presence in Japan of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Gen. Huang-Sing, leaders of the recent Chinese rebellion, both of whom arrived in disguise.

The Government was at first disposed to refuse permission to land to them, but eventually consented to this, in view of the fact that if they were deported to China, where a price is set on their heads, it would certainly mean their arrest and death.

It is reported that Sun Yat-sen does not intend to proceed to the United States, as was at first stated, but will try to gather funds to continue the campaign against Provisional President Yuan Shih-kai.

C. R. GUERTER KILLED.

J. G. White Company's Superintendent Shot at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Aug. 11.—C. R. Guertler, construction superintendent for the J. G. White Engineering Company of New York, who is here in charge of work on the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company's new station, was shot to-day at a beach resort by J. W. Marshall, superintendent of the Waiihole Water Company.

Guertler was taken to a hospital and died soon afterward.

ALL ITALY FACES A GENERAL STRIKE

Workmen's Organizations in Milan Want to End the 'Capitalistic Oligarchy.'

LITTLE RESPONSE SO FAR

Few Workmen in Rome Join the Movement, but Troops Are Held in Readiness to Quell Disorder.

MILAN, Aug. 11.—A general strike throughout Italy was proclaimed in a manifesto issued to-day by the Syndicalist and Socialist workmen's organizations here. The manifesto urges all workmen's unions to take immediate action, and to carry on the strike to the bitter end.

According to dispatches received here from Pisa and other places the workmen have made only a feeble response to the call for a general strike.

Important sections of the workmen are opposed to a strike on the ground that it would be disproportionate to the objects sought by the local workmen. Even in Milan, some of the strikers, unable to get along without their wages or discouraged at the outlook for the strike, returned to the factories to-day. These men caused several clashes with strikers picketing the factories, and found after all that the proprietors were not prepared to resume operations. All the striking bakers, however, returned to work to-day.

Another meeting, attended by 30,000 strikers, was held to-day. It was voted to continue the strike, and the hope was expressed that support would be given to the movement by a national strike to-morrow. The speeches were inflammatory, the orators charging that the police were committing all kinds of outrages against prisoners and their families. One speaker said he saw the child of a man who was arrested killed by "bloodthirsty policemen."

Some of the leaders of the strike movement are preaching revolution, saying:

"We do not wish to follow the example of America, where certain strikes have lasted as long as eighteen months because the strikers received wages from the unions, but ended in moral and financial disaster, while here the strikers do not claim only economic advantages, but aim at the subversion of the present basis of capitalistic oligarchy. The strike must, therefore, become a kind of national earthquake, overthrowing the social organization resting on the exploitation of the workers for private advantage."

Owing to the energy with which the troops and the police have acted, considerably over 100 street cars were running on the various lines this morning.

At Chiaravalle, about three miles outside Milan, a striker lay down across the tracks in front of an approaching passenger train. The engineer was just able to stop the train before it reached the man, who then arose and called on the train crew to strike. The station master seized the man, some of whose comrades intervened and beat the official. A detachment of carabineers then came on the scene and arrested all the strikers present.

ROME, Aug. 11.—The police to-day prevented the posting of the manifesto issued in Milan calling for a general strike.

The strike began here this afternoon in a small way, but it will, it is expected, become more general to-morrow morning, when a monster meeting of workmen will be held.

BRITISH FORCE CUT UP.

Camel Corps Said to Have Met With Disaster in Somaliland.

ADEN, Aug. 11.—It is reported here that a British camel corps, consisting of Indian natives, has been cut up in a fight in Somaliland.

Three hundred troops have been sent from here to the scene of the trouble.

PRIMITIVES' BRAINS BIGGER THAN OURS?

Doctors at London Congress See Piltdown Skull—Views Regarding It Differ.

A CRITICISM OF EUGENICS

Prof. Bateson Hopes New American Ideas Won't Spread—Another Ovation for Dr. Ehrlich.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Public interest in the International Medical Congress is growing, especially in its less technical side, such as the discussions on eugenics, the social evil, malingering, heredity, and other subjects which appeal to the people in general. The large number of social functions have brought the delegates in contact with every class of the community, and this fact also has enhanced the interest that is being evinced in the proceedings of the congress.

To-day's social functions included a big garden party, given by the London University, and a reception at Freemasons' Hall, tendered by all the London medical lodges of Freemasons. The Duke of Connaught, the Grand Master, wrote a letter heartily welcoming the delegates.

Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada, gave a reception this evening to the delegates at the Royal Botanical Gardens.

Since the opening of the congress last Wednesday there have been continual arrivals of new delegates. Seven thousand medals commemorative of the gathering were struck for presentation to those in attendance on the congress, but all these have been distributed, and another 1,000 will be required.

A discussion to-day of the Piltdown skull, which was found on Piltdown Common, Sussex, last year, and has since been the subject of various theories, revealed wide divergence of views. Dr. Arthur Keith, curator of the Museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, where the discussion was held, declared that the skull as modeled was an impossible skull—in fact, it was the "dream of a diseased imagination." He said that if Dr. Arthur Smith Woodward, keeper of the geological department of the British Museum at South Kensington, who reconstructed the skull, was right in giving the jaws of a chimpanzee to a skull that was human, then all the rest of the world was wrong.

The famous skull, which is now in the South Kensington Natural History Museum, was the object of a pilgrimage to-day by the anatomical section of the congress. In accordance with the ideas of the scientists, who assert that the skull was wrongly reconstructed, a model has been made that gives a brain capacity larger than that of the ordinary man of the present century instead of the apelike form originally attributed to it.

Most of the scientists agree that the skull is that of a human being of 500,000 years ago, although some contend that the skull dates back only 150,000 years. The question considered by the anatomists to-day was whether prehistoric man had the brain power of the man of to-day, or was half man, half ape.

Dr. Ehrlich Welcomed.

Dr. Paul Ehrlich of Frankfort-on-Main was introduced by Sir Malcolm Morris at a joint meeting to-day of the Dermatology and Naval and Military Sections of the Congress as the greatest exponent of modern pathology in the civilized world." Dr. Ehrlich received an ovation which lasted several minutes before he was able to speak.

Lieut. Col. T. W. Gibbard of the British Army Medical Corps remarked that the use of Dr. Ehrlich's remedy in the British Army had resulted in sufficient saving in cost to keep a battalion of infantry in hospital for three months. Two thousand fresh cases of disease capable of treatment by Dr. Ehrlich's remedy, he said, were admitted to the British Army hospitals every year, and it might safely be assumed that by the use of Dr. Ehrlich's treatment 70,000 or 80,000 days' service of the men would be saved. He asserted that he had not had a fatality in over 3,000 injections, but Dr. Ehrlich's remedy should be used only by those who understood it.

"Heredity" was the subject of a paper read to the congress to-day by Prof. William Bateson, who was Silliman lecturer at Yale University in 1907 and formerly Professor of Biology at Cambridge University. He said he thought too much blame for the increase of lunacy had been attributed to the excessive strain of the modern struggle for life and to the use of alcohol and drugs. No doubt, he argued, there was some justification for this assumption, but those acquainted with genetic physiology knew that the real cause of the spread of lunacy lay in the preservation of definite strains in their midst. England's new Mental Deficiency bill was a beginning of reform on the lines of heredity, said the lecturer, but he added:

"I should be sorry to see adopted the violent methods put into use in some parts of the United States. It is one thing to check the reproduction of hopeless defectives, but another to organize wholesale tampering with the structure of the population, such as will follow if any marriage not regarded by officials as eugenic is liable to prohibition. Nothing yet ascertained by genetic science justifies such a course, and we may well wonder how genius and the arts will fare in a community constructed according to the ideas of such legislators as we are told propose this measure in Pennsylvania and New Jersey."

Pointing out that the word "dull" was of the same origin as the Dutch word "doll," meaning "mad," Prof. Bateson said:

"I anticipate that, connected as the ideas may be, we might by ridding our community of maniacs leave it gravely infected with dullness."

Dr. Benno Laguer of Wiesbaden took the view that parental alcoholism was responsible for much of the degeneracy of children, and urged that all countries should establish alcoholic research institutes like those of the United States.

Dr. William Henry Willcox, senior scientific analyst to the Home Office, dwelt on the dangers of overdoses of veronal. He said that it was quite easy for a severe case of veronal poisoning to be mistaken for pneumonia.

Dr. John Frederick Ridlon of Chicago contributed a paper to the Orthopedic Section dealing with the mechanical treatment of tubercular joints. He expressed the belief that very few cases of hip disease required operative treatment of any kind.

Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland read a paper on "Shock" in the Pathology Section.

Malingering Under New Act.

The alleged great prevalence of malingering under the British Insurance act was discussed in a paper read by Sir John Collie.

Sir John, who is a member of the Government Advisory Committee on the National Insurance act, said he thought that the accusations brought against workingmen of malingering were exaggerated. The vast majority of those who gave the impression that they were shamming were, said Sir John, those of poor physique, whose standard of health was at best far below the normal. This was especially true in the case of women, of whom 4,000,000 had been compulsorily insured. Thousands of the insured women, said Sir John, were wholly unfit, and would be permanent beneficiaries of the sickness benefit funds.

An infinitely larger class than the out-and-out malingerers, according to the lecturer, consisted of patients of pessimistic temperament and mental cowardice, and the proper supervision of these on the part of the doctors would save many millions of pounds to the nation.

The question of malingering had, concluded Sir John, resolved itself into a battle in which the doctor was mostly triumphant. X-rays had often been successfully used on the malingerers.

Dr. Sigura of Buenos Aires gave to the Congress interesting particulars of a peculiar affection which attacks the nose or throat and causes an inflammation exactly resembling cancer.

Dr. F. H. Albee of New York in the Orthopaedic Section told his colleagues of numerous cases of transplantation as a cure for hunchback.

Dr. Howard Tooth, examiner in medicine at Cambride University, at a meeting of the hemopathology section, strongly deprecated indiscriminate search for tumors on the brain. Such growths, he said, could be relieved temporarily and sometimes almost permanently by decompression, (a fairly extensive craniotomy,) and he thought this would sensibly reduce post-operative mortality, the percentage of which was admittedly high. At any rate, he declared, the survival period could be greatly prolonged in the majority of cases, and this was the true test of success in dealing with this class of malady.

CASTRO'S SON TAKEN BY FEDERAL TROOPS

A Landing Party Under His Command Is Defeated by Gomez's Forces.

DES MOINES AT LA GUAYRA

Secretary Tennant Now in Venezuela as Representative of the United States.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CARACAS, Aug. 9, (Delayed in Transmission.)—Acting President Gil Fortoul declines, on grounds of military expediency, to give information as to the destination of the army of 6,000, headed by President Gomez, which arrived to-day at Maracay, or as to the situation at Coro, where Castro is supposed to have landed. He says the fighting in Tachira continues, and also that a landing party under command of Castro's natural son, Gen. Torres, was defeated and captured at Macuro, in the Orinoco region, yesterday.

There are many conflicting rumors, but no reliable information about the Coro situation. Telegraphic communication to Coro is interrupted; that to Maracaibo has been re-established. The report that there has been skirmishing on upper Lake Maracaibo, compelling the stoppage of lake traffic, is unfounded.

Public opinion is unfavorable to Castro. There is much speculation as to why Gomez's army, so large and so elaborately equipped, is proceeding on foot instead of using the railroad to Puerto Cabello or embarking on vessels for La Guayra. Many believe that the importance of the revolution is much exaggerated.

No authoritative information is available about the ship from which Castro is supposed to have landed. It is not known whence it cleared, but the port is generally supposed to have been New Orleans.

DES MOINES AT LA GUAYRA.

Cruiser Lands Secretary Tennant and Will Protect Americans.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—A dispatch was received at the Navy Department to-night from Commander A. T. Long, at La Guayra, reporting the arrival there of the United States protected cruiser Des Moines. The cruiser sailed from Brunswick, Ga., last Monday, bearing Henry F. Tennant of New York, the new Secretary of the American Legation at Caracas, who will look after American interests until a Minister to that country is appointed.

JAPANESE CONVICT AMERICAN

Mr. Mason Sentenced in Korea—Pleaded the "Unwritten Law."

SEUL, Aug. 11.—Mr. Mason, the American manager of the gold mines at Un-San, Northern Korea, was sentenced to-day to eighteen months' penal servitude on a charge of manslaughter for killing a Chinese mine employe who, in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Mason, committed an assault on their 12-year-old daughter.

When Mason returned home and learned of the occurrence he went out and killed the Chinaman.

In his defense to-day Mason pleaded the "unwritten law," but was condemned. An appeal against the sentence was entered at once.

Sixty-five Americans are employed in the Un-San mines, which are among the most productive in Korea. There are also a large number of Chinese and Japanese miners.

not communicated with President Huerta or any other officer of the Mexican Government.

The arrival of Mr. Lind from Vera Cruz last night was not marked by the slightest excitement, and the small crowd which gathered at the railroad station was attracted only by the presence there of some 200 mounted and foot police, who had been assembled at the order of President Huerta to prevent any possible outbreak.

There were many newspaper correspondents and photographers on hand, and Mr. and Mrs. Lind smilingly posed for several pictures. To the correspondents Mr. Lind said that he had nothing to talk about.

As soon as the flashlights had been taken, Mr. and Mrs. Lind entered an automobile with Mr. O'Shaughnessy and went at once to the Hotel Lascurain, where a suite had been engaged for them.

WASHINGTON MUCH CHEERED.

Mexico City's Calm Over Lind Pleases Our Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Increased cheerfulness over the Mexican situation was apparent at the White House and in the State Department to-day. The Administration is greatly gratified over the fact that there were no threatening incidents attending the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Lind at Mexico City. It was pleasing to officials of the Government to learn that no particular attention had been attracted by their presence in the Mexican capital, and that the alarming forecasts of a few days ago, indicating that Mr. Lind would be affronted, had not been realized, and were not likely to be.

Officials to-day laid great stress upon the circumstance that Mrs. Lind had accompanied her husband on his mission. They said that the very fact that she had gone with Mr. Lind indicated a confidence on the part of this Government that the Mexican Government would treat the President's emissary with every courtesy and that it was evidence of the Administration's belief that friendly relations still existed between the two countries.

In the official notice given to the press by Secretary Bryan a week ago to-day, announcing the appointment of Mr. Lind, it was set forth that Mrs. Lind accompanied her husband on his journey to Mexico. It is now evident that this statement was made intentionally with the idea of its importance. Secretary Bryan has been particularly impressed with the idea that Mrs. Lind's presence with the President's special representative in Mexico City will have a very good effect upon the situation growing out of Mr. Lind's mission.

In further explanation of Mr. Lind's mission it was said to-day that for the present he would be engaged chiefly in gathering information and reporting to the President and the Secretary of State on conditions in Mexico, and at the proper time would make known to them what the chances were of suggesting that the United States become a factor in the adjustment of the republic's troubles through good offices or mediation. It was admitted that Mr. Lind would ultimately make certain suggestions to the Huerta Government through the medium of the American Chargé in Mexico City, but the character of these suggestions and the circumstances under which they would be made could not be announced at this time.

While the impression conveyed by officials within the last few days has been that the Administration has no plan with reference to Mexico, it was made apparent to-day that what was meant was that no proposals for a settlement of the Mexican difficulties were to be submitted to the Mexican Government at this time.

It was intimated to-day that President Wilson would welcome information from representatives of the revolutionary party as to their purposes, but there was no suggestion that the President had in mind the thought of giving consideration to the question of according recognition of the belligerency of the Constitutionalist organization.

Wilson Credits War Lobby Story.

That President Wilson believes there has been an organized effort to involve the United tSates and Mexico in war was conveyed in hints to callers at the White House to-day who discussed the Mexican situation. The President, it was said, was inclined to agree with the accusation made in the Senate Saturday by Senator Williams of Mississippi that an organized lobby was at work in Washington with the object of forcing American intervention.

Who is behind this suspected movement the President is not prepared to say; in fact, he apparently has no direct information showing the sources from which the alleged lobby derives its support. This supposed movement is not troubling the Administration very much, as it is not regarded as extensive. It has been guilty of putting forth misrepresentations, however, officials say, and these have caused the President some trouble in his handling of the Mexican situation.

Americans in Little Danger.

If anything, the condition of public feeling in Mexico, so far as Americans there are concerned, is decidedly improved according to official reports. A long mail report from Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the squadron stationed at Vera Cruz and Tampico, shows that as late as July 24 Americans apparently had little to fear in the States along the Atlantic seaboard. In fact, every expedition that Admiral Fletcher has had to make on requests of the State Department has proved to be based upon a false alarm.

The requests from the State Department have usually come from Americans who have been told that certain plantations or their managers were in danger of molestation. The latest case was that of the plantation near Ciudad del Carmen in Campeche, belonging to Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, which, according to the appeal sent to Washington, had been seized by revolutionists. At the same time word was received that the plantation adjoining, belonging to the Mexican Exploitation Company, an American corporation, had also been seized.

Admiral Fletcher forwarded to Washington to-day a dispatch from Capt. Capehart, commanding the battleship Michigan, in which Capt. Capehart said that Mrs. Hearst's plantation had not been disturbed. After remaining at Carmen for twenty-four hours, inquiring in every direction as to operations of bandits or rebels, and finding that no depredations had been committed, and that there were no revolutionists in the immediate neighborhood, Capt. Capehart returned to Vera Cruz, arriving there last night.

In his report Admiral Fletcher recommended that one or two smaller ships be sent to him for use in going into ports or up streams where his battleships could not go.

The gunboat Nashville was ordered today to report to Rear Admiral Fletcher. She will soon be on the way from Portsmouth, N. H., to Vera Cruz.

Secretary Daniels said to-night that no complaints had come to him of Americans being in danger, and that he had received no appeals for transportation out of Mexico. On the contrary, the reports seemed to show that Americans in Mexico were being treated with more than ordinary consideration by Federals and revolutionists. The Tacoma, which was ordered South yesterday, and the Nashville, as well as the battleships at Vera Cruz and Tampico would, he said, pick up all Americans or foreigners of any nationality who desired to get out of the country because of real or fancied danger.

Secretary Bryan explained to-day the reason for his request for an appropriation of $100,000 to defray the expense of bringing Americans out of Mexico. He said that he made it some time ago and sent it directly to the Senate Committee. As such requests for appropriations have to be transmitted through the Secretary of the Treasury, it was necessary to repeat the requisition through that channel.

ENGLAND EXPLAINS COURSE

Says Huerta Government Was Accepted to Aid in Restoring Order.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The British Government, nettled by the comment of certain American newspapers concerning Great Britain's recognition of President Huerta of Mexico, declares that the comment is based on a misconception of facts. It also repudiates the insinuation that the influence of powerful financial interests was used in bringing about recognition. In a statement issued today the Government says:

"The recognition of President Huerta was the recognition of a Provisional President pending an election. It was done on the advice of the British Minister to Mexico as being likely to assist in the restoration of order—an important consideration in view of the large British interests involved.

"The French and German Governments also recognized President Huerta after a reception by him of the whole diplomatic party at which a congratulatory speech was made in their behalf by the American Ambassador."

PESQUEIRA DESERTS CARRANZA

Former Military Governor Says Huerta Is Not a Traitor.

MEXICO City, Aug. 11.—Charging him with being "a regular trafficker with the dignity of the Mexican race and the integrity of the republic," Ignacio Pesqueira, former Military Governor of the State of Sonora, has severed his relations with Verustiano Carranza, the rebel Governor of Coahuila, with whom he had been working in accord.

Pesqueira declared that Carranza had attempted treason against his country, while Provisional President Huerta, "disobedient to the will of the people though he may be, never was a traitor," according to a dispatch from Saltillo.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Constitutionalists here pronounce "entirely false" the Mexico City report that Pesqueira has broken with Carranza. They are in communication with Pesqueira through their junta at Douglas, Ariz.

MEXICO BUYS ARMS IN JAPAN.

Representative in Honolulu on Way to Inspect Big Purchase.

HONOLULU, Aug. 11.—Col. De Aleman of the Mexican Army arrived here yesterday on the Japanese steamer Buyo Maru from Manzanillo, Mexico, on his way to Japan, where he will inspect 75,000 rifles purchased by the Mexican provisional Government to be used in the war against the Constitutionalists.

Col. de Aleman was disappointed in not meeting Felix Diaz here, as he had expected to go with him to Japan.

Fellow-passengers who had talked with Col. de Aleman said that he, and not Gen. Diaz, is President Huerta's diplomatic representative to Japan.

NEWSPAPER MEN ARRESTED.

Americans in Mexico Appeal to State Department and Are Released.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The State Department received to-day an appeal in behalf of N. A. Jennings, a newspaper correspondent at the City of Mexico, who was arrested yesterday by direction of President Huerta for sending to a syndicate of newspapers in the United States dispatches regarded as hostile to the Huerta Government.

Later another appeal came in the case of Marvin Ferree, who also serves a syndicate of papers in this country. He was arrested on the charge of sending dispatches predicting the speedy downfall of Huerta.

Secretary Bryan telegraphed Mr. O'Shaughnessy, Chargé d'Affaires, to ascertain whether the two men were American citizens, and in danger of summary punishment.

A dispatch was also received at the State Department to-day saying that Birge McFall, a newspaper correspondent, recently arrested in the City of Mexico, had been set at liberty. Mr. O'Shaughnessy personally looked into McFall's case, and found that the correspondent's alleged offense was slight. He was held only a few hours, and then told to go on the representations made by the Chargé, who cautioned McFall to moderate the tone of his dispatches.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—N. A. Jennings and Marvin Ferree, the American newspaper correspondents who were arrested last night, and held by order of the Minister of the Interior, were released from custody to-night. Jennings is a representative of the Hearst newspapers, and Ferree is correspondent of a Los Angeles newspaper and The United Press.

THINKS LIND WILL FAIL.

London Chronicle Says Huerta Should Be Recognized.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—The Daily Chronicle in an editorial to-day says it considers President Wilson's demand that President Huerta renounce the Presidency of Mexico a curious experiment in foreign diplomacy, and one scarcely likely to be carried through easily.

"A proud race like the Mexicans, and the President with a fairly strong backing," the editorial says, "are very unlikely to surrender, and we doubt if the United States would really care to face the stupendous task of reducing Mexico by force of arms. Mr. Wilson's demand for a general election almost borders on the ludicrous, because there is no such thing in Mexico as an election by ballot, as the ballot is understood in great democratic countries."

Arguing that it is impossible for Mexico to obtain money until the United States Government recognizes Huerta, and that without money the country is bound to drift into anarchy, The Chronicle considers that the best and safest course would be to recognize Huerta and give his Government an opportunity to redeem his pledges of progress. If he fails, it adds, the time will come for stronger action.

The Daily Mail says that, with the awful welter of war and barbarism just patched up at Bucharest, the American statesman has every reason to cling to diplomacy as long as possible before resorting to force, and that if President Huerta is wise he will treat John Lind courteously, because the attitude of Washington will be largely determined by Mr. Lind's report.

"The United States cannot look on unmoved for an indefinite period," continues The Daily Mail, "while a dictator is disarming or destroying his opponents and gradually establishing more or less of a beneficent despotism. If Huerta will hold elections and get confirmed in power, no doubt America will recognize him, notwithstanding the dubious and bloodstained incidents which marked his ascent."

SHIPS ORDERED TO GUAYMAS.

Navy Department Prepares "for Possible Disturbances" There.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 11.—A wireless dispatch from Washington directs the concentration of the Pacific fleet at Guaymas and San Diego.

The Pittsburgh has been turned back on her voyage north and ordered to Guaymas "for possible disturbances." She has American reguees on board. The Glacier has been ordered to remain at Guaymas "as a refuge ship for Americans." The Denver is ordered from Topolobampo to Guaymas. The California and Maryland are to proceed to this port.

BEAT INSURGENTS IN CURRENCY CAUCUS

Committee Opponents of the Bill Defeated, Two to One on Plan for Open Hearings.

WILSON INDORSES MEASURE

Bankers More Friendly, the President Says—Caucus to Debate It All This Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The third stage of the Administration programme for the enactment of banking and currency legislation in the special session of Congress was reached to-day, when the Glass-Owen Currency bill, as modified by the Democratic members of the House Banking and Currency Committee, was submitted to a caucus of the Democratic members of the House for consideration and approval. The caucus will devote practically all of this week to considering the measure.

That the caucus will approve the bill, practically in the form in which it was submitted, and adopt a resolution making it binding upon the Democratic Representatives to vote for it, is the conviction of the House leaders to-night. Attempts will be made by Representatives Henry of Texas, Neeley of Kansas, Eagle of Texas, Ragsdale of South Carolina, and Wingo of Arkansas, to amend the bill in caucus, but there will be an easy majority supporting the bill, and the more radical amendments of the so-called "insurgents" will be defeated.

An attempt was made by the insurgent Democrats of the Banking and Currency Committee to have the caucus thrown open to the public, but it was defeated by a vote of 119 to 63.

President Wilson expresses his approval of the bill as submitted to the caucus. He told his callers that the attitude of the banks had become more friendly toward the measure since certain changes were made in it.

Opponents of the measure who want to prohibit interlocking directorates among national banks and are seeking to have introduced into the measure the Henry-Ragsdale scheme for the issuance of so-called "crop money" based upon notes backed up by warehouse certificates representing actual ownership of warehouse stored cotton, corn, and wheat, intend to fight for the adoption of these ideas in the caucus. But their contest along that line is doomed to defeat.

It was agreed that the bill should be debated for eight hours in the caucus and then taken up under the five-minute rule for possible amendment section by section. Half the time allotted for general debate is to be controlled by Chairman Glass, who to-day utilized two of his four hours explaining the measure. The other four hours will be controlled by Representative Neeley as the ranking member of the committee in opposition to the majority report.

The bill will be debated all day tomorrow in caucus. On Wednesday it will be reached under the five-minute rule for amendment. It will probably be disposed of by the caucus Friday or Saturday, and will then be referred to the full membership of the Banking and Currency Committee, so as to give the Republican members a chance to determine their attitude. The programme now is to report it from the Glass committee to the House for immediate consideration some time next week.

An entirely new print of the bill was prepared to-day, showing all the changes as finally made, including two adopted at the last moment. One provided that of the four appointive members of the Federal Reserve Board not more than two shall be of the same political party, and the other gave national banks the right to establish savings and commercial departments.

The savings department feature of the bill was advocated by Representative Bulkley of Ohio and approved. The decision to allow the national banks to go into the savings business will considerably broaden their powers, and in granting that authority, the bill seeks to provide all the essential safeguards for such an innovation in the national banking system.

TEXT OF NEW CLAUSES.

Allow Banks to Open Savings and Commercial Departments.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The full text of the new section of the Currency bill granting authority to national banks to open "savings" and "commercial" departments was made public to-day for the first time, and is as follows:

Section 27. That any national banking association may, subsequent to a date one year after its becoming a stockholder in a Federal Reserve bank, make application to the Controller of the Currency for permission to open a savings department. Such application shall set forth that the Directors of said national bank have, by a majority vote, apportioned a specified percentage of their paid-in capital and surplus to said savings department, and to that end have segregated specified assets for the purposes of said department, or that cash capital for the said savings department has been obtained by subscription to additional issues of the capital stock of said national bank:

Provided, That the sum in assets or in cash thus set apart for the uses of the proposed savings department aforesaid shall in no case be less than $25,000 or than a sum equal to 20 per centum of the paid-up capital and surplus of the said national bank.

In making the application aforesaid any national banking association may further apply for power to act as trustee for mortgage loans, subject to the conditions and limitations herein prescribed or to be established as hereinafter provided.

Whenever the Controller of the Currency shall have approved any such application as hereinbefore provided, he shall so inform the applying bank, and thereafter the organization and business conducted or possessed by said bank at the time of making said application, except such as has been specifically segregated for the savings department, and subsequent expansions thereof, shall be known as the commercial department of the said bank. National banks may increase or diminish their capital stock in the manner now provided by law, but whenever such general increase or reduction of the capital stock of any national bank operating upon the provisions of this section shall be made, such increase or reduction shall be apportioned between the commercial and savings departments of the said bank as its Board of Directors shall prescribe, notice of such increase or reduction, and of the apportionment thereof, being forthwith given to the Controller of the Currency; and any such national bank may increase or diminish the capital already apportioned to either its savings or commercial department to an extent not inconsistent with the provisions of this section, notifying the Controller of the Currency as hereinbefore provided. The savings department for which authority has been solicited and granted shall have control of the cash or assets apportioned to it as hereinbefore provided, and shall be organized under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Controller of the Currency.

Control of New Departments.

Both the savings and commercial departments so created shall, however, be under the control and direction of a single Board of Directors and of the general officers of said bank.

All business transacted by the commercial department of any such national bank shall be in every respect subject to the limitations and requirements provided in the National Banking act, as modified by this act, and such business shall henceforward be known as commercial business.

The savings department of each such national bank shall be authorized to accumulate and loan the funds of its depositors, to receive deposits of current funds, both time and demand, to loan any funds in its possession upon personal or real estate security, and to collect the same with interest, and to declare and pay dividends or interest both upon demand and time deposits. The Federal Reserve Board is hereby authorized to exempt the savings departments of National Banking Associations from any and every restriction upon classes or kinds of business laid down in the National Banking act, and it shall be the duty of the said board, within one year after its organization, to prepare and publish rules and regulations for the conduct of business by such savings departments, conforming to the best standards prescribed by the legislation of the several States:

Provided, that such rules and regulations shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this section. All business transacted by the savings departments of national banks shall be designated and known as savings bank business.

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to authorize any such savings department to purchase, invest in, or hold bonds, securities, or evidences of indebtedness, public or private, except as follows:

(a) First, mortgages or deeds of trust on real estate, including farm lands, and the notes or bonds for whose protection such mortgages or deeds of trust may have been given:

Provided, That such mortgages, deeds, notes, or bonds shall have, when purchased, not more than five years to run, and provided, further, that the total debt secured by such instruments shall not exceed 50 per centum of the assessed value of the real estate upon which they constitute a lien.

(b) Bonds or interest-bearing notes of the United States or bonds or notes for whose payment the faith of the United States is pledged both as to principal and interest.

(c) Bonds of any State of the United States:

Provided, That for ten years prior to the purchase of such bonds by a savings bank department the State issuing the same shall not have defaulted in the payment of any part either or principal or of interest thereon.

(d) Bonds of any city, county, or town:

Provided, That such city, county, or town shall, at the time when the bonds are purchased by a savings bank department, have more than 25,000 inhabitants, the United States Census next preceding such investment being taken as evidence of the possession of said number of inhabitants:

And provided, further, That such city, county, or town shall not have defaulted in the payment of any part of the principal or interest of its bonded debt within ten years prior to the making of the investment aforesaid. The total bonded indebtedness of such city, county, or town shall not, at the time of such investment, exceed 5 per centum of the assessed valuation therein, and such bonds shall have been issued pursuant to the law of the State in which city, county, or town is situated.

(e) First mortgage bonds of any steam or street railway, public utility, or industrial corporation operating partly or wholly in the United States:

Provided, That the same shall have been approved by the Controller of the Currency.

(f) First mortgage bonds or deeds of trust issued by any real estate corporation:

Provided, That no such bond issue or deed of trust shall exceed in amount 50 per centum of the assessed value of the real estate upon which it constitutes a lien.

Scrutiny of Investments.

The Federal Reserve Board shall have power further to define the conditions under which the said mortgages, deeds of trust, notes, bonds, and other securities hereinbefore enumerated may be purchased by any such savings bank department, and may at its discretion make and issue lists of such securities having its approval, or may list securities in which the savings bank department aforesaid shall be prohibited from investing. Such lists may be published in any manner deemed best by the said Federal Reserve Board.

It shall be the duty of every national bank to maintain with respect to the demand liabilities of its commercial department the reserves applicable thereto, as provided by the National Banking act and by this act.

It shall be the duty of every national bank to maintain, with respect to all deposit liabilities of its savings department, a cash reserve in lawful money equal to not less than 4 per centum of its total deposit liabilities, and every national bank authorized to maintain a savings department is hereby exempted from the reserve requirements of the National Banking act and of this act in respect to the said deposit liabilities of its savings department, except as in this section provided.

Every national bank authorized to operate a commercial department and a savings department under the provisions of this section shall segregate in its vaults the lawful money reserve of each such department and shall separately maintain, report, and account for such reserves. Whenever any such department, whether savings or commercial, shall deposit current funds with other banks, such deposits shall be credited upon the books of such other banks as made by and belonging to the department of the depositing bank by which or in whose interest they were originally made, and shall be paid only upon the order of such department. No department of any such national bank shall receive deposits from any other department of the same bank.

It shall be the duty of every national bank to maintain separate books of account for each of its departments, and to segregate and keep separate and distinct in each such department the cash, securities, investments and property thereto belonging; and each such department shall, in the transaction of its business and the making of its investments, be exclusively governed and controlled by the provisions of law and the regulations of the Federal Reserve Board or of the Controller of the Currency specifically made and provided with reference thereto.

Any national bank authorized under the provisions of this section to maintain a savings department may make and publish rules and regulations defining the conditions under which deposits shall be received and paid by such savings department. Such regulations may specify the period of notices which such department may at its option require for the withdrawal of such deposits:

Provided—That no such deposits shall be subject to a requirement of less than sixty days' notice of withdrawal.

The said rules and regulations shall be subject to the approval of the Controller of the Currency, and he shall have power to direct their alteration at his discretion.

Every officer, Director, or employe of any national bank who knowingly or wilfully violates any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding two years.

SECURITIES FOR CROP FUND.

Treasury Will Take More Commercial Paper Than at First Planned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Definite announcement regarding the character and amount of commercial paper that will be accepted by the Treasury Department, as security for the additional $50,000,000 of Government deposits to be placed in the agricultural States, will not be made until after the last conference with the bankers from the Far Western States on Thursday. It was indicated at the department to-day, however, that the proportion of commercial paper accepted would be larger than was at first planned.

This, it was said, was one of the results of the conferences already held with the bankers from Southern and Central Western States. At these conferences it was urged upon Secretary McAdoo that good commercial paper, passed upon by either the Sub-Treasuries or the Clearing House committees, would be ample for the amounts to be deposited in the various cities thus far decided upon.

12 DIE IN PANAMA SLIDE.

One American Among Canal Workers Killed in Porto Bello Quarry.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COLON, Aug. 11.—A wireless message received here says that one American and eleven colored canal employes were killed at Porto Bello today by a sudden slide in the quarry there.

Charles Nyland, an engineer, was the American killed. The rock completely buried a steam shovel near where the men were working. Only four of the bodies have been recovered.

President Porras sent a message of condolence to the widow of Nyland.

The quarry at Porto Bello supplies most of the rock used in making the concrete structures for the canal.

Sound merchandising is public service.

When the original Gorham, 82 years ago, expanded his jewelry business and began making table silver he did it at the insistence of gratified customers.

In the same way have his successors, from time to time, added to the stock of the Gorham stores various articles of personal use. The additions continue to be made in response to a demand for useful articles of high quality.

And whether it is a Traveller's Drinking Cup, a Clock, a Cigar Case or a Hat-pin, those articles, in style and quality, conform to the high standard The Gorham Co. has set in the production of silverware.

The list of Gorham novelties, increased year by year, includes scores of minor articles of personal or home use. They cover a variety of needs, and are designed for the uses of men, women and children. Many of them are especially provided for the comfort and convenience of the traveller.

For the woman there are Lorgnettes, Purses, Shoe Buckles, Vanity Cases, Sewing Sets, Veil Pins, Bon Bon Boxes, Hair Pin Boxes, Chatelaine Powder Boxes, Powder Books, Coin Holders, Lip Rouge Cases, Hat Pins and Enamelled Powder Boxes.

Man's wants are equally well looked after. Some of the articles provided for him are: Cigar and Cigarette Boxes, Flasks, Cigarette Cases, Drinking Cups with Leather Cases, Safety Match Holders, Safety Razor Cases, Bill Folds, Lapel Chains, Ticket Holders, Pocket Knives, Cigarette Paper Books, Cuff Links, Cigar Cases and Bottle Openers.

Then for the children there are Pap Spoons, Bib Holders, Rattles, Enamelled Child's Brush, Comb and Puff Box, and sets consisting of Bowl, Cup, Plate, Napkin Ring, Knife, Fork and Spoon, etc.

To mention only a few more articles of personal and home use there are Pencils, Fountain Pens, Engagement Pads, Card Cases for both Men and Women and Eyeglass Cases.

Nearly all of these articles are made in a variety of finishes—plain, etched, engraved, engine-turned and enamel. Each is of perfect Gorham quality. Each possesses that indefinable quality called Style. They form one of the most attractive features of the Gorham stores.

I have not attempted to itemize prices—there are too many articles. Be assured, however, that they are reasonable, especially in view of their Quality.

When you buy anything at Gorham's you get a guarantee provided by four generations of exceptional merchandising service to the public.

MOOSE DICKER FOR PLACES ON TICKET

Combine Here with Hearst Men, Who Are Pushing John J. Hopper for Sheriff.

FIGHT ON COUNTY SLATES

Kings Progressives, Highly Dissatisfied, Talk of a Deal with Regular Democratic Organization.

When the Executive Committee of the Fusion Committee of 107 meets to-night to consider the nominations for the various county offices on the Fusion ticket it is likely that an indefinite adjournment will be taken, for the county slates are in such confusion that there is little prospect of reaching an agreement for another week at least. The Fusionists, elated over District Attorney Whitman's acceptance of the nomination, said last week that they would leave the make-up of the rest of the ticket to the representatives of the various political organizations in the Fusion Committee.

The Republicans created discord right away by demanding the choicest places on the ticket for members of their organization. The Progressive members thought that the places should be divided evenly. Representatives of the Independence League wanted some of the offices, while the independent Democrats, acknowledged followers of John Purroy Mitchel, the Fusion candidate for Mayor, insisted upon being recognized in some way.

The result has been that there has been no agreement upon a ticket for any of the boroughs, and the Nominating Committee of the Fusionists will have to go over the list, name by name, and try to restore harmony. In the last analysis the Nominating Committee will have to decide upon the make-up of the various county tickets.

The real fight in the committee is between the Republicans and the Progressives. When the Republicans said that they must have the naming of the Sheriff of New York County there was trouble immediately. The Progressives put forward a candidate of their own, but they gave way in favor of John J. Hopper of the Independence League. Then it was agreed between them that the Independence League members would support at least two of the Progressives for candidates for Justices of the Supreme Court.

The Republicans objected and said they would surrender the Sheriff, but they must have the naming of the Justices. They immediately put forward among others the names of Robert C. Morris, former President of the Republican Club; Abraham S. Gilbert, Edward J. Lauer, and Justice Frederick Spiegelberg of the Municipal Court. It was said yesterday that the Independence League would support the Progressives if the latter would agree to vote for Mr. Hopper for Sheriff.

In Bronx County, Cyrus C. Miller practically has made up his mind to withdraw from the Fusion ticket as a candidate for the renomination for Borough President and become a candidate for County Judge. If this is acceptable to the Progressives, Thomas W. Whittle, Commissioner of Public Works under Mr. Miller and a Republican, will take Mr. Miller's place on the ticket. It was said yesterday that this arrangement had been agreed upon.

In Queens County, it was said that Robert W. Higbie, the Fusion candidate for Borough President, is willing to retire in favor of any one the Fusion Committee may select. There was talk last night that W. W. Williams may take his place. Mr. Williams, who is a real estate operator in Queens, is a Republican and has many friends in that borough. Other candidates are C. L. Smith and Harry I. Huber.

In Richmond County there is still opposition to Borough President Cromwell who has been named for renomination.

For Register of New York County, the various elements composing the Fusionists practically have agreed upon Max S. Grifenhagen for renomination. Mr. Grifenhagen's candidacy was presented to the Fusion Nominating Committee yesterday by a committee of citizens, of which Thomas H. Baskerville was Chairman. Gilbert E. Roe came forward as a candidate for Supreme Court Justice. Frank Joyce also announced that he was a candidate for Sheriff.

The Progressives of Kings County, dissatisfied because they believe the Republicans demand too many places on the county and borough ticket, are thinking seriously of fusing with the Democrats, who, they believe, will give them the places on the ticket which they demand. An informal conference of forty members of the Executive Committee of the Progressive Organization in Kings County was held last night at the Imperial on Fulton Street.

The meeting was called ostensibly for the purpose of discussing the county and borough ticket, and a call to that effect was sent out by George W. Forbell, State Committeeman. It was learned last night that the conference in reality was for the purpose of discussing fusion with the Democrats, and that there was a stormy protest against fusing with the Republicans.

The speakers favored the indorsing of any high-class Democrats. They said, too, that the three places assigned to them on the ticket by the Republicans were not sufficient, and that they would not fuse with any party unless they could get these offices: Sheriff, one County Judge, County Clerk, and one Coroner. For the other offices—Borough President, Register, Surrogate, one County Judge, and one Coroner—they said that they would indorse any Democrat of good standing. Westervelt Prentice presided at the conference.

YOUNG GIRL ACCUSES MEN.

Her Story of Boat House Revels Told in Court by S. P. C. C. Officer.

When 15-year-old Anna Cawley of Richmond Hill was arraigned yesterday afternoon in the Children's Court in Jamaica, Officer Charles Karstedt of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children reported to Justice Hoyt that the girl had told a strange story of herself and other girls being taken at night to the Iona Boat Club, which is in Ramblersville, Queens. Her story was that some of the girls, none of them over 18 years old, were kept at the club house over night.

Karstedt assured Justice Hoyt that he and detectives from the Ozone Park Station had been working on the case for several days, that the Cawley girl had supplied him with the names of men residents of Ozone Park and Woodhaven—some of them fathers—and that if the stories could be checked up there would be several arrests within a short time. One arrest has already been made, but the hearing is yet to be held.

The story which has been related to the S. P. C. C. refers to girls of excellent families in the region from which the boat club draws its membership.

Arraigned with the Cawley girl was Marie Nesbit, another Richmond Hill girl, who, it is said, admitted having been to the club frequently, but denied any wrongdoing.

Both girls were committed temporarily to the care of the Children's Society in Brooklyn.

HELD FOR RIVAL'S DEATH.

New Yorker Charged With Killing Man Who Wedded His Fiancee.

Special to The New York Times.

ATCHISON, Kan., Aug. 11.—Richard Howells, aged 25 years, of New York, was arrested in East Atchison, Kan., this morning, charged with the murder of Ralph Stevens, a bartender. Howells, who represents a St. Joseph packing company in New York, arrived here on Saturday to visit Miss Mildred Lawson, his fiancée. He had not heard from her for six months. On his arrival he discovered that she had married Stevens.

Stevens was found dead in the Burlington Depot at Armour, Mo., a suburb of Atchison, this morning shot through the back of the head. Howells was suspected by Mrs. Stevens, who had him arrested. A .22-calibre revolver with one empty chamber was found in Howells's pocket. Howells denies knowledge of the affair. Mrs. Stevens says her husband told her on Sunday that Howells had threatened his life because she had not been true to him.

Howells, who was formerly of Atchison, was engaged to her for six years, but had not seen her since last December, when he came from New York on a two week's visit. Their marriage was to have taken place in April, but she said he failed to appear. Stevens was an old schoolmate of hers and her first cousin.

LAW OBEYED AT SARATOGA.

No Violation at Track, No Gambling House Open, Says District Attorney

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—District Attorney McKelvey of Saratoga County, in the first of a series of weekly reports on Saratoga racing conditions which he plans to submit to Gov. Sulzer, to-day informed the Executive that "the law is being obeyed to the letter" at the Saratoga race track. The District Attorney assures the Governor "with a considerable degree of confidence that there is not a single gambling house open in the village of Saratoga Springs, and there will not be during the racing season which is now on."

The District Attorney praises the efforts of the Saratoga Association, private detectives, the Saratoga police, and the Sheriff and his deputies.

"At our request," the letter continues, "the association has already warned and kept away from the track a large number of men whose names were furnished to the District Attorney as having been possible offenders at the Belmont Park track, although there was not sufficient evidence to warrant conviction."

Mr. McKelvey declares that "there has not come to my attention a single violation of the law."

I. T. U. CONVENTION OPENS.

Signal Victory Won by "Administrationists" on Test Vote.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—The "administrationists" won a signal victory early in the proceedings of the International Typographical Union Convention, called to order here to-day for a six-day session, when a motion to take from the President and give to the convention the right to name the Committee on Appeals was lost by a vote of 170 to 72. The fight for the motion was led by Representative Baumgartner of Omaha, who contended that as the Committee on Appeals was the final arbiter of matters coming before the convention and affecting the rights of the Pesident, it should be named by the convention.

During to-day's proceedings the convention stood adjourned for a few minutes while the House of Representatives, in the hall of which the convention is being held, went through its daily programme of meeting and adjourning. There were five legislators present.

TWO MOTOR BOATS MISSING.

Life Crew Searches Vainly for Craft —Driven Out to Sea by Storm.

Special to The New York Times.

BARNEGAT, N. J., Aug. 11.—After an entire night spent in a search for two motor boats that had been driven out to sea in yesterday's storm, a life crew from the Barnegat Life Saving Station returned this afternoon and reported that they had not been able to find any trace of the missing boats. Neither was any wreckage or other signs of the boats discovered. The two motor boats were seen coming down the coast from the northward. Both were heading for the inlet when the storm broke, and both were driven seaward and soon lost to sight.

The life saving station was notified, and as soon as the storm abated a crew of life savers put out to search for the missing craft. The waters for miles in all directions were covered, and it was not until twelve hours had passed that the life savers gave up the search and came in.

WAR BEGUN TO WIPE OUT THE GANGSTERS

East Side Residents Say They Will Clean Up That Section.

WANT NO OUTSIDE AID

Assert in Mass Meeting That All They Ask Is for Reformers to "Keep Hands Off."

At a mass meeting in the auditorium of the East Side Neighborhood Association, plans were announced last night for a fight of extermination against gangsters. Backing the campaign both financially and morally are the same persons who scattered the gangs of horse poisoners by securing indictments against twoscore of the leaders and convicting eighteen within the past six months. Those who will engage in the present campaign say that success is assured if so-called reformers from the outside do not intrude, and if the police limit their activities to work which investigators will cut out for them.

The auditorium was filled to its capacity, many shopkeepers of the east side who have submitted to blackmail by the gangsters being on hand. Dr. Henry Moskowitz, Chairman, said that while shameful conditions had existed for years on the east side as well as in other localities in New York, it was not until the Rosenthal murder that residents realized crimes could be committed with impunity by gangs organized and maintained in home communities.

"Gangsters represent a symptom of chaotic immigrant life," Dr. Moskowitz said. "But if housecleaning is to be done we want to do it ourselves. We assert that we have the ability and the power to take care of our own problems.

"Gangsters are the tools of politicians, the instruments of all political machines, irrespective of party. If the politician did not protect the gangster he could not exist. Most of the responsibility of ridding ourselves of these criminals rests on the shopkeepers and others who have submitted to blackmail. Be courageous and resent their intrusions. If you persist in encouraging them by purchasing tickets for their outings and raffles they cannot be eliminated. We will show them that, like the Irish and the Americans, who, they found, fought back, we have physical courage, and we will defy them."

Morse M. Frankel, one of the organizers of the Horse Owners' Protective Association and who hunted down the poisoning gangs, told the audience that the gangster is a coward and should be treated as such by brave men.

"In a year's time there will be no gangsters on the east side," he said. "The small shopkeepers suffer the most, and all because it has been proved to them that they cannot look to the police for protection nor to the courts for justice. What the east side wants is a place to go to have complaints honestly lodged and an ear to listen."

Joseph J. Goldstein, Secretary of the Neighborhood Association, told of instances when gangsters escaped punishment because of the intervention of politicians.

"I am sick and tired of having reformers come here and assume to tell us what we need, then use us for their own political advantage," he said. "No matter what our politics or our religion on the east side, we want a clean house, and it is going to be cleaned of gangsters. But I want to tell you shopkeepers and other residents that we can't do what we want to the gangsters unless you stand by us. It is for you to decide whether you want the pistol and the blackjack in your community. You have got to make the gangsters afraid of you and you must have the courage to stand up and be counted.

"Remember, first of all, that the gangster cannot do without money. It is his food. Take it away from him and you starve him out. Don't be cajoled by local politicians. If your watch, valued at $20, is taken from you, and you are offered $50 by a political intermediary to refuse to prosecute the criminal when evidence is secured against him, spurn it. We know it is too true that political influence has pulled the gangster through in the past. But this is the present, and we are going to rid ourselves of the gangster if you will do your part."

Mr. Goldstein cited as an example of the inefficiency of the police the case of Abraham Bernstein, a liveryman of 178 Suffolk Street. He said that Bernstein has had fourteen horses poisoned in four months, and, after appealing in vain to the police, has adopted the plan of sleeping across the entrance to the stables.

Immediate plans for the campaign against gangsters include the holding of meetings in four of the largest synagogues on the east side and open air meetings later to arouse public sentiment.

"All complaints made to us will be vigorously prosecuted," Mr. Goldstein said, "and we intend to make the police stand up to their work."

BISHOP SCORES RICHMOND.

Philadelphia Rector Is "Against Every One," Says Jersey Prelate.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 11.—"I wouldn't notice him any more than I would the dirt out there in the street," said the Right Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, to-day when asked concerning the attack made upon him yesterday by the Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Philadelphia.

The reporter offered the Bishop a newspaper clipping containing Mr. Richmond's remarks, but the Bishop declined to read it.

"I know Richmond," said the Bishop. "He's making a bid for popularity."

"He says your leadership is inefficient," said the reporter.

"I know. I feel sorry for him. His hand is against every one and every one's hand is again him. He's fighting to keep his head above water," said the Bishop. "I don't think he's in his right mind. I think he's crazy."

Bishop Scarborough is spending the Summer with his daughter, Mrs. William S. Gummere, wife of the Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court, at her Avon home.

LOUISA VARET'S WILL.

$16,000 in Gifts to Catholic Churches —$5,000 to Servants.

Bequests of $16,000 for Roman Catholic institutions are made under the will of Louisa Varet, who died on Aug. 5 at 147 West Eleventh Street. Accompanying the will, which was filed yesterday, was an estimate of the property placing it at "more than $10,000 realty and more than $10,000 personalty."

To the Archbishop of New York was bequeathed $10,000 to use at his discretion in having masses said for the decedent and her relatives, and for the erection of memorial windows in churches of his selection. Legacies of $1,000 each were left to St. Francis Church, St. Joseph's Church, and the seminary at Dunwoodie, N. Y., and $3,000 to the trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

After having given $15,000 to her executor, Thomas L. Feitner, and $5,000 to be divided between her servants, Annie and Mary Nash, the residue was divided among grandnieces and grandnephews.

CITIZENS DEFY RAILROAD.

Arm Themselves, Tear Up Tracks and Grade a Crossing.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 11.—Seventy-five armed men, officials and citizens of Rosedale, a suburb of Kansas City, Kan., to-day put the finishing touches to the regraded street where yesterday the Kansas City and Olathe Interurban Railway tracks were torn up and the roadbed reduced to grade by the Rosedale Mayor, J. R. Wimmer, and a band of determined men.

"We have been oppressed by this railroad long enough," Mayor Wimmer said to-day.

More than a score of Rosedale men, under command of John Brawley, town Marshal, remained on guard at the railway crossing all night.

The dispute which resulted in yesterday's clash began several months ago, when the city reduced the grade of the street five feet at the railway crossing and ordered the company to lower its roadbed. This the company refused to do. So Mayor Wimmer, with his Town Marshal and some citizens with teams, went out yesterday and graded away the crossing. Railroad officials tried to interfere and E. S. McAnany, counsel for the road, was arrested.

MUST IGNORE POLITICS.

Booker T. Washington Sounds Warning for Bordentown School.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—In order to make the Industrial School for Colored Youths at Bordentown a success it will be necessary to ignore political influence, according to Booker T. Washington, the negro educator.

Dr. Washington says that the State Board of Education will have to be prepared to meet opposition and criticism. He suggests that a survey be made with the view of finding out what the prevailing occupations are among the colored people. Introduction of a course in automobile repairing is suggested because of the demand for chauffeurs.

Dr. Washington also suggests courses in domestic science for girls.

FISHERMEN CAUGHT IN GALE.

Two Sloops Carrying 62 Men Have Narrow Escapes.

Sixty-two fishermen in two sloops were brought to shore yesterday after having been buffeted about all night by Sunday's storm. The fishing sloop Helen, with Capt. Kelly in command, left Erie Basin on Saturday evening with thirty fishermen. On Sunday it was overtaken by the storm, and its mast and all its canvas were blown into the sea. The wind then carried it on to the Romer Shoals, where it remained wedged fast until early yesterday morning, when Capt. Ike Miller towed the craft into Sheepshead Bay with his motor boat, New Yorker.

The forty-five-foot auxiliary sloop Idle Hour left the foot of East Forty-seventh Street early Sunday morning for a trip to Long Beach. Thirty-two fishermen were aboard, with Capt. Joseph Pfalsgram in charge. On Sunday afternoon, as the sloop was returning, the gasoline gave out. The boat drifted aimlessly about, and was overtaken by heavy storms. The fishermen had food enough, but suffered from lack of water. At noon yesterday the Idle Hour was seen drifting off Rockaway Point by Capt. Henry C. Sastrop of the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps of Rockaway Point, who went out to it in his sloop Bess and towed it to shore.

TOMBSTONE ROMANCE ENDS

Mrs. King Has Monument Dealer Arrested for Assault.

It was three years ago that they first met. She was buying a tombstone for the grave of her husband. He was proprietor of the monument works. His wife died shortly afterward, and he and the widow were married. Yesterday she caused his arraignment in the Yonkers Police Court on a charge of assault, but when Judge Beall learned that there was a suit for separation pending in the Supreme Court he dismissed the complaint.

The woman is Mrs. Amelia Dent King. She is living at Armour Villa Park in Yonkers. Her first husband died several years ago. The man is Thomas J. King, a marble dealer, of Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, Manhattan. It was in his office that Mrs. Dent went to order a tombstone for her husband.

They were unable to agree, and a short time ago he brought suit for separation, alleging incompatibility of temper. The case will soon be tried in White Plains.

Edward Lauterbach Sued for $7,500

Edward Lauterbach, the lawyer, was named as defendant yesterday in a Supreme Court suit to recover $7,500 brought by Joseph J. O'Donohue, Jr. O'Donohue said that on Oct. 21, 1911, he, Thomas Sturgis, and Lauterbach indorsed a $40,000 note made by the Dover White Marble Company to its own order, and that when the note went to protest he and Sturgis paid their agreed share, but that Lauterbach failed to do so.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—San Francisco's saloons were closed for four hours early today, marking the first time retail liquor traffic had been interferred with by statute. A new State law makes it illegal to sell liquor between 2 and 6 o'clock in the morning.

HER BODY SHIELDS FATHER.

Girl Jumps Between Quarreling Men and Is Stabbed in the Side.

Tenants in the same building at 293 East 150th Street, and given much to wordy altercations, Pasquale Armentario and Luigi Iaparlo ran into each other late last evening on the sidewalk in front of the house. They abused each other, and the quarrel soon reached a point where Iaparlo drew forth a shoemaker's knife and lunged at his adversary.

But Armentario's thirteen-year-old daughter Anna had been watching, wide-eyed, and as her eye caught the gleam of the knife blade she flung herself between the two men. The knife struck her in the side.

It was a very slight wound, which the ambulance surgeon was able to patch up easily, but it threw the neighborhood into an uproar, in the midst of which Iaparlo escaped to his flat. From that refuge a policeman took him later to the Morrisania Station.

Dead Pauper Son of a Rich Swede.

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 11.—Wilfred Fabien Kallsten, porter in a saloon at Geneva, who for twenty-five years has been the butt of village jokers because he once said that his father was immensely wealthy, told the truth. After he died at the county almshouse, in his clothing were found papers showing him to be the son of Carl Abraham Kallsten, a cutlery manufacturer at Eklistuna, Sweden. Kallston had a quarrel with his family, and is said recently to have refused to return to Sweden to claim his share of an estate of several millions.

PEN AND INK

You can enter upon the most perfect building contract in the world, and still it is possible for either party to make that contract a burden for the other.

Pen and ink nor the law that sustains it, can ever wholly compensate one man for another's breach of faith.

It is a good plan always to look into the record of the party you sign up with.

THE J. F. STEVENS CO. PUT IN BANKRUPTCY

Voluntary Petition of Subway Builders Puts Their Liabilities at $318,743.

CANNOT MEET PAYROLL

Subway Contracts In Which the Company Was Interested Were Held Up by McAneny.

The John F. Stevens Construction Company of 55 Wall Street, engineers and contractors, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday through its President, John F. Stevens, of 875 Park Avenue, and its Secretary, E. P. Shannon. Judge Julius M. Mayer appointed Joel Rathbone, Vice President of the National Surety Company, and Frederick W. Stelle receivers, under $50,000 bond, to continue the company's business for twenty days. The National Surety Company is bondsman for the faithful performance of the company's construction contracts on the new subway.

The petition in bankruptcy stated liabilities of $318,743 and assets of $301,551. The heaviest creditor is Mr. Stevens himself, with a claim for $132,000 for notes and cash advances. Mr. Stevens is also indorser on a $50,000 note of the company held by the National City Bank.

The company owes its workmen on the subway branch in the Bronx $118,348. Inability to meet this payroll is what froced the petition at this time. The petition stated that at the present time the company had but $688 cash in the bank and $302 cash on hand.

The financial difficulties of the Stevens company at this time recalled the recent proposition of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company to award a $25,000,000 contract for extending and third-tracking the elevated railroad lines in Manhattan to the company on what was stated as a basis of 10 per cent. profit on the actual cost of the work done, which would have made the profit $2,500,000. Other authorities stated that the contract proposed provided for a 15 per cent. profit, which would have made the company's return $3,750,000. There was also reported a contract by the Interborough under which the Stevens company was to do the work of reconstructing the Steinway tunnel on a 10 per cent. profit basis. These contracts were held up by a public protest on the part of Borough President George McAneny, who raised the point that the city had the right to pass on such contracts. Just what connection, if any, there was between the delay and opposition with respect to these contracts and the company's financial distress at this time was not made clear yesterday.

The company's assets as listed yesterday in its own schedule included power houses and pipe line in the Bronx, $59,000; plant equipment, $94,300; accounts, $133,231; claim for damages for breach of contract, $4,000; two auto trucks, $10,000; cash on hand, $302; cash in bank, $688, and books, $30.

The bankrptcy petition stated that it was filed pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Directors of the company and was decided upon to protect the interests of creditors and to insure an equitable distribution of its assets. If existing contracts should be carried out, it was stated yesterday, the company would be able to pay all creditors in full and realize a profit of $200,000.

The Stevens Company, Secretary Shannon said yesterday, has contracts on Section 1, Routes 19 and 22, of the Bronx subway, and has completed 9 per cent. of the work. These contracts, if completed, Mr. Shannon said, would be profitable and would yield the company a gross profit of $300,000. At Stillwater, N. Y., Mr. Shannon says, the company has contracts aggregating $450,000, which are from 60 to 70 per cent. completed.

On the subway contracts, which aggregate $2,253,286, Mr. Shannon said there was due to the company $28,907, retained percentage due Aug. 1, and $45,395 net due on estimate of work done by July 1, as well as $18,000 on the work done from Aug. 1 to Aug. 8. On the Stillwater contracts there was due, Mr. Shannon said, $24,857, while the company owes $20,098 to its laborers as wages.

Besides the $132,000 claimed by Mr. Stevens as owing to him on notes and for cash advanced and the $50,000 due to the National City Bank, the company also owes $6,249 to the American Bridge Company, $2,832 to the Cross, Austin & Ireland Lumber Company of Brooklyn; $2,116 to the Paul Elliott Importing Company of Rochester, $3,227 to the Horton Lumber Company of Stillwater, $4,085 to Johnston & Murray of Syracuse, $3,237 to the New York Edison Company, $5,016 to the Lidgerwood Manufacturing Company, $4,803 to the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, and $8,644 to the Yellow Pine Company.

The company was incorporated on Feb. 9, 1912, for $1,000, and its capital stock was later increased to $2,000,000. Mr. Stevens, its head, was appointed chief engineer in charge of construction on the Panama Canal by President Roosevelt and resigned to become Vice President of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, which he left to join the James J. Hill forces on the Great Northern. Theodore P. Shonts, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, was Chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission when Stevens was engineer in charge of the canal construction, and the two men have been close friends.

Gardner Candidate for Governor.

HAMILTON, Mass., Aug. 11. — Congressman A. P. Gardner announced tonight from his Summer home in Hamilton that he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. Col. Everett C. Benton of Belmont, last year's Republican standard bearer, has already announced that he would seek the re-nomination this year. The primaries will be held next month.

BLAMES SCHOOLS FOR LAX MORALS

Archbishop Ireland Sees the Cause of the Evil in Secularization.

FOR A CATHOLIC Y. M. C. A.

Secretary of the Catholic Federation Urges a Union of Existing Organizations.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 11.—The feature of to-day's session of the Federated Catholic Societies was Archbishop Ireland's address this evening, in which he asserted that "the evil to-day in America is the decay of religion, and, in necessary sequence, the decay of morals. In both instances the cause of the decay is the enforced secularism of the State schools. Others than Catholics, heedful observers and intelligent thinkers, admit the evil, admit the cause and give the alarm.

"I trust the awakening common sense and patriotism of the American people to discover the remedy. Meanwhile in telling the evil and the cause, my right hand on my conscience, I rank myself among truest and most loyal of Americans."

Archbishop Ireland's subject was "Catholicism and Americanism." Continuing, he said:

"They know us little who accuse us of coveting civil and political power that we may dim the splendor of the fairest flower in the garden of Americanism. Our combats, if combats there be, are never against the liberties of America, but in defense of them; never against America, but against such of its sons whose souls never yet have thrilled in full response to its teachings and inspirations."

Speaking of secular schools, Archbishop Ireland said: "Not against State schools as such do I raise objections, but as to the method in which they work—methods that, whatever the theory be, do in fact consecrate secularism as the religion of America and daily are thither driving America with the floodtide of Niagara.

"Somehow, I claim, secular knowledge must be imparted to the child so as not to imperil its faith in God and in Christ. Prove to me, I say, that this contention does not fully fit into the Constitution of the United States; that in making it I have not in mind the welfare, the salvation of America—prove this before you call the contention un-American if not anti-American."

The cross of the Knight of St. Gregory—the highest possible honor attainable for a Catholic layman—was bestowed upon Anthony Matre of St. Louis, Secretary of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, at the close of this forenoon's business session of the Federation in the auditorium.

A plea for a Catholic Young Men's Christian Association and an international association of federations were the most important things in Secretary Matre's report. He said that none of the existing associations for Catholic men would suffice for the proposed Young Men's Christian Association, and therefore urged the consolidation of the four stronger ones.

Charles I. Denechaud of New Orleans, President of the Federation, opened the business session of the organization with a short welcome to the delegates, and then followed with his report.

Immoral plays, including vaudeville shows and the motion picture houses; socialism, white slave traffic, and some phases of the American newspapers, were attacked in the President's report. The desire to print all of the news "offends the senses of our womanhood and poisons the minds of our youth," he said, but added that he did not wish to condemn the American press as a whole, and that many of its faults were due to its manifold duties.

Steps toward a permanent organization of the National Federation of Women's Catholic Societies were taken to-day at the first meeting of women delegates who are here for that purpose. Committees on constitution and organization, which were appointed at a meeting in Louisville last year, were not ready to report to-day, but said that they were practically through with their work, and that the organization was rapidly becoming a fact. They will report to-morrow when an organization, it is expected, will be completed.

LIGHTNING AIDED ANGLER.

Murphy Says Bolt Killed Bass Just as It Was Escaping.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 11.—The tallest fish story in many a moon was aired here to-day by a party of five fishermen who returned from a fishing excursion at Swinefield on the Passaic River, and is vouched for by the protagonist of the tragedy, Police Sergt. Michael Murphy, whose record for veracity is said to be unblemished.

After they had hooked pickerel, suckers and sunfish a-plenty, but never a bass, Sergt. Murphy proposed to his comrades that they contribute a dollar apiece to a pool, the first one to catch a bass to take all. The others were game, but when after two hours of fruitless angling it began to rain, the other four beat a quick retreat for shelter, leaving the policeman to try just one more cast. He says he got a bite, and alleges further that he landed a beautiful big bass on the bank of the Passaic, but that his line broke. The $5 bass was rapidly wriggling its way back toward its native element with the policeman in hot pursuit, with the fish an apparent sure winner in the race. It was an exciting moment. The bass was about to win by a nose, putting every ounce if its strength into one last flip, when a bolt of lightning struck it dead in its tracks. Murphy won the $5 pool. He has the bass as proof of his story, and will on request show you where the lightning bolt bored a hole right through its body.

Timely Savings on Bags & Trunks

MACY'S HAS ALWAYS BEEN NOTED for the completeness and excellence of the stock of Trunks and Bags. Now that the new department has been completed on the Fifth Floor, the stock is even more adequately displayed.

TO ILLUSTRATE THE SAVINGS we mention a fitted Bag for women at $14.89 that is quite as good as, if not better than, the best bag other stores can show for $20.00. Imagine then what you save on an imported Suit Case of black seal leather, silk-lined, with sterling silver fittings—price $129.00!

EVERY TRUNK WE LIST BELOW is made of selected wood that will not readily warp or crack, and every one is covered in canvas specially prepared so as to be absolutely waterproof. All have either fibre or iron binding, and most are hand riveted and protected by hardwood slats. All have iron bottoms—a big factor in life of both Trunk and contents—and brass locks, and either brass or iron clamps.

Macy Trunks are built to withstand the roughest handling of the baggage smasher, and in addition to look smart and neat.

"This Is Seeing Furniture in an Entirely New Light!"

So said an observant visitor after a careful inspection of the GIMBEL Furniture exhibit, with its free, open aisles, its intelligent groupings—rich in practical suggestions, and a certain air of homelikeness that pervades it. "I don't have to wait until the furniture gets home to see what it looks like," said he.

And, indeed, besides the beauty of the Furniture itself, its wonderful diversity and its splendid August savings, the ease of selection it affords is one of the Sale's greatest attractions. Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Floors.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1913.

GOV. SULZER'S DENIAL.

The people of the State of New York would welcome the complete exculpation of Gov. SULZER. It would avert ruin from him and shame and mortification from them. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the denial which he put forth early Monday morning will be followed by some more substantial and convincing statement of his case.

In the denial prepared and given out by the Governor, he says:

> The stock matter with HARRIS & FULLER was not a speculative account or matter, but a loan made upon stocks as collateral, which stocks had been acquired and paid for years before my nomination for the office of Governor and from other sources than HARRIS & FULLER.

If this transaction was a loan and not a speculation in stocks, why did not Mr. FULLER say so in his testimony? HARRIS & FULLER now say, in a statement prepared by them, that the Governor's denial is correct, that "it "was not a speculative account in "any sense of the term." In ordinary transactions on margin the broker, of course, makes a loan to the customer, representing the difference between the customer's deposit and the price paid for the securities purchased. But HARRIS & FULLER say that this was in no sense a speculative account. Nevertheless, Mr. FULLER in his testimony continually employed language such as is ordinarily used in speaking of margin accounts. A plain statement that the firm had loaned money to Mr. SULZER on the collateral furnished by him would have made the matter clear. But at one time Mr. SULZER's account stood not in his name, but in the name of "No. 63." That would be strange for a simple loan account. Moreover, the firm's somewhat peremptory letters to the Governor of June 9 and June 11 are such as a Stock Exchange firm would usually write in demanding additional margin, but the language would be most unusual when employed in writing to a mere borrower.

Mr. SULZER says that the stocks used as collateral for this "loan" had been "acquired and paid for years before" his nomination for the office of Governor. But Mr. FULLER testified that 100 shares of stock were bought for this account on Dec. 5, 1912, and that there was a sale of 100 shares of Southern Pacific on July 9 of this year. These incidents give the matter the appearance rather of an open speculative account than of a loan on collateral.

Mr. SULZER declares that he never heard of the firm of FULLER & GRAY or BOYER & GRISWOLD. But there was a purchase of stocks to the amount of $12,025 on Oct. 16, 1912, by the latter firm paid for by several checks, of which one was Mr. SULZER's check for $900. It appeared in the testimony given before the committee that the other checks represented campaign contributions and they bore Mr. SULZER's indorsement. Sworn testimony was also given that "account 500" on the books of the brokerage firm of FULLER & GRAY was in fact Mr. SULZER's account. The witness, who is an employé of the firm, testified that Mr. GRAY had told him that "account 500" was Mr. SULZER's. There is another point. Mr. SULZER says that "certain checks given to "him for campaign purposes were "deposited to my personal account "and thereafter I paid the amount of "said checks to my Campaign Com"mittee." Of this payment to the Campaign Committee Mr. SULZER then had personal knowledge. If it shall appear that the payment increased the sum total of contributions received above that sworn to by Mr. SULZER in his public statement, some further explanation is manifestly called for. If Mr. SULZER drew his own personal check for the sum represented by these several contributions, he would be able, of course, to produce that check from among his canceled vouchers.

There are so many specifications in the charge against Mr. SULZER, which his denial does not dispose of, that we should suppose the Frawley Committee would continue its inquiry until these various points have been cleared up. The testimony already given, taken in connection with Mr. SULZER's denial, suggests avenues of investigation which should by all means be followed to the end. The Governor must have every chance to clear himself, and the committee should in good faith assist him in that endeavor. He can ask no other form of aid than that which would be given by bringing out the whole truth. That the committee should do.

A DANGEROUS STREET.

The police powers of this municipality are broad. Central Park West is the most dangerous thoroughfare in Manhattan. Without question, the city can cut off a strip of the wide sidewalk along the Central Park wall and order the surface railroad company to move one of its tracks to the centre of the street, allowing space on the east side of the avenue for the northbound motor car and wagon traffic. We are advised that the special committee of the Board of Estimate has received intimations that the company objects to the cost of moving the track; that it will "contest the case in court," and this will "hold it up at least until next Spring."

Residents of the west side between 59th and 110th Streets are unanimous in their complaint of dangerous traffic on Central Park West. The records of accidents on that street fully confirm their complaint. The railway company probably has the right to contest anything in court that it pleases, but there is nothing that it can gain by obstructive tactics. It must endure the costs now or later, and, if later, a degree of unpopularity will be added to the burden. At any rate, the special committee of the Board of Estimate should act to bring the question speedily to an issue, so that it may be decided.

AMENDING THE BANKING BILL.

Not even after being mollified by the loan of $50,000,000 would the bankers chosen by Secretary MCADOO for his advisers approve the present form of the pending Banking bill. They offered suggestions of amendments and they formally resolved that unless their recommendations could be enacted they would prefer that nothing should be done at this time. One of those suggestions is that the required reserves should be reduced in amount and that the banks should have a discretion regarding the place where part of the reserves shall be kept. The banking reserves of the United States are among the world's most liberal in amount. In 1907 there was no deficiency of reserves, but an inability to apply them to the best advantage through excessive decentralization. Each bank wanted the custody of its individual reserves, and there was no national reserve as distinguished from the local reserves. If the reserves could be centralized the percentage of reserves might be reduced, but the reduction of the reserves with the preservation of the decentralization defect is a plan less easy to approve.

Even that might be managed if there were some arrangement preventing the redeposited reserves being the basis of reduplicated loans. A reserve loses something of its virtue if it can be used only after a process of liquidation, and that is the case when a local bank recalls reserves on which the depositary bank has made loans in order to earn the interest paid to the local bank. If the banks kept their own reserves they could not earn interest on them, and nothing on which interest is being earned is primarily a reserve. A middle course might seem to be that the reserve ratio might be reduced when the national reserve is established, and that the local banks might have a discretion where they kept their reserves, provided that the reserves should be kept as free from other uses as when in the vaults of the home bank. The idea of rigidly compartmented or regional reserves is something too much like the idea of "agricultural" currency. Freedom of flow of money is what promotes ease of money, not impediment to natural movements.

The other suggestion is the one generally made when the bill was first published, that the control of the currency should rest with bankers, not with Government officials, and especially not with politicians. This was thought to be a Wall Street notion, proposed from sordid and selfish reasons. It now comes to the Secretary from his own selection of provincial bankers. He is likely to receive it from a national conference of bankers more representative and authoritative than those whom he selected. In no case has any banker of any sort used the intemperance of language indulged in by those framing this bill. It was received respectfully, criticised constructively, and hope has grown with its improvement. Daily it has approximated a practicable, if not a perfect, form, and the bankers have accomplished so much that their pressure should be continued along the same lines.

There has been no thought of politics in the course of the bankers, and there even is a prospect that there need be no such thought in Congress. This is a Democratic Administration, but Republican leaders like Representative MANN are lending support in a praiseworthy manner, contrasting strongly with the contrary course of Senators like Mr. LODGE. He threatened to obstruct the tariff until assured that the Banking bill would be delayed, if not defeated. The advantage of support like Representative MANN's is that it enables the majority the more boldly to face their erratic colleagues and to rely upon the better sentiment of the party. Nothing succeeds like success, and the advantages already gained are encouragement to fight it out on present lines if it takes the rest of the session.

THE INCREASE OF DRINKING.

While the temperance folk boast that 44,000,000 people in this country have been included in "dry" territory, their more logical opponents note the increased consumption of alcoholic beverages per head of population. Washington dispatches yesterday reported 143,220,000 gallons of whisky and brandy consumed during the last fiscal year, and 65,246,000 barrels of malt liquors, a notable increase over the report of 1912. The amount of liquors consumed per capita rose from 8.79 gallons in the decade ending with 1880 to 17.76 gallons in 1900, and to 21.98 gallons in 1912; the record for this year will be larger. What the Prohibitionists think of this we do not know. THE TIMES asked Mr. CHAFIN, their Presidential candidate in 1912, but received no answer.

The Wine and Spirit Circular of Aug. 10 frankly states its conviction that "if prohibition really prohibited it would be repealed." And it notes how gingerly the Prohibitionists treat the question of barring liquors from the home as they would bar them from the saloon. Congress passed the Webb law providing that where a "dry" State prohibits the shipping of liquor within its borders, the interstate traffic shall be stopped. No prohibition State has taken advantage of this law. On the contrary, the Legislature of Georgia unanimously passed an amendment to its prohibitory law, providing that any individual in Georgia may legally have shipped for his own consumption, from another State, and at any time, whisky not in excess of three gallons. The Legislature of North Carolina at once made it legal for dealers in "wet" States to ship alcoholic beverages, not in excess of one gallon at a time, to any consumer within its borders. The Webb law is operative only on the Indian reservations in Oklahoma and in certain "dry" counties of Iowa, which are supplied, nevertheless, by automobiles sent out from the licensed towns of that State. The increased consumption per capita throughout the United States would indicate that individuals in "dry" territory who buy by the case rather than by the drink are consuming rather more than was their wont.

The reason why the liquor interests oppose bitterly the enactment of prohibition laws is obvious—they do not wish the vast sums invested in plants and machinery destroyed to no purpose save that of diverting the traffic to dealers across the border. When the prohibitory measures are themselves ineffective or worse, the damage they do to property is senseless.

"DIRECT RULE."

Here is a little table made up from the statements of Mr. GEORGE KENNAN in the latest number of The North American Review on "The Direct Rule of the People." The author's object is to show that in relative material prosperity there is no ground for the general discontent which the advocates of "direct rule" appeal to, and for that purpose he presents the facts of 1870 and those of 1911-12 as to former wage-earners' bank deposits and savings bank deposits, with the figures of the total estimated wealth of the country. Within the period covered, approximately forty years, or a little more than one generation, the population somewhat more than doubled:

	1870.	1912.
Farm products	2,000	9,000
Farm values	9,000	41,000
Wages	775	3,500
Bank deposits	2,000	17,000
Savings bank deposits	550	4,550
Total wealth	30,000	130,000

In the same period the number of depositors in savings banks increased from 1,600,000 to 10,000,000, or more than sixfold. It will be noted that the increase in all but one of the elements of the above table is about four and one-half fold, or two and a quarter times as great as the increase in the population. Assuming that the various classes of the population have increased at about the same ratio as the population, this means that the average farmer's product is more than twice as great as in 1870, and the average wage-earner's income is more than double what it was forty years ago.

Mr. KENNAN asks very pertinently whether the general system of government under which these remarkable results have been attained should be turned upside down and all its functions confused and demoralized by a radical change in the mode of ascertaining and applying the popular will. For that is what in reality is proposed by the advocates of the direct rule of the people. The rule of the people we now have, or can have whenever the people choose to use the powers that rest in their hands. They choose their own representatives. Sometimes they err badly. They would be still more likely to err in trying to do what they select their agents to do for them. Sometimes the agents betray their trust. That is largely the fault of those who select them. When it happens it is easier to correct the evil than it is to correct the blunders of the people acting "directly." Men will make more mistakes in voting on "initiative" or "referendum" than they make now in voting for representatives.

Undoubtedly there are bad features in all branches of our varied Governments, and our political machines are among the worst, but we shall not get rid of them by multiplying and intensifying the conditions that have given rise to them. The machines are, practically, made up of professional politicians who give most of their time to running our complex elections. The advocates of "direct rule" propose to make our elections more complex, to submit a far greater number and variety of things to be decided. This will necessarily make the professional politicians more necessary, give them more chances and greater power and reduce the actual influence of the popular will lower than it is now. Taking an active part in politics will, for busy voters, be a more difficult, a more hopeless task than ever. Worst of all, the numerous things that the people will have to undertake to do "directly" will be very badly done, and no one will clearly be responsible.

There can never be too much real popular rule, too much respect for the real will of the people deliberately formed and clearly expressed. But the reform of our politics requires that the utmost deliberation and the greatest possible clearness be secured. The muddled and muddling plan of "direct" rule will tend inevitably to the contrary.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.

There is war between the Housewives League and the "holders" of rice. The trouble arises from the fact that thus early in the season there is a surplus of 1,800,000 sacks of the raw material of puddings, a calamity which can be measured only by the fact that it surpasses last year's overstock by a million sacks. Naturally, the Housewives have appealed to the Government for assistance. In a like emergency the distressed coffee growers of Brazil appealed to their Government, and "valorization" was the result. Our Government thought that was very wrong of Brazil, but it might take a different view of its own duty in the case of the rice growers facing ruin through the abundance of their harvest. They have no idea of letting the larger quantity go for the price of a moderate crop. They are proposing to export the surplus, or even to destroy it, as once was proposed by the cotton planters when they faced a similar emergency. The argument is that "if they could de"stroy 1,250,000 sacks, getting noth"ing in return for them, the balance "of the rice would bring more than "the whole quantity." The aggregate price is all they think of, it being none of their business to consider how much good the destroyed rice might do if allowed to reach the hungry.

As producers of rice it is their right to set their own price on it, and to select the market in which they will sell it. The Housewives' right is to go without what they do not pay for and to expose to contumely those conspiring to destroy food rather than allow it to reach market. If the Housewives should conspire to eat hasty pudding they might so increase the calamitous abundance of rice that the market for it would collapse. Unless these conspiracies should be criminal or "unfair" we hardly see what "Government" could do about either of them. Not even if the ladies voted could they vote down the price of rice. But they might think they could, like so many of those who possess the suffrage. Thus intimate is the relation between the price of pudding and votes for women.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The "Straw" Choice for Laureate. The appointment of the Poet Laureate has created comment which can be anything but pleasing for Dr. ROBERT BRIDGES to read over his morning coffee. There can be no doubt that the popular candidate was RUDYARD KIPLING, and the straw vote published by T. P.'s Weekly only adds fuel to the fire of discontent which consumes those who championed his cause. Due allowance is always made for straw votes; their general untrustworthiness is always pointed out. Yet, in the end, straw votes are always interesting as confirming somebody's theory.

We have found KIPLING's last occasional verse on the visit of President POINCARE to London good, and said so. Evidently the readers of T. P.'s Weekly, who are a pretty representative lot of Englishmen, were of the same mind, for the canvass, which the editors assure us was exhaustive, showed Mr. KIPLING in the lead with some 22,000 votes, and Mrs. ALICE MEYNELL a far second, with 5,000 or so.

Dr. BRIDGES is quite lost in the cohorts of the also ran. Yet Dr. BRIDGES may find some crumb of consolation in the reflection that it is popular disappointment over being cheated out of having KIPLING, rather than dissatisfaction with Dr. BRIDGES himself, which makes his welcome to the office of Poet Laureate anything but unanimous in its heartiness. The fact is rather drowned out in the press comment, which is only reflecting public opinion, that if Dr. BRIDGES is not the best man he is assuredly a better man for the place than his predecessor, Mr. AUSTIN, for he is more excellently qualified both as a sound and seasoned scholar and as a careful, even poetical, writer of verses.

Folly of Amusement Seekers. When the violent storms that did so much damage Sunday afternoon swept over Pelham Bay Park hundreds of foolish people did just what they have often been warned not to do in the circumstances—they sought refuge under tall trees situated in open spaces. The lightning was naturally attracted to many of these trees, and people who took refuge under them were either struck by the bolts or seriously injured by falling limbs and splinters. Not even a tyro in matters nautical can mistake the signs of an approaching storm on the water, yet several reckless bathers at Pelham Bay and elsewhere continued to row about in their small boats until overturned or drowned. Equally thoughtless and imprudent acts were committed at the beaches by men who ventured beyond life lines, although unable to swim. A sporadic instance of folly was that of the employé of an electric company—he certainly should have known better—who picked up a live wire without first ascertaining its condition or providing his hands with the proper protection.

The pity of it is that the lessons of last Sunday will probably be wasted on the thousands of New Yorkers who go out again in search of pleasure and amusement.

German Commands in C Natural. Heretofore army officers have been privileged to issue commands in any key they chose, the only requirement being that they should not choose to stutter. Enunciation has never been of great importance, as it seemed to have nothing whatever to do with intelligibility, the wheeling column understanding perfectly the request to "Hhrch!" snorted into military whiskers. It is not, then, from a utilitarian but from an aesthetic point of view that the Kaiser is instituting a serious reform in the German Army. According to a recent cable dispatch, officers are no longer to be intrusted with their own capricious selection of pitch for their commands, for hereafter all orders are to be issued in C natural, flats and sharps strictly banned.

This will go badly with those whose vocal accomplishments come under the scientific definition of noise—that devoid of all pitch whatsoever—and Germany can at best pray that she be not called into the field before the common musical denominator becomes second nature with those who are able to learn. Nevertheless, the difficulty is less than might be imagined, for voices differ more often in the matter of volume and quality than of pitch. Scientists affirm that the human voice very nearly approximates C natural, and a little parlor experimentation with a piano and a group of speaking voices of apparently widely differing range will verify the affirmation, to the surprise of the experimenters. We fear that even after the officers of the German Army have practiced long and loudly with the piping guidance of the pitch pipe the net result will be the same.

Times Square Library Is Needed. There may be some good reason for the removal of the George Bruce Branch of the New York Public Library from 226 West Forty-second Street to Tenth Avenue and Fortieth Street, which is to take place at the end of this month. If such reason exist it is undiscoverable by the thousands of persons to whom this little library is now a convenience so great that it has become almost a necessity. The library has been in its present building since 1887. It is, as a memorial of GEORGE BRUCE, one of the best endowed institutions of its kind in the city. Since it was opened an enormous population has grown up around it, people to whom such an institution is peculiarly useful and beneficial—chorus girls from the thousands of "rooming houses" in the neighborhood; students who find it convenient, if not necessary, to live near Times Square; employés of the multifarious industries of the district.

To say that these persons can go to the central library in Fifth Avenue is to use an argument that will not hold. A few of them will, perhaps, be able to spare the time to go there, but nine out of ten of them will be unable to do so. And even those who can take twenty instead of five minutes out of their lunch hour to walk to the great marble building will miss much that makes the Bruce Library delightful. However efficient the attendants at the central library may be, it is impossible for them to devote to the immense public they serve the personal attention and interest that make the Bruce Library an ideal institution of its kind.

The removal of the library to a position that is practically inaccessible will need, we think, a good deal of explaining.

PUTNAM COUNTY HIGHWAYS.

Division Engineer Contradicts Bull Moose Contentions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There appears in your columns to-day a story relative to the construction of a State highway in Putnam County, the inference from which is that the highway was intentionally located to financially benefit John R. Yale, and that the final location resulted in an unnecessary cost to the State of New York of approximately $5,000.

I was division engineer in charge of this territory at the time the location was made by engineers under my supervision. The reason the alignment of the completed highway did not follow that of the old roadway was on account of the excessive grade on the latter. To build roads with a gradient of over 7 per cent. where such a condition could be avoided was, and justly so, contrary to the policy of the State Highway Commission ever since its creation.

The statement that the barn cost the State of New York $5,000 is false. The State of New York did not expend one dollar in payment for this necessary right of way. If any money was paid on account of land or structure it was not paid through the Department of Highways.

I further believe that no highway engineer of recognized standing would seriously question the judgment of those responsible for the final location of the highway referred to.

Central Park Tennis Courts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I see that Commissioner Stover plans to have twelve more concrete tennis courts in Central Park, in the neighborhood of West Ninety-seventh Street. One large concrete ground is there already; the beautiful greenery that all can enjoy has been destroyed to make way for a comparatively few.

I cannot imagine where the other courts will be, that is without adding formidably to the ruin of those grassy and woody regions. It ought not to be in the power of any Commissioner or any one man to do this. A concrete tennis court should be in some place not planned and needed as a little bit of verdure in a great, crowded, concrete-stony city.

Mr. Mitchel of Irish Stock.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice you describe John Purroy Mitchel, the candidate for Mayor, as of "Scotch-Irish" descent. As a matter of fact, his family, and the Irish Mitchels in general, are from the stock of the MacGiolla-Micil (son of the servant of St. Michael) of Donegal, where they have been lords and chieftains from time immemorial. Mr. Gaynor, who belongs to the ancient Irish family of MacGaynor or MacThionbhar (one is the Gaelic and the other the Anglicized form) has been described as English-Irish. If the Mitchels and Gaynors are "Scotch-Irish" and "English-Irish," there has never been an Irish race at all.

WORRIED BY MARGIN OF TARIFF VOTES

But Senate Democrats Decide in Caucus That Gov. O'Neal Can't Help Them.

TO RUSH ALABAMA ELECTION

But Do Not Feel the Bill Is in Peril—Hollis Attacks New England Cotton Interests.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The narrow margin of control to which the death of Senator Johnston of Alabama has reduced the Democrats, was regarded as so serious from the point of view of tariff revision that the unprecedented course was followed to-day of considering the vacancy at a caucus of Democratic Senators. They decided unanimously that Gov. O'Neal of Alabama could not solve the difficulty by appointing Mr. Johnston's successor without special authorization from the State Legislature. This means that a personal appointee would not be admitted to the Senate.

The Governor, after conferring with his political friends in Alabama, had practically reached the conclusion that he could make a temporary appointment under the provision in the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution, providing for the popular election of Senators, which declared that the amendment should not affect "the term" of any Senator elected before the amendment became a part of the Constitution. The Governor's friends told him that provision authorized him to make an appointment for the unexpired "term" of Mr. Johnston. But lawyers here are convinced that the provision means merely that Senators elected by Legislatures in the old way, prior to the proclamation of the last amendment, would not be unseated by it.

Democratic Senators are less united as to the course Gov. O'Neal should pursue. Some are of the opinion that he can at once issue writs of election. But others believe that the Legislature must first provide the election machinery, as was done in Georgia, where Senator Bacon, though nominated under the old system, was afterward unanimously elected by popular ballot. Gov. O'Neal's reluctance to call the Legislature together is explained partly by the fear that he cannot control it, and partly by local laws requiring a long interval between the issuance of a call and the assembling of the Legislature. Senator Poindexter of Washington has a bill providing election machinery for States where the Legislatures have failed to act, but there is no likelihood that his measure will be acted upon in time for the present emergency.

While the Democratic leaders are eager to have the vacancy in their ranks filled before many rollcalls are taken in the Senate, they do not feel that the Tariff bill is really in peril. Even on the contested sugar schedule they have a majority of one, while the vote of Vice President Marshall is waiting in case a Senator should be absent without a pair. But all the same they are doing what they can to hasten an election in Alabama.

It is understood that Mr. Gronna of North Dakota, Mr. La Follette of Wisconsin, Mr. Kenyon of Iowa, and Mr. Poindexter of Washington could be brought to support the bill on its final passage by a few concessions on agricultural products. In fact, Mr. Poindexter long ago said that after trying to amend the Democratic bill he would support it as it stands. But this assurance adds nothing to Democratic strength for free sugar, against which two Democrats and all the Republicans will vote.

Though confident of its final passage, Democratic leaders are perturbed over their failure to make progress on the Tariff bill, and for several days informal conferences have been held with Progressive Republicans and regular Republican leaders in the hope that some means to hasten consideration of the measure might be found. The Democrats have inquired of the Republicans what progress could be made on the tariff should it be definitely agreed that the Senate would not take up the Currency bill at the present session. No assurances, it was reported, were given as to a definite time for voting on the tarff, but it was asserted by minority leaders that such an assurance undoubtedly would lead to earlier action.

Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, Democrat, flayed the cotton manufacturers of New England in a speech in which he said that New England had not been discriminated against, and characterized as false the charge that tariff reduction would ruin the textile industry there.

"The cotton manufacturers have taken the highest protection and paid pauper wages," he said. "They are compelled by statute to work humane hours and conduct their business on humane lines; and not one has voluntarily reduced the hours of labor. They seek to control the Government to prevent labor legislation, escape just taxes, to control the police and inferior courts, and secure military aid for the suppression of strikes. They secure special commodity rates for their goods and other preferences from railroads. They oppose the election of Democrats by coercing their employes, and they make inordinate profits at present tariff rates. It is a question whether one-sided development of this kind is best for any community.

IRISH MAYOR TALKS GERMAN

New Britain's Executive Surprises Guests of the City.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 11.—Mayor Joseph M. Halloran, an Irishman, pleased thousands of Germans today when he made an address of welcome in their native tongue. The occasion was the State German Day, and seated on the platform with the Chief Executive were Gov. Baldwin and other guests of prominence.

The speech had been prepared within a week. Before that time Mayor Halloran could not speak a word of German. His address came as a great surprise even to Mayor Halloran's friends.

A SONG OF THE CITY.

If you come to ask your fortune of the city
You must swear to take whatever she may give;
You must strip yourself of frivolous desire,
Wanting nothing but a fighting chance to live!

You've got to look her in the eyes, unshrinking,
Forgetting, when she tries you overlong;
You've got to gamely take a long day's grilling,
And start the next one whistling a song!

Then, when she's found that you won't take a breaking,
That you can play the game, she'll play it fair.
When you've offered her your strength and youth, unflinching,
She'll take you to her heart and hold you there!

MULHALL AGAIN A WITNESS.

Begins His Story to House Committee—Emery on Senate Side.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Martin M. Mulhall to-day began the second recital of his experiences in influencing legislation, appearing before the House Lobby Committee. The greater part of his testimony was a reptition of matter which he already had presented to the Senate Committee. John W. Crim appeared as counsel for Mulhall.

The committee plans to take up systematically the various members of Congress, employes of Congress, and other public men mentioned in the Mulhall correspondence and examine the witness relative to each individual. Following this plan, all of the Mulhall letters relating to Representative Richard Bartholdt of Missouri were placed in the record to-day, and Mulhall was questioned about them.

The letters relating to the activity of Mulhall in securing assistance from Bartholdt in preventing a report on an eight-hour labor bill from the Labor Committee and in supporting the Littlefield anti-pilotage bill which the National Association of Manufacturers favored. Mulhall said he believed Mr. Bartholdt did not abandon his personal convictions to support the interests of the National Association of Manufacturers.

A. E. Marshall of Dayton, Ohio, who wrote a letter which Mulhall read to the Senate Lobby Committee, saying Gov. Cox of Ohio, when a member of Congress, had been delaying the selection of a Federal building site in Dayton for personal reasons, sent a letter to the committee disclaiming any reflections on Cox. John G. Swasey of Maine sent a letter denying having had any relations with Mulhall.

At the request of counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, the committee subpoenaed H. E. Miles of Racine, Wis., and H. P. Towne and S. E. Meade of New York to testify regarding the movement for a tariff commission.

James A. Emery, Washington representative of the Manufacturers, continued his testimony. He denied that the organization he represented had originated or led the movement for the Workmen's Compensation bill in Congress.

REFUND TO MISS DE WOLFE.

Declared a Non-Resident, She Will Get Back Duty She Paid.

A long-drawn out controversy between the customs officials at this port and Miss Elsie De Wolfe, regarding the latter's status as a citizen of the United States, ended yesterday when the Board of United States General Appraisers officially declared the actress-decorater a non-resident, and therefore exempt from the payment of duty on personal effects. Early last year Miss De Wolfe returned from Europe with an unusually large wardrobe, which at once attracted the interest of the customs officers on the pier.

Although Miss De Wolfe, in filing her declaration of personal baggage, stated that she was a non-resident, and lived in a château near Paris, the officers were skeptical and ordered the trunks sent to the public stores for examination. The contents were appraised at several thousand dollars, and duty at the rate of 60 per cent. ad valorem was demanded by Collector Loeb. Miss De Wolfe paid the duties in order to obtain possession of the gowns and other articles of wearing apparel. She then appealed to the General Board for relief.

In sustaining Miss De Wolfe's contentions Judge Hay ordered the Collector to make a refund of the duties illegally collected. Miss De Wolfe is listed in the New York telephone directory as residing at 123 East Fifty-fifth Street, which also is the home of Miss Elisabeth Marbury, with whom she is associated in business at 105 West Fortieth Street.

EDITOR STRICKEN AT WORK.

Frederick Evans, Suffering from Uremic Poisoning and Heart Disease

Frederick Evans, a former editor of Hampton's Magazine and at present an editorial writer on the Wall Street Journal, was taken suddenly ill in the Wall Street Journal building, at 44 Broad Street, yesterday and was removed to the Hudson Street Hospital in a serious condition from uremic poisoning and heart disease.

Mr. Evans was born in Wales in 1865, and was graduated from Princeton University in 1886. After working as a reporter on the Newark Advertiser for some time he became Secrtary to the Vice President Hobert, a position he held until Mr. Hobart's death. Mr. Evans then went with the Rapid Transit Subway Company as Secretary, and in 1903 was selected as Secretary of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. He was editor of Hampton's Magazine at the time that publication was merged with the Columbian Magazine three years ago.

Mr. Evans is a member of the Princeton Club, the Essex Club of Newark; the Metropolitan Club of Washington, D. C.; and the Nassau, Tiger Inn and University Racquet Clubs of Princeton. He makes his home at the Princeton Club.

TEMPLARS CROWD DENVER.

Thousands Assemble for the Thirty-second Triennial Conclave.

DENVER, Aug. 11.—The pilgrimage of Knights Templars to the thirty-second triennial conclave in Denver has brought at least 45,000 Sir Knights and their ladies to this city. Throughout the day from sunrise until late to-night special trains pulled into the city at frequent intervals, discharging their burden of Knights, and other trains brought tourists and visiting spectators by the thousands.

William B. Melish, Grand Master of the encampment, announced to-night that he had received credentials from the Duke of Connaught to represent officially the Grand Priory of England and Wales at the official banquet Wednesday night. Grand Commander Melish will appear at this banquet dressed in the robes of the order of Great Britain the first time the British Templar uniform ever has been worn in this country.

To-night the opening banquet of the conclave was tendered the encampment officers and members by Denver Commandery, No. 25, and later the officers and members were guests at a banquet given by Colorado Commandery, No. 1, at El Jebel Temple.

CHALLENGE TO OSBORNE.

New Interest Given to Progressive Campaign in New Jersey.

Former State Senator Everett Colby enlivened the race for the Progressive Gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey by announcing last night his intention to challenge his rival, Edmund B. Osborne of Montclair, to a debate on the night of Sept. 11 in Mr. Osborne's own town. Earlier in the Summer Mr. Colby had declined Mr. Osborne's offer of a series of debates through the State.

Mr. Colby professed to be unperturbed by the news of Gifford Pinchot's intention to take the stump for Mr. Osborne. He said that it emphasized a division in the Progressive Party, which could no longer be concealed.

"The faction to which Mr. Pinchot belongs," said Mr. Colby, "is opposed to Col. Roosevelt's policy of trust regulation and in favor of extreme measures which the majority of the Progressive Party are as yet unwilling to adopt."

PERFECT FAITH IN EXECUTOR

Jacob E. Ward's Will Provides No Bond Shall Be Required.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 11.—The will of the late Jacob E. Ward, Second Vice President of the Prudential Insurance Company, was filed here for probate to-day. The value of the estate is said to be large. All the property is left to his son, Carnot M. Ward, 18 years old.

The document is one of the shortest wills that has been filed here in some years, and gives sweeping power without bond to the executor and trustee. The will provides that the executor shall pay to the legatee, "such sums as may be necessary for his education and support" during his minority. When young Mr. Ward becomes of age he is to receive the entire estate, real and personal.

CHARITY TO GOVERN CHILDREN'S COURT

Within New Building None Will Be Branded as a Criminal, Justice Russell Says.

WILL MINISTER IN MERCY

McAneny in Laying Cornerstone Says Structure Marks City's Advance in Broader Humanity.

The cornerstone of the new Children's Court building in East Twenty-second Street just off Lexington Avenue was laid yesterday afternoon by Borough President McAneny before a gathering of city officials and others interested in the project, including Justices of Special Sessions who have devoted much of their time to the work. Addresses were made by Mr. McAneny, Justice Isaac F. Russell and Justice Franklin Chase Hoyt.

The new Court House will be built on the site of a building used formerly by the City College as an annex. It has been planned as a model for the world. The speakers explained yesterday that it would stand as a monument to the earnest and devoted work of men thoroughly versed in the handling of cases of delinquent children. It was designed not as a Court House where children are to be punished as criminals, but as an experiment station where delinquent children will fall into the hands of those who understand them. As the motto of the workers, this quotation, selected by Justice Russell and Chancellor Emeritus McCracken of New York University, was inscribed on the cornerstone:

> For every child let truth spring from earth and justice and mercy look down from Heaven.

Mr. McAneny was introduced by Justice Russell. The Borough President was largely instrumental in obtaining an appropriation of $250,000 for the building, and he labored devotedly for the success of the work.

"The building of this Court House," he said, "marks another great advance in that broader humanity and broader common sense that is beginning to characterize the city's treatment of its social problems. When it is finished we shall have a model Children's Court, housing a model system for the treatment of juvenile delinquency. It has been a thing well worth working for."

In his address Justice Russell said:

"Within the walls of this court no child will be pronounced guilty of felony or misdemeanor or receive the brand of a criminal. The language of the penal law, the jargon of the jailer, the shadow of the Tombs, the manacles of the turnkey—none of these will terrify or torment the child offender. Instead there will stand by his side and sit over him in judgment and follow him in punishment those who will minister to him in mercy, devoted men and women, who will feed the hungry, wash away the stains of cruelty and disease, and say a prayer for the sins of the soul. To-day as we view these broad foundations and rising walls we, the Judges and officers of the Children's Court, pledge ourselves anew to the service of the city, its justice and its mercy, its charity and its humanity."

Justice Russell said that of the 10,000 juveniles who faced the judgment of the Children's Court for the first time only 8 per cent. reappeared there.

The new Court House will be 81 feet wide and four stories in height. The front of the building and part of the sides will be faced with limestone and the rest with brick. The Children's Court has been an institution of this city for eleven years.

WANTS NO INTERFERENCE.

Kings County Organization Will Insist Upon Home Rule.

The Republican organization of Kings County, at a meeting of its Fusion Committee of Seven held yesterday afternoon at 192 Montague Street, Brooklyn, decided to resent any interference from organizations outside the borough in regard to the framing of the local ticket. After reluctantly falling in line with the city organization and approving the selections of the Hapgood Committee for the Mayoralty, the Republicans in Kings have been in no mood to accept any suggestions from that committee about the county and borough slate.

The meeting was called by Elections Commissioner Jacob A. Livingston, county leader. Besides Mr. Livingston, there were present Naval Officer F. J. H. Kracke, Alfred E. Vass, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, former Judge Jacob Brenner, Representative William M. Calder, and Under Sheriff Lewis M. Swasey.

There was a general discussion of the plans under which the Republicans would join in a Fusion movement in the borough and county. It is understood that the organization has already made up its slate and decided how the county offices shall be alloted if the Fusionists get together in that borough. The Republicans want to nominate the Sheriff, the two County Judges, and the County Clerk. They are willing to let the Progressives name the Register and the two Coroners. They are ready to indorse an independent Democrat for Surrogate.

Judges Dike and Fawcett of the County Court will be renominated by the Republican organization, as also will be County Clerk Charles S. Devoy. For Sheriff the Republicans have under consideration three candidates: Lewis M. Swasey, now Under Sheriff under Sheriff Law; Charles S. Wabasse, leader of the Ninth Assembly District, and Edgar H. Hazlewood of the Fifteenth Assembly District.

After the meeting County Leader Livingston gave out a copy of the resolution which was adopted.

The committee said that it would hold a conference with representatives of other organizations on Thursday evening at 192 Montague Street. A statement by the committee said:

"It was also unanimously resolved that the committee will insist upon home rule and will resist interference from individuals or organizations not residents of the county."

TO OUST COMMISSIONERS.

Recall Petition Against Three Filed in Long Branch.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 11.—"Incompetency and failure to perform their duty as Commissioners of the City of Long Branch" are the reasons assigned in a petition filed with City Clerk Winfield R. Warwick, late this afternoon, asking for the recall of three of the five Commissioners, Bryant B. Newcomb, Mayor, and head of the Department of Public Affairs; Thomas V. Arrowsmith, head of the Department of Public Safety, and Marshall Wooley, head of the Department of Streets and Public Works. The two exceptions are Frank J. Howland, Vice President and head of the Department of Revenue and Finance, and John F. Flock, head of the Departments of Parks and Public Property. The recall is signed by 400 voters. Action will be taken at the November election. There is talk of re-electing the other two Commissioners at the same time.

Long Branch has been under commission rule since May 7, 1912. Business men are in favor of the new government and the "recall" idea is charged up to the "outs" who want office.

THOMAS A. WISE IN NEW LOCKE PLAY

The Silver Wedding an Overdose of Sentimentality Not Over Well Delivered.

FINAL MOMENT PLEASING

But the Play Elaborates at Too Great Length on an Unstable and Unconvincing Motive.

The Silver Wedding, comedy in three acts, by Edward Locke. Longacre Theatre.

Ludwig Koehler	Thomas A. Wise
Ottomar Klotz	Frank McCormack
Juan Jacinta	Guinio Socola
Earl Rehbein	Carl Hemmann
George Eckhart	Calvin Thomas
Heinie Schmidt	David Ross
Hans Weighart	Gerhardt Jasperson
Frau Koehler	Alice Gale
Martha Koehler	Cecile Breton
Lucy Rehbein	Edna Temple
Margaret Rehbein	Violet Moore
Frida Hachradt	Lillian Ross

It was possible to leave the Longacre Theatre last evening with an agreeable final impression that was not afforded by all that had gone before in Edward Locke's long drawn out essay on sentimentality known as "The Silver Wedding." For in this final moment Ludwig Koehler, the saddle maker, having finally discovered himself to be a grandfather, quietly sat down in the rocking chair crooning a German lullaby to the infant, while his reunited family gathered about rejoicing. No words were spoken, and for this one time at least there was an absence of the disconcerting attempt at dialect both artificially written and falsely delivered. And as the situation in itself was both natural and human it touched the heart.

It would be pleasant to say the same of all the rest of Mr. Locke's play and of Mr. Thomas A. Wise's acting in it. But in delivering a verdict publicly one may not always consult one's own pleasure. The honest fact is that "The Silver Wedding," despite occasional appealing touches, is largely queer stuff, a mixture of trite sentimentality and not always distinguished humor. In fact, some of the latter is distinctly vulgar.

But the play's signal fault as a play is represented in its laborious and artificial attempt at a motive. In order to make possible what develops for the best part of three acts Ludwig Koehler, hitherto a genial old German citizen, with nothing but love in his heart, must hear some one referred to as a "pig-headed old Dutchman," must ruminate upon the phrase, and finally convince himself that he is the person meant. Whereupon to prove what he is he makes up his mind to be what he is not—the words are his—and then and there refuses the hand of his daughter in marriage to a youth he had considered eligible a few moments before.

To a promise of genre in environment and types succeeds matter that is purely theatrical, but that has its amusing moments in spite of, or possibly because of, its exaggeration.

Ludwig will not attend the wedding and give the bride away. When he would leave home his wife hides "his Sunday pants." But, by means of an amiable plot, he is brought into the wedding celebration as leader of the military band which has been hired for the occasion. Through it all one gets the iteration and reiteration of the pig-headed Dutchman motif, with constant squabbles between himself and his wife, who is as much for the wedding as Ludwig is against it.

It is quite easy to see how some of the ideas in "The Silver Wedding" differently handled might have been made into something charming and real. But that delicacy in co-operation which is the secret of a successful modern play is wholly lacking.

On the acting side the artificiality is again far too apparent. Indeed, Mr. Wise's performance, genial and jovial as always and not without occasional tender notes, is quite often overdone or underdone. There is nothing really suggestively German about it. Indeed, it serves to illustrate once again the paucity of resource of some of our prominent actors who through a long course of playing themselves have failed to acquire any sort of proficiency in characterization. For such a role as this a good German dialect is an essential, to say the very least. But Mr. Wise's dialect is as uncertain as the saddle-maker's temper.

In this respect Alice Gale, who played the wife, is more successful. The scenes between husband and wife have occasional heart-warming quality. But by far the best impression in the play is provided by Lillian Ross, a diminutive comedienne, who gives the effect of spontaniety, sincerity and real humor.

There is, on the whole, a good deal that is plated in "The Silver Wedding."

SPIC AND SPAN BURLESQUE.

"Society a la Carte" Pleases Patrons at the Columbia.

"Society a la Carte," which served to open the regular season at the Columbia yesterday afternoon, is built on the well-tried burlesque plan, in which the semblance of a plot is made to serve the purposes of the specialty performers and the Amazonian chorus which alternately appear as spiders in filmy gauze trimmings, huntresses in cherry coated riding habits, and various other guises. Also, the entertainment has the spirited co-operation of Lillian Fitzgerald, a one-time familiar figure at the old Weber and Fields Music Hall, and Mr. Solly Ward, one of the numerous brood of dialect comedians whose methods are patterned after Mr. Louis Mann.

Miss Fitzgerald is good-looking, works hard, and does a number of things rather cleverly, and Mr. Ward, in spite of the fact that he expected to do "rough stuff" most of the time, is occasionally genuinely amusing. The same may not always be said of these burlesque comedians.

The present show has the advantage of newness in respect to costumes, which are spic and span and give a general effect of brightness, so the audience which packed the theatre yesterday afternoon was undoubtedly well satisfied with what it saw, and quite as well pleased with the occasional suggestion of imaginative details.

"Society a la Carte" will remain through the week, to be succeeded by similar shows throughout the season.

IN THE THEATRES.

Enduring attractions are "Within the Law," with Miss Jane Cowl, at the Eltinge Theatre; Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," at the Cort; "The Passing Show," at the Winter Garden; Ziegfeld's Follies, at the New Amsterdam.

The motion pictures of "Quo Vadis" are on view at the Astor and at the Bronx Theatres.

Patrons of stock companies are offered Hartley Manners's dramatization of "Zira," at the Academy of Music, and Edgard Selwyn's comedy, "The Country Boy," at the Manhattan Opera House.

The Eden Musee presents "The World in Wax," supplemented by concerts and other diversions.

"The Purple Lady," a one-act musical comedy, is the headline feature at B. F. Keith's Union Square; at the New Brighton Henry E. Dixey tops the bill; Felix and Caire lead the regular bill at Proctor's Fifth Avenue; Eugene O'Rourke in "Humanity," a new sketch, is featured at the 125th Street; Tom Kyle and company in "Big-Hearted Grogan" is one of the leading features at the Fifty-eighth Street, and at Proctor's Twenty-third Street house Lew Welch and company head the bill; at Hammerstein's Victoria and Roof Garden Evelyn Nesbit Thaw continues to dance with Jack Clifford as the feature attraction; there is a semi-weekly change of bill at the American Roof and Theatre; at the Jardin de Danse Miss Sawyer and Mr. McCutcheon are feature dancers, and at the Madison Square Roof Garden there is a varied cabaret bill.

SURROGATE UPHELD.

Court Rules That Lawyer Thoms Must Submit to Examination.

George Thoms, an attorney, appealed to Supreme Court Justice Weeks to issue a writ of prohibition against his examination in a discovery proceeding in the Surrogates' Court. The procedure was so unusual that Surrogate Cohalan, the only Surrogate now sitting, took the even more unusual step of leaving the Hall of Records and personally appearing in the Supreme Court to uphold the dignity of his independent jurisdiction.

Thoms had appeared in the Surrogates' Court as counsel for D. B. Fleming, an officer of the Yale Laundry. Fleming's examination was sought by Mrs. Dorothy Turpin, who asserted that her husband, William A. Turpin, whose executrix she was, had stock in the laundry worth $50,000. The Surrogate ordered Thoms to submit to examination before his secretary, Arthur T. O'Leary, to learn what Thoms might know. Thoms asserted that in such an examination he was entitled to counsel, but the Surrogate ruled that the examination must proceed without delay and without counsel.

C. A. Campbell, who appeared with Surrogate Cohalan, urged dismissal of Thoms's application on technical grounds, but the Surrogate said he wished the matter decided plainly on the ground that the Surrogates' Court had exclusive jurisdiction and an appeal from its action would lie only with the Appellate Division and not by way of any writ of the Supreme Court. Justice Weeks denied the writ from the bench.

SUFFRAGIST NAMES MIXED.

Mounted Squad Forgot to Determine Sex of Their Steeds.

The four suffragist equestriennes who have planned a crusade through Orange and Sullivan Counties for the next two weeks rode forth from the headquarters of the Women's Political Union in West Forty-second Street yesterday afternoon and last evening they enlivened Bank Square in Fishkill-on-Hudson by staging an open-air meeting there.

The crusaders are Harriet Porritt, Laura Crozier, Mrs. Marie Fenn, and Mrs. Nora Blatch de Forest. Interesting as they proved to Fishkill last evening, the inhabitants of that river town were far more interested in their steeds gravely introduced on all sides as Senator Root, Senator Frawley, Dr. Lyman Abbott, and the Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst. Of these four mounts three are mares and one is a horse. Thus far their riders have declined to tell which of the four distinguished names they reserved for the horse.

Daughter Born to Mrs. J. R. Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Pope's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, 13 West Fifty-first Street. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who have been at Newport, are with their daughter. It was said last night that mother and child were doing well. Mrs. Pope was Miss Sadie G. Jones, and her marriage to Mr. Pope, the well-known architect of this city, took place last October at the estate of the bride's parents near Wilmington, N. C.

"Damaged Goods" Again.

Richard Bennett and his company appeared again in the Brieux play, "Damaged Goods," at the Fulton Theatre last night. The present engagement continues the one which was interrupted by Mr. Bennett's departure for Europe early in the Summer. The present cast is practically the same which was playing in the piece at that time.

VIETOR CASE DELAYS STRAUS APPRAISAL

Report Held Up Till Court Decides Whether Partnership Good-Will Is Taxable.

TO PASS ON IT IN OCTOBER

Some Errors in the Estimated Figures on Estate, Asserts Straus Attorney.

There will be no completed appraisal of the Isidor Straus estate, it was learned yesterday, until the Appellate Division has handed down its decision on the appeal of the State Controller from the order fixing the tax on the estate of Frederick Vietor, the importer. In the Vietor estate the good-will interest of Mr. Vietor in the firm of Frederick Vietor & Achelis was not taxed because of a partnership agreement which provided that the surviving members of the firm should carry on the business without compensation to the estate of any dying member.

Such an agreement existed with respect to the firm of R. H. Macy & Co., Edmond E. Wise, attorney for the Straus estate, informed a TIMES reporter yesterday.

The partnership clause in this respect, however, did not deter the State Controller's counsel from demanding a tax on Mr. Vietor's share of the good-will and from appealing from the appraiser's refusal to tax it. Until this question has been decided by an appellate court no report on the Straus estate would be conclusive. The decision of the Appellate Division is not expected to be handed down until October. If the court should hold that the good-will is taxable it will be necessary for Appraiser Garvin to decide upon some basis for computing the good-will and Mr. Straus's share in it.

Mr. Wise said that he had no copy of the estimated figures on Mr. Straus's estate, but was convinced that at least some of those published were authentic. Others, he said, were wide of the mark, such as those which put the total profits of R. H. Macy & Co. for the fiscal year ended in 1912 at upward of $2,000,000.

No copy of the preliminary figures was made public at Deputy State Controller Wallace S. Fraser's office, 165 Broadway, yesterday. Appraiser Michael J. Garvin delivered all copies of the figures to Mr. Fraser, who locked them in his safe. Both Mr. Fraser and Mr. Garvin were convinced that the tentative figures were made public through a breach of faith by some employe. Mr. Fraser has instituted an investigation.

MISS RISING MARRIED.

Becomes the Bride of Lieut. Bradley of the Sixth U. S. Artillery.

The wedding of Miss Katharine Rising, daughter of Mrs. Henry W. Rising of this city, to Lieut. Follett Bradley of the Sixth United States Field Artillery, took place yesterday at the country home of the bride's mother at Greenwich, Conn.

It was originally planned to celebrate the wedding in September, but the bridegroom was unable to obtain leave of absence at that time. Lieut. Bradley is the son of Lieut. Col. F. E. Bradley, United States Army, and was graduated with honors from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, class of 1910. Miss Rising made her début Winter before last, and took an active part in social affairs, appearing in many amateur theatricals. Their engagement was announced last May.

After a bridal trip in the Adirondacks, Lieut. and Mrs. Bradley will leave for their future home at Fort Riley, Kan., where Lieut. Bradley is stationed, arriving there about Sept. 6.

Miss Boss to Wed Tyler Clark.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Barbara Boss, daughter of Joseph S. Boss and a granddaughter of C. D. Boss of New London, Conn., to Tyler Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre, Mass. Mr. Clark graduated from Yale, Class of '11, and is a son of the late President Charles P. Clark of the New Haven Railroad. No date has been set for the wedding.

FINED FOR LOCKING DOORS.

Excuse That Factory Strike Was On Not Accepted.

Two factory owners were fined yesterday for violations of the law relative to locking the doors of factories while employes are at work. Jacob Freedgood, a member of Freedgood & Sweetgall, manufacturers of raincoats at 43 West Sixteenth Street, was fined $50 in Special Sessions, and a fine of $100 was imposed on Nathan Pilatzky in the Essex Market Court.

Pilatzky, who has a shirt waist factory at 71 and 73 Goerck Street, pleaded guilty. Freedgood explained that he had locked the doors because a strike was in progress and he was trying to keep the strikers from entering. The latter violation occurred on July 26, when eight employes were at work, and was discovered by Inspector Northrop of the State Labor Department.

LEITER PLANS WORLD CRUISE

Charters Howard Gould's Yacht to Take Forty Around the Globe.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter of Edgewater House, Beverly Farms, are planning a trip around the world on board the steam yacht Niagara IV., which Mr. Leiter has chartered from Howard Gould. She is to be overhauled preparatory to being fitted out to go into commission the last of September.

The cruise will take about a year, the yacht coming back in time for the cup races in September, 1914. Mr. Leiter will be accompanied by his family and a number of guests. A crew of sixty-five men will be required for the yacht.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. Edmund C. Owen and the Misses Mary H. and Georgiana H. Owen of 6 East Fifty-sixth Street are leaving today for the Millbrook Inn, Millbrook, N. Y., for several weeks.

Mrs. J. Muhlenburg Bailey left Southampton yesterday for Long Beach, but will soon return to Southampton, where her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris are spending the Summer.

Mrs. Henry Meyer Johnson and Miss Louisa Johnson, who have been spending part of the Summer abroad, are expected to return shortly.

Mrs. Mackay is now settled in her new residence, 261 Western Promenade, Portland, Maine. A personal letter from her says that she likes Portland and its people very much.

Mrs. Adolph J. Outerbridge and Miss Kathleen Outerbridge motored to town yesterday from their place at Tuxedo, and are at the Hotel Gotham.

Sir Alfred and Lady Gelder of Hull, England, are at the Hotel Manhattan for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Scheftel are at the De Gregoire in Bar Harbor for the month of August, and will return to their Long Island home in East Williston early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Willcox and William F. Havemeyer have been the week-end guests of Mrs. Colin Carter at Bridgehampton, L. I.

Munn & Co. Get Injunction.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—Vice Chancellor Emery to-day filed an opinion in the Court of Chancery allowing the injunction applied for in the suit instituted by Munn & Co. against the Americana Company and others. Munn & Co. publish the Scientific American. The Americana Company has for years published the Encyclopedia Americana under a contract with Munn & Co. for the use of the name and circulation of the book. When Munn & Co. refused to renew the contract, the present suit to enjoin the encyclopedia company from using the name "Scientific American" followed.

The Frogs Appear.

At the Manhattan Casino last night The Frogs, a theatrical organization composed of well-known colored stage folk, gave an entertainment for the fund to build a clubhouse. The bill consisted of minstrel and vaudeville numbers, together with the musical skit, "They Came Back." Among those who took part were Bert Williams, Charles L. Gilpin, F. H. Dudley, Allie Gillian, Elizabeth Williams and Maggie Davis.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Raymond Hitchcock will appear during the coming season under the management of Cohan & Harris in a musical play by Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf, with music by Charles J. Gebest. The new piece is called "The Beauty Shop," and rehearsals have been started at the Astor Theatre.

William A. Brady has engaged Ruth Benson and Agnes Marc for the cast of Owen Davis's play, "The Family Cupboard," to be produced at the Playhouse late in August.

Frederic McKay has completed the company to support Blanche Ring in "When Claudia Smiles," by engaging Reginald Carrington and Mahlon Hamilton for important roles.

WEIGHTMAN QUIETLY TAKES A BRIDE HERE

START ON A WORLD TOUR

Bridegroom Is a Grandnephew of Mrs. F. C. Penfield, Wife of New Ambassador to Austria.

William Weightman, 3d, a great-grandson of William Weightman, the chemical manufacturer of Philadelphia, who when he died, a few years ago, left a will disposing of about $100,000,000, was married yesterday at noon to Miss Mary Healy Powers, daughter of Mrs. Ida Powers of Shelby, Iowa. The ceremony was performed at the Little Church Around the Corner by the Rev. Dr. G. C. Houghton. Mr. Weightman is a grandson of Malcolm Weightman, brother of Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield, wife of the newly appointed Ambassador to Austria.

Mr. Weightman's bride had been spending the Summer with her aunt, Mrs. A. Frank Richardson, at Sag Harbor, L. I. According to Mrs. Richardson, young Weightman met Miss Powers there during the early part of the Summer, and they often were together on the tennis court. Mrs. Richardson said that she was not surprised to learn that the wedding had taken place because she explained that the plans of the young couple had been confided to her.

Mr. Weightman and Miss Powers motored in from Sag Harbor yesterday morning with two friends. They went directly to the City Hall where they obtained a marriage license, and then made arrangements to be married at the Little Church Around the Corner. Following the ceremony they had luncheon with a few friends to whom they told the plans for their honeymoon. They expect to make a tour of the world, returning in about two years. His friends learned from Mr. Weightman that he and his bride would start on their honeymoon before nightfall, but they were unable to find out on what vessel they would be sailing.

SMALL BOATS RACE AT SEA.

Captain Arranges New Sport for Atlantic Liner Passengers.

At noon last Saturday when the Atlantic Transport liner Minnehaha, in yesterday from London, was about 700 miles east of Sandy Hook, Capt. Claret, realizing that it would be impossible to make port in time to land his passengers Sunday afternoon, decided to give them a surprise. The surprise was a boat race in the open sea, between the crews of the lifeboats, one of the crews being drawn from the engine room and the other from the stewards.

The sea was as smooth as glass, and the weather conditions perfect when the racing lifeboats were launched. Capt. Claret was the judge, and Chief Engineer Kehoe the starter. The race was from the ship, a distance about two hundred yards and back. Until within fifty yards of the finish line on the return the boats were neck and neck, and then the stewards' boat gradually crept ahead and crossed the line a winner by about one-half a boat's length.

The passengers lined the rail during the race and many wagers were made on the result. Also a purse of about $75 was raised which was split, $50 to the winning and $25 to the losing crew.

BISHOP SABINE DEAD.

One of the First Supporters of the Reformed Episcopal Church Here.

Bishop William Tufnell Sabine died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 960 Madison Avenue. He was born in New York Oct. 16, 1838, the son of Dr. Gustavus and Julia H. Tufnell Sabine. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1859, receiving his M. A. degree in 1862. The same year he was graduated from the General Theological Seminary, and in 1890 received the degree of D. D. from New York University. In 1868 he married Miss Theresa Schieffelin of this city.

Bishop Sabine was ordained a Deacon in the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1862 and a priest in 1863 under Bishop Horatio Potter. He became assistant rector of St. George's Church in this city and from 1863 to 1866 was rector of the Church of the Covenant in Philadelphia. Subsequently he was rector of the Church of the Atonement in New York. Bishop Sabine was one of the first to join the Reformed Episcopal Church, and in 1874 became rector of the First Reformed Episcopal Church, now at Madison Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street. He was made Bishop of the New York and Philadelphia Synod in 1902.

YANKEES DOWN BROWNS AGAIN---TENNIS---RACING---MOTOR CYCLING

YANKEES WIN, 6-2; MAISEL AT THIRD

High-Priced Infielder Makes Debut with New York Team Against Browns.

Fritz Maisel, the most costly piece of infield bric-a-brac in baseball history, if figures don't lie, as they sometimes have, made his major league début at the Polo Grounds yesterday before the scrutinizing gaze of some 5,000 fans. Fritz gets the credit for about four-fifths of the assemblage, as a Monday game between the Yanks and Browns has the attracting quality of a quarantine sign. While Fritz was on dress parade the Chance men got another verdict over the St. Louis delegation at the ratio of 6 to 2.

The little Teuton, considered good enough to shunt two players back to the minors and cut a $12,000 slice in Frank Farrell's bank account, didn't break into the élite of diamond society with a great splash, neither did he give the appearance of a fizzle. He acted just the same as a less expensive busher might, received the usual applause when he went to bat, and got about everything he went out for but a hit. The new Yankee is so small that the bleacherites can't see him until he gets down as far as second base, but he shows lots of energy in the field. At the bat he had four chances and showed something different every time.

On his first appearance Fritz crashed into the first ball pitched and lined hard and low to left field, where Jack Johnston made a pretty catch. His second effort was a weak roller to the pitcher. On his third attempt he got his three full swings and no more, despite the barrel full of money that he cost, and on the fourth he walked. With a runner on third, Fritz stole without a throw being made for him. In the field he handled one ordinary chance, caught an easy pop fly, and made a brilliant play, the best of the game, on a bunt by Jimmy Austin. With two out in the ninth, the midget grabbed a grounder from Stovall's bat and showed that he is a prototype of Kid Elberfeld in something besides build. They picked the ball up over near the stands. There seems to be no limit to the boy's prowess.

The vicinity of third base was the hangout for costly baseball furniture all during the game. When Fritz was resting on the bench or trying to introduce himself to his first major league base hit, Frank Chance, reputed to be the highest-priced managing director of the profession, kept up the third-base reputation as a district of high finance. Husk missed only one inning at the coaching box, and while on duty he fairly sizzled with "pep," both in motions and in voice. Chance is beginning to make a bigger impression on the Yankee fans than any of the recruits who have been rounded up for service on the new machine which Chance is building.

A return to 1911 form by Slim Caldwell proved the principal stumbling block in the path of the Stovall clan. Slim not only pitched his best game of the year, but he pounded out a pair of hits which figured in three of the Yankee runs, enough to trim the Browns. The score shows that the lanky telegrapher was nicked for three safe swats by the Mound City delegation, but only one of the trio got by with a clean slate. With two out in the opening inning, Del Pratt hit into the left field bleachers, the ball going over the outer rail by inches only, while Birdie Cree, a few feet away, looked on in disgust. In the fifth inning Jack Johnston hit what would have been an easy out to left field, but Cree lost it in the sun's glare, and ran too far in, allowing Jack to get two bases. In the seventh Stovall bounced one off Roger Peckinpaugh's finger tips for a single. Caldwell fanned five and showed some most effective pitching with runners on second or third.

Pratt's homer in the opening inning started the scoring and Shotten's score in the third on a fielder's choice, a steal, and Caldwell's wild pitch for two bases ended the run getting for the Browns. The ball bounded away from Sweeney and into the St. Louis dugout, the ground rule allowing two bases. In the fifth one of Jack Knight's old-time errors on an easy grounder and Johnston's lucky double over Cree's head while the sun blinded the Yankee outfielder put runners on second and third with none out. Caldwell promptly fanned Alexander and Baumgardner and Shotten grounded to Harry Williams for the third out. The Browns had a runner on second with one out in both the sixth and seventh innings, but could not score.

Peckinpaugh's solid slam to left, Jack Knight's Cincinnati single when Peckinpaugh beat Stovall's throw to Balenti, and a pass to Williams clogged the bases with Yankees before an out had been made in the second inning. Another pass to Sweeney forced Peckinpaugh home and caused Boss Stovall to talk like a father to Leverenz. Caldwell followed with a bat-handle hit over Pratt's head and Knight counted. With the corners still covered Leverenz threw two wide pegs to Cook and Stovall chased him. With Baumgardner working Cook grounded to Pratt and was doubled with Caldwell while Williams scored.

Sweeney's single and Caldwell's triple off the right-field wall netted another Yankee marker in the fourth. With two out in the seventh Cook tripled to left, Maisel walked and stole, and Cree chased the pair home with a line drive to centre. The score:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Cleveland got away to an early lead in the opening inning to-day, and, with Mitchell pitching well, Washington was never dangerous, the visitors winning, 6 to 1. Neither team scored after the first inning until the ninth, when Hughes went in to pitch for Washington after Schaefer had batted for Engel. He was hit hard, and before Cleveland had been retired four runs had been scored off him. Mitchell let up in the ninth inning, and two hits, a single and a double, let Washington escape a shoutout. Leibold started the game with a double and scored on Chapman's single. The latter was moved to second on a sacrifice and scored a moment later on a single by Lajoie. A double, three singles, a base on balls, and an error netted Cleveland four more in the ninth inning. The score:

Detroit Takes Last Game.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—By winning from Boston to-day, 6 to 2, Detroit made it two out of three victories for the series. Leonard was wild and the visitors batted hard, getting men on bases in all but two innings. Cobb's two hits drove in three of Detroit's runs. Dauss pitched a good game, being especially effective when men were on the bases. The score:

White Sox Pitcher Blows Up.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Bad pitching in the seventh inning cost Chicago a defeat by Philadelphia here to-day by 8 to 5. The visitors took a lead of five runs in the first three innings, when they secured seven hits, including a home run by Bodie, and three passes off Bush. Houck took Bush's place in the fourth inning and retired his opponents in order in the last six innings. Only two hits were made off Houck, Chappell, who singled, being caught trying to steal second, and J. Collins, who also singled, being a victim in a double play on Schalk's liner to Baker. The score was 5 to 2 in favor of Chcago when the home team went to bat in the seventh inning and scored six runs. Schang opened this session with a double and Houck walked. After Cicotte had two balls and no strikes on E. Murphy, Russell was sent in to pitch. Russell gave passes to E. Murphy, Oldring, and Collins, forcing in two runs. Scott took Russell's place and Baker's triple scored three runners. Baker tallied the final run when Weaver threw McInnis out, Chase being caught napping on the play. The score:

PIRATES AND REDS EACH WIN A GAME

Red Ames Victor for Cincinnati—Suggs Routed by Pittsburgh Bats.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—Pittsburgh and Cincinnati broke even in to-day's double header. Ames held Pittsburgh to four hits in the first and Cincinnati won 3 to 1 by bunching hits off Camnitz in the first inning. The locals had it easy in the second, winning 13 to 1, while Adams held Cincinnati to three hits. Suggs was driven from the box in the fifth inning of the second game, when Pittsburgh scored six runs on eight successive base hits, including two three-baggers. Herbert, a recruit from Portsmouth in the Virginia State League, finished the game.

Cincinnati won the first game with two men out in the first inning, when Marsans tripled, Hoblitzell hit a home run, and Dodge doubled. Singles by Miller and Mitchell and an error by Berghammer gave Pittsburgh its only run in the ninth. The scores:

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 11.—Umpire Rorty was escorted from the field by a squad of police to-day after he had forfeited the Lawrence-Portland New England League game to Lawrence in the sixth inning. While the crowd surged around him he was struck once on the head, but not seriously hurt. Lawrence was leading at the time, 4 to 3. The trouble started when Hickman of Portland was declared out for interference. This out completed a double play which prevented Portland from scoring the tying run.

SYRACUSE BEATS GIANTS.

New York State Leaguers Bat Wiltse and Tesreau Effectively.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—A sacrifice fly, with two men on bases, in the eighth inning gave the Syracuse Club of the New York State League a 3-to-2 victory over the New York Giants in an exhibition game here this afternoon. Big Jeff Tesreau and "Hooks" Wiltse, who occupied the mound for McGraw's team, were both hit hard, while Rankin Johnson, a rangy Texan, working for the Stars, kept his eight hits well scattered.

In only one inning, the eighth, did Johnson allow more than one hit or did more than four men come to bat. In that session Hartley, Tesreau, and Shafer registered two-base hits on easy flies, which landed in the centre of a crowd of 10,000 fans which thronged the park.

Wiltse was hit hard for four innings, five hits netting the locals two runs. In the last of the eighth, after Wratten singled and went to third on Riley's double, Slattery hit a high one to Burns. The former State Leaguer made a good effort to catch his man at home, but the runner beat the ball to the plate by inches. Wiltse was presented with a silver-headed umbrella by his friends in this city. The score:

Three New Pitchers for Yankees.

Three new pitchers have been corraled from the minor leagues by the Yankees, according to an announcement made yesterday, and one of the trio will join the club to-day, the others coming after their respective leagues have closed the season. The players are Marty McHale, procured from the Jersey City club of the International League; "Cy" Pieh, from the Dayton club of the Central League, and "Paddy" Cooper, from the Petersburg team of the Virginia League. All three were purchased, and the prices announced are $6,000 for Hale, $1,500 for Pieh, and $1,500 for Cooper. McHale is due at the Polo Grounds to-day, and the other two will report about Labor Day.

McHale is no stranger to the American League, having played at one time with the Boston Red Sox. He is a graduate of the University of Maine, going to Boston after finishing his college course. He was traded to Jersey City in the deal which brought Bedient to the Boston club. Despite the low standing of the Skeeters, McHale is credited with winning a majority of his games this year, and he was the team's winning pitcher both in 1912 and 1913. Cooper, the Virginia League recruit, is a hard hitter for a pitcher, having a mark of .315 for thirty-five games played to date.

Josh Devore Sold to Phillies.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Aug. 11.—Josh Devore, centre fielder of the Cincinnati Nationals for the past few weeks, has been purchased by the Philadelphia Nationals. He left the team here to-night for Philadelphia. Joe Tinker, manager of the Reds, confirmed the news of the deal this afternoon. Devore declared himself satisfied with the transfer for the reason that he will have a chance in the fight against McGraw's Giants, which discarded him.

"I kept Beals Becker out of a regular job with New York, I beat him out of his job with Cincinnati. Now I wonder if I am going to get his job away from him in Philadelphia," speculated the fast fielder.

Tigers Pay $3,500 for a Pitcher.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 11.—President Hirsig of the Nashville Southern League Club announced to-night that Pitcher Claud Jones, the club's star southpaw, had been sold to the Detroit Club for $3,500. He will report at once.

BASEBALL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Oscar Dugey, second baseman of the Waco (Texas) League team and leading base runner of the league, was sold yesterday to the Boston Nationals, to report at the end of the Texas League's season. The consideration is said to have been $2,000.

Sam Leever was released yesterday as manager of the Kansas City Federal League team. Hugo Swartling, formerly of the Steubenville (Ohio) Interstate League, will act as manager.

Manager Evers of the Chicago Nationals denies the alleged release of Outfielder Wilbur Good to the Indianapolis team. Evers explained that Good's name was included in a list of ten Cubs on whom waivers had been asked from the other seven teams, not with the immediate intention of disposing of them, but to be in a position to make an advantageous deal if one presented itself.

Fred Kommers, Pitttburgh National League outfielder, has been released to the Columbus American Association team. He will take the place of Jimmy Jones, Columbus outfielder, who was seriously injured last week when he collided with Kemper Shelton when running for a fly ball.

Pitcher Ed Walsh of the Chicago Americans is suffering from a strained ligament in his hurling arm, but can be easily cured, according to a statement made by "Bonesetter" Reese of Youngstown, Ohio. Reese based his diagnosis and prediction upon a telegraphic report of Walsh's symptoms. The Chicago pitcher will visit Reese at Mount Clemens.

Pitching his last game in the Northern League before reporting to the New York Giants, on Aug. 15, "Rube" Schauer of the Superior team, for whom Manager McGraw paid $15,000, was defeated at La Crosse, Wis., Sunday, La Crosse winning, 2 to 0. Kramer, for La Crosse, allowed only three hits, while seven drives were bunched off the pitching of the new Giant.

WORLD'S RECORD BY CYCLIST COX

Rides Ten Miles on Empire City Race Track in Fast Time of 9:22 1-5.

Entering upon the second week of the scheduled month's series of exhibitions and competitions at the Greater New York Fair and Exposition at Empire City Park, near Yonkers, the many spectators were treated yesterday to about as varied a list of contests as has probably ever been carded in New York at one meeting of the sort.

Motor cycle racing, thoroughbred horse racing, and the judging of show horses were among the competitions seen, while the exhibitions consisted of stellar circus stunts by teams on flying rings and triple parallel bars, with the whole topped off by a splendid fireworks spectacle.

John J. Cox was the top-notcher among the motor cyclists through his victory in the ten-mile handicap, in which he established a new dirt track world's record of 9 minutes 22 1-5 seconds, incidentally defeating some of the best riders of the territory, conceding marks of from half a mile to two miles.

Arthur Chapple, the champion at the board track game, endeavored to do 50 seconds for the one-mile circuit, but his machine was not in proper tune and he was compelled to be content with 58 3-5 seconds as his share of the afternoon's programme. Earlier in the series Chapple had beaten Costello over the one-mile route in a bit over one minute. French won the three-mile race in straight heats.

The three-quarter mile race for thoroughbreds served as the medium for the defeat of Race King, a horse which some years ago raced Sysonby to a dead heat at Belmont Park in one of the big stakes. The old horse made a good battle, but was beaten a half length by Elite, which was well ridden by Hassard. Deduction, another sprinter well-known to local race followers, finished third in the half-mile dash to Welsh Girl and Vigorous.

T. L. Watt's Uncas Chief carried off the palm among the stallions best suited to produce army horses, with Walter Jennings's former bread winner, Shot Gun, second. Among the hunters Strongheart was voted as best with Edward McLean's High Ball the winner of the red. The summary:

Ten-Mile Motor Cycle Race, Handicap.—Won by John Cox, Brooklyn, (scratch;) James French, Sheepshead Bay, (half mile,) second; Mike Costello, Brooklyn, (one mile,) third. Time—9:22 1-5.

Three-Mile Race.—Won by James French; John Cox, second; Mike Costello, third. Time—3:09 1-5.

Second Heat.—Won by James French; John Cox, second; Tony Moro, third. Time—3:27.

One-Mile Match Race.—Won by Arthur Chapple; Mike Costello, second. Time—1:03 1-5.

One-Mile Time Trial.—Arthur Chapple. Time—0:58 3-5.

First Race.—Half mile, for three-year-olds and upward. Welch Girl (J. Cannon,) 125 pounds; Vigorous, (Zipp,) 108, second; Deduction, (T. Brown,) 122, third; Cornwallis, (O'Neill,) 130, fourth. Time—0:52 2-5.

Second Race.—Three-quarter mile, for three-year-olds and upward. Won by Elite, (Hassard,) 127 pounds; Race King, (Taylor,) 124, second; Vigorous, (Zipp,) 108, third; Essex, (Sergeant,) 122, fourth. Time—1:16 4-5.

COOPERSTOWN POLO TITLE.

Great Neck Defeated for Junior Championship at Narragansett.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 11.—Three very exciting popo games opened the week at the Point Judith Polo Club in the final for the junior championship, which was won by Cooperstown from Great Neck 10¼ to 7, and two fast games in the first leg for the Atlantic cups, the Army defeating Point Judith 9 to 7, and the Perroquets losing to the Leopards 2½ to 9¾.

That the junior championship fell to the hands of the Cooperstown four is a great feather in their caps, for it was nip and tuck through each period against the Great Neck four, who played aggressively in nearly every period. The line-ups and summaries:

TENNIS STARS AT NETS.

Meadow Club's Men's Singles Bring Out Best of Talent in the East.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 11.—With many of the best ranking players in the United States as contestants, the annual invitation tennis tournament of the Meadow Club began to-day on the club courts here. The absence of Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Norris Williams, and Harold H. Hackett, the Davis Cup players, who are now on their way to this country, in no way affected the interest in tne tournament, and a big gallery witnessed the preliminary and first rounds, which furnished plenty of excitement for the Summer colony of the district.

Larned drew a default in the opening round, while Clothier was not called upon to extend himself against R. W. Seabury, who went down to defeat in straight sets. G. F. Touchard found little difficulty in winning from L. Dupont Irving, although he latter made a good fight in the second set. H. W. Slocum, the veteran, was opposed by J. Larkin, but the old-time player proved to be in excellent form and won in straight sets by the score of 6—0, 6—3.

William Johnson, the Californian, was opposed by C. P. Dixon in the opening round of the tournament, and found his opponent a difficult proposition in the first round. The Californian was somewhat strange on the new court and Dixon was able to make a good showing in the first set. The schoolboy struck his pace in the second set and allowed his opponent only two games.

W. M. Washburn, the Princeton player, scored an easy victory over F. N. Doubleday, although the latter put up a plucky defense against his doughty opponent in the first set. The superior play of the Princetonian was in evidence in the second set, and he carried his opponent off his feet.

The failure of F. B. Robinson to appear against J. S. Strachan, the Western crack, was a big disappointment to the gallery, as there was a pronounced curiosity to see the famous Western player in action. With Robinson's default, Strachan will play S. Miller tomorrow, as the latter won from R. Cook, 6—3, 6—1, in the preliminary round.

F. C. Inman defeated F. T. Frelinghuysen in a hard contest and G. P. Payne, champion of Kansas, had little difficulty in winning his first contest in the East. George M. Church, the Princeton crack, had an easy time with F. Hyde, and won in straight sets, 6—1, 6—1. The summary:

Meadow Club Men's Singles, Preliminary Round.—S. W. Merrihew defeated R. Babcock by default; G. Kennedy, Jr., defeated G. L. Livingston, Jr., 6-0, 6-1; Eric Winston defeated H. Swain, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5; Wallace F. Johnston defeated R. Hazard by default; Robert Leroy defeated F. C. Baggs by default; W. M. Chambers defeated A. Codman by default; H. W. Slocum defeated J. Larkin, 6-0, 6-3; J. Bowen defeated L. G. Morris, 6-1, 6-4; R. W. Seabury defeated D. Buffem, 6-2, 7-5.

First Round—T. C. Bundy defeated H. Rea, 6-1, 6-4; William McKim defeated E. Sawyer, 8-6, 6-1; J. S. Strahan defeated F. B. Robinson by default; S. Miller defeated A. Cook, 6-3, 6-1; W. M. Washburn defeated F. N. Doubleday, 6-3, 6-1; G. W. Grier defeated M. Hyde, 6-3, 6-3; Karl H. Behr defeated H. McClintock by default; George M. Church defeated F. Hyde, 6-1, 6-1; Frederick C. Inman defeated F. Frelinghuysen, 6-0, 6-4; H. Nickerson defeated R. C. Myers, 6-2, 6-0; Gustave F. Touchard defeated L. Dupont Irving, 6-0, 7-5; W. J. Clothier defeated R. W. Seabury, 6-1, 6-0; William M. Johnson defeated C. P. Dixon, 6-4, 6-2; T. G. Thomas defeated W. Zinn by default; Leonard Beekman defeated G. R. Payne, 6-4, 6-2; H. A. Plummer defeated A. M. Kidder, 6-3, 6-1; S. Beardsley defeated Allan Tobey, 1-6, 6-0, 6-3.

DILLON AXWORTHY BEST.

Makes Show of the Field in Matron Trotting Stake at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—Racing at the opening of the Grand Circuit meet at the State Fair grounds to-day was rather tame. The only real contest was in the Board of Commerce Stake for 2:16 pacers, which went five heats before Margot Hal was returned a winner. Dillon Axworthy won the trotting division of the Matron Stake, Tillie Lipton the pacing division, and Lord Dewey the 2:15 trot, all in straight heats.

Dillon Axworthy was by far the best among the ten starters in the matron trotting section. In the first heat Serrill held the colt back in the field until the far turn was reached, and then easily took the lead from Ima Jay. At the finish he was a couple of lengths to the good. Ruby Watts and Peter Johnston had a fine brush down the stretch for second place, going under the wire noses apart. In the second heat the Axworthy colt was never headed. He seemed to have plenty in reserve, and could have lowered his time considerably had he been driven out. The summary:

TWO JOCKEYS SET DOWN AT SARATOGA

Ford and Henry Punished for Rough Tactics in Riding—Semprite's Handicap.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Though no feature race was offered by the Saratoga Association this afternoon, it was a thoroughly interesting day of sport, and the attendance was surprisingly large for an off day. The finishes were sufficiently close to keep interest at a high pitch, and a race through the field, won by H. W. Sage's Cliftonian, gave a picturesque touch that made a decided hit. In that running Ral Parr's Garth, ridden by Jockey W. Allen, had a bad fall at the backfield Liverpool, when three jumps from the finish, and the boy was badly shaken up, though not seriously hurt. In the same race Ariosto bolted at the first fence, but was pulled up before he hurt either himself or Jockey Kohler, who had the mount.

The nearest approach to a feature race was a six-furlong handicap that was finally scratched down until there were only five starters. It marked another victory for the West when George J. Long's Semprite led from end to end and won very easily from Richard T. Wilson's Flying Yankee and August C. Blume's Sickle.

Bradley's Choice, from the stable of E. R. Bradley, was the only other Western invader to take down a purse. Showing a very marked improvement over his last previous race, he led throughout and won handily. Jockey Ford, who rode Harvest Queen, was found guilty of snatching at the bridles of other horses in the race, and he was suspended for the rest of the meeting. Ford was suspended at Belmont Park, and it is only within the last few days that he was reinstated. Jockey J. Henry was also suspended for a week by the Stewards for a similar offense.

August Belmont's colors were home in front in the five and a half furlong handicap for two-year-olds when Flittergold romped all the way, covering the distance in 1:06 4-5, the fastest time of the meeting. He took the measure of E. R. Bradley's Boots and Saddle, one of the best of the youngsters that raced in Kentucky.

In the running of the steeplechase Jockey Tuckey, who rode P. S. P. Randolph's Repentant, was criticised for his handling of the filly. She was full of speed, but he kept her under a stiff pull to the last half mile. There he attempted to go after Cliftonian, but it was too late, and second was the best she could accomplish, while Cliftonian won with plenty to spare.

Jefferson Livingston, who has recently been assembling a string of first-class horses, to-day purchased Iron Mask from Harry Payne Whitney. Prince Eugene, the three-year-old that he also purchased, will be pointed for the four miles of the Kentucky Endurance Stake. Iron Mask is a sprinter, and one of the best in the country. Summary of the racing:

FIRST RACE.—Handicap; for two-year-olds; $400 added; five and one-half furlongs. Won by August Belmont's ch. c. Flittergold, 113 pounds, (McTaggart,) 6 to 1, 8 to 5, and 7 to 10; E. R. Bradley's ch. c. Boots and Saddles, 119, (Loftus,) 6 to 5, 1 to 2, and out, second; J. W. Messervy's ch. c. King McDowell, 103, (Brady,) 15 to 1, 5 to 1, and 5 to 2, third. Ralph, 95, (Martin;) O'Hagan, 107, (Henry;) Northener, 102, (Neandar;) Enver Bey, 110, (Borel,) and Galary, 105, (Wolfe,) also ran. Won by four lengths; four lengths between second and third. Time—1:06 4-5.

SECOND RACE.—Steeplechase; selling; for three-year-olds and upward; $500 added; about two miles. Won by R. F. Carman's b. g. Cliftonian, 145 pounds, (Bryant,) 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2; P. S. P. Randolph's b. f. Repentant, 130, (Tuckey,) 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2, second; Broad Hollow Stables' b. g. Bayport, 132, (Mitchell,) 4 to 1, 8 to 5, and 4 to 5, third. Yacht Sunshine Runs Aground.

CHATHAM, Mass., Aug. 11.—The schooner yacht Sunshine, owned by Milton Carlton of the New York Yacht Club, ran aground on Handkerchief Shoal to-day while proceeding from Vineyard Haven to Provincetown on the cruise of the New York fleet. The Sunshine was stranded for six hours until floated by the revenue cutter Acushnet on a rising tide. She sustained no serious damage. After some assistance from the life-savers of the Monomoy Point Station, who had been aboard all day, the schooner continued her voyage to Provincetown in tow of the power boat Cynthia III.

OLD YACHT CORONA WINS TOD CUP RACE

New York Yacht Club Fleet Sails Around Cape Cod in 85-Mile Run.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Aug. 11.—The race for the Tod Cup by four of the old schooners of the New York Yacht Club, around Cape Cod to-day, and sailed for more than half the distance in half a gale of wind, was won by the Corona, built in 1893 as a prospective cup defender and owned by Cleveland H. Dodge of New York. The flagship Sea Fox drifted across the finish line, the second boat, an hour after sunset. About the same time the Katrina was rounding Race Point, while the Endymion, after leading the fleet for nearly half the distance, was almost becalmed off the famous Peaked Hill bars.

The yachts were blown down Nantucket Sound and over the dreaded shoals by a thirty-knot northwester, and until mid-afternoon the fleet had a stiff thrash down the cape shore against the breeze. Toward night, however, the wind slackened, and an hour before sunset all the yachts were practically becalmed.

The squalls of yesterday and the gale to-day served to scatter the fleet, which began leaving Vineyard Haven Sunday forenoon, and many of the yachts kept on to Marblehead. The squadron in this old fishing harbor to-night was the smallest since the cruise started last Wednesday, but it included nearly all the fifty-footers and half a dozen schooners besides those which took part in the race to-day.

The fleet will make a run of forty miles across Massachusetts Bay to-morrow to Marblehead, the incentive being the cups offered by Commodore Dallas B. Pratt.

The murky conditions of yesterday had blown far off shore when four contenders hoisted sail to-day for the eighty-five-mile race around Cape Cod for the cup offered by Capt. Robert P. Tod. The Endymion timed the starting signal nicely and dashed across the line at 6:11:15, the starting signal having been sounded at 6:10.

The Sea Fox was close behind, crossing at 6:11:40, while fifty seconds later came the little Katrina, with the Corona bringing up the rear at 6:13:15. Probably because of the strong conditions off shore the Constellation of Boston, of which much was expected because of her previous work in Cape Cod races, was late in getting up sail, and the committee had gone when she appeared off the East Chop. She was regarded as not having started. The Ariel, another entry, did not get under way until an hour after the start. The remainder of the fleet left Vineyard Haven singly.

In the meantime the four Tod Cup racers were fairly tearing through the water. All the yachts hauled on their wind on passing the Handkerchief, where the Endymion was leading, in order to head up for Shovelful. The Corona, which had gone by both the Katrina and Sea Fox, passed this beacon on equal tearms with the Endymion, with the Sea Fox four minutes astern and the Katrina eighteen minutes behind. Sheets were eased off for the four-mile run out to Pollock Rip Lightship, and once more the Endymion proved the best boat in the reach, dropping the Corona handily, while the Sea Fox came up from behind and challenged the Dodge boat for second place. The yachts were now more than eight miles off shore and were getting the full power of the gale.

The superior weather and windward qualities of the Corona were made manifest almost immediately, and within half an hour after passing Pollock Rip she was leading boat. The Endymion took a long board off shore, being nearly hull down at one time, and dropped behind not only the Corona and Sea Fox but the little Katrina as well.

Off Highland Light the breeze began to give way and the Corona with spinnaker set crossed the finish line at 6:36, with the Sea Fox, to which she allowed a trifle over 12 minutes, still five miles from the finish and moving very slowly. The stern boats came in during the evening, but it was nearly midnight before the committee was able to give out any figures.

The run to-morrow to Marblehead will be started from off Longpoint Buoy and will finish at Marblehead Rock.

Little Neck Bay Y. C. Cruise.

The annual cruise of the Little Neck Bay Yacht Club will start Friday with a fleet of twenty boats. Sea Cliff will be the objective point of the first day's run and on Saturday the craft will race to Oyster Bay. Prizes will be awarded winners in the different classes on each day. The return home will be made on Sunday. The club which was organized last year has made rapid strides and will soon begin the erection of a clubhouse at the foot of Bayview Avenue, Little Neck Bay, Bayside. The club recently purchased a plot 58 by 232, and William Parkinson, an architect, who is Commodore of the club, has prepared plans for the building. The club is now using a houseboat as the temporary headquarters.

RAN UNDER ASSUMED NAMES

Members of Brooklyn Clubs Being Investigated by A. A. U.

The Registration Committee of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. is investigating several cases of members of minor organizations aligned with the association who competed under assumed names last Saturday at the Diocesean Union games in Newark, and by virtue of long handicaps easily won their respective races, the prizes of which were, however, withheld upon their identity becoming known.

The men against whom charges have been made are F. M. Heller of the Knights of St. Anthony and J. Guerin, Trinity Club, both Brooklyn organizations. Heller galloped off with the three-mile race from the 200 yards handicap, running under the name of J. Waters, while Guerin, named as W. Gorman on the entry list, and in receipt of 75 yards, had a rather easy time in the one-mile event.

Other cases under advisement by the committee are those relating to men who do not live in the Newark district, but who represented clubs belonging in that territory, which is against the rules. As the Diocesan Union recently became affiliated with the A. A. U., these cases may be taken up by the Registration Committee, the members of which intend to thrash them out to the limit.

Golf and Tennis at Profile House.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW PROFILE HOUSE, N. H., Aug. 11.—The annual tennis tournament at the New Profile House started this morning with a record number of entries, and will continue through the week. Mr. and Mrs. William Paige won from Mr. and Mrs. James L. Goodwin, 6—1, 6—1 in mixed doubles. In ladies' doubles Mrs. Frederick Pearl and Miss Robbins lost to Mrs. H. Riker and Miss Fleitman, 6—0, 6—2.

On Tuesday the annual handicap golf tourney for the Governor's Cup, given by former Gov. Draper of Massachusetts, begins, and many other trophies are offered. The play opens with the first round medal play in the morning. Robert Batchelder is offering a cup for selected holes. Harold Tappin of New York has arrived to enter the event.

Motor Cycle Title at Stake.

Andre Grapperon and Charley Davis will fight it out for the motor cycle championship of the world to-night at the Brighton Beach Motordrome, the race being postponed from last Sunday, when rain interfered. The men will race over the two-mile route, the first home in two heats to be declared the champion. As an added attraction to-night Arthur Chapple will be placed at scratch in a picked field over a three-mile route, giving his opponents a lap and a half handicap. Chapple is anxious for a chance to recover his lost title. Wednesday will be ladies' night, when a seventy-five-mile team race will be staged, all the best riders in the country taking part in the event. The teams were drawn last night as follows: Chapple-Grapperon, Davis-St. Yves, Costello-Mercier, Cox-Ohne, Sperl-Sayer, Vedits-Kessler, and Hagan-Cronin.

The OUTSIDE Line
TO BOSTON
(Around Cape Cod)
It is wonderful what this trip does for the man who is working hard in hot weather.
Only about 15½ hours from port to port, but the recuperative effect is amazing.
The secret is breathing salt ocean air, the unbroken night's sleep out at sea, the complete relaxation and change from the daily grind.
Leave Pier 18, North River, foot of Murray St., at 5 P. M. weekdays and Sunday. Due Boston 8.30 next morning. Fare $4.00; inside 2-berth staterooms, $1.00; 2-berth outside rooms, $2.00. Electric fans in inside rooms. Tickets and staterooms at Wharf Offices, at 290 Broadway, also Tourist and N.Y. Transfer Co. offices.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Close Strong on Sharp Advance—Underwriting Union Pacific Offer.

Stocks were taken freely during the final hour of trading yesterday. Most of the leading issues closed on a vigorous advance. Some of the net gains were noteworthy, particularly the 2¼ point advance in United States Steel, the 1⅝ gained by Union Pacific and the rise of 3⅝ points in Canadian Pacific. The movement was in keeping with the recent tendency which has been displayed among other ways by the resistance shown to the unfavorable news of last week regarding the corn crop. The market yesterday had the advantage of favorable news from that quarter, for a good deal of rain fell over Sunday in the corn belt, although the rainfall did not reach all of the corn States. That news had something to do with the strength which stocks showed, for it lessened the restraint which adverse crop news had been putting on the forward movement in prices.

The matter which attracted most attention, however, was the announcement of the price at which the Union Pacific stockholders are offered the right to subscribe to Southern Pacific certificates and the news that arrangements were all but completed for the underwriting of this offer by a syndicate of large membership and very great resources. The understanding that no serious obstacles were being encountered in forming this syndicate was itself reassuring. It was the sort of development calculated to stimulate optimism among traders, for it was assumed that along with the organization of this syndicate would go a certain amount of support for the stocks directly concerned, as one means at ready command to insure the success of the offering. Inasmuch as the certificates, which carry 3 per cent. of accrued dividends, are offered to the Union Pacific shareholders at the price at which Southern Pacific stock was selling when the announcement was made, it was natural that Southern Pacific itself should have been put under some selling pressure. It exerted influence enough to cause a fractional net loss in this stock decline of which was in marked contrast with the general movement of prices, and particularly with the smart advance in Union Pacific. The terms of the Southern Pacific underwriting were not formally announced, but it is understood that the syndicate members will receive a compensation of 2½ per cent. in addition to which the Union Pacific will make an allowance to the managers of the syndicate. The terms, which, under the decree of the court, are to govern the distribution of the Union Pacific's Southern Pacific holdings through the medium of these certificates will necessarily result in a considerable shifting of interest among Union Pacific and Southern Pacific stockholders. The holder of these certificates who is also a holder of Union Pacific must dispose of one or the other. That process, however, is to be extended over a period of nearly two and a half years. Which method the Union Pacific stockholder may choose to liquidate the certificates to which he is now receiving the right to subscribe will depend upon a variety of factors, some of which cannot in any way be determined at this time. There must, however, exist a close relation between the market position of these two stocks until the liquidation of these certificates has been completed.

A further advance in Government 2 per cent. bonds in over-the-counter trading carried them up to 99, which is the highest price at which they have sold since the recent low prices were made. Inquiries reaching bond dealers in this city showed that a number of national banks throughout the country are still disposed to bring up their bond-secured circulation to 40 per cent. of their capital, to establish themselves to that extent in the eligible list for an increase in Government deposits. What has been heard here regarding the Treasury's plans in connection with the distribution of the $50,000,000 which is to be added to the public deposits during the next three months indicates that the Treasury is taking several steps as part of this general transaction, which are intended to uphold the market for the 2 per cent. bonds. It is understand that it has been made plain to the bankers desiring a share of this additonal cash that they must in the first instance have outstanding at least 40 per cent. of their authorized circulation and that they will probably be required to pledge 2 per cent. bonds as security for the additional deposits to the extent of 10 per cent. of the amount allotted. It is also understood that it has been made clear to the bankers that the Treasury will discourage any effort on the part of national banks seeking this additional Treasury cash to transfer any 2 per cent. bonds from circulation to deposit account. This would bar any national bank which already has more than 40 per cent. of its authorized circulation outstanding from releasing some of its surplus bonds from circulation to pledge them as security for Government deposits. Some of the buying of 2 per cent. bonds during the last few days has represented the repurchase by national banks of bonds lately sold by them at lower prices. They have been influenced in this change of position by the suggestions made by the Treasury in connection with the proposed increase in the Government's deposits in the national banks.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Union Pacific Rights.

When the Union Pacific Directors announced yesterday that the Southern Pacific shares, or the certificates of interest representing them, would be offered to Union Pacific holders at 92, the Stock Exchange at once announced that the "rights" accruing had been admitted to listing. The expected active market in the rights did not materialize, however. On the Curb market, where rights are usually handled for the first few hours or days after their creation, the brokers have a clientele that appears more ready to take chances than the customers of the Stock Exchange houses. It is usually possible to get a bid and asked price on expected rights on the Curb before anything definite is known about the offer on which they are based. It was reported on the floor yesterday afternoon that the Union Pacific rights were quoted at 47 cents, but the official sheet showed no record of any transactions at that or any other price.

A Problematical Value.

Southern Pacific shares closed at 92 yesterday, or just the price at which the $88,000,000 will be offered to holders of Union Pacific. The stock released by the Union Pacific Company and held by the Central Trust Company for exchange when the certificates are turned in with the proper disclaimer of interest in Union Pacific stock had an advantage of $3 a share over the rest of Southern Pacific outstanding on July 1, when two dividends of 1½ per cent. had accrued, and this will have been increased to $4 a share by Sept. 2, when the allotment is made. In other words, the net cost of the certificates for Southern Pacific shares offered to Union Pacific shareholders will be 88. On that basis, if the market price is still at 92, the right attached to one share of Union Pacific will be worth about $1, since one share of Southern Pacific can be bought for every 3.7 shares of Union owned. Investors were quick to recall that when the previous offering of Southern Pacific at par was made the price of Southern Pacific in the open market soon fell to that figure, and eventually 11 points further, so that the proposed rights vanished. Market conditions were much less favorable then than now, and if an organized effort is to be made to keep Southern Pacific around its present price it should require much less buying than would have been called forth to keep Southern Pacific "pegged" at par a few months ago.

The Market's Strong Finish.

The stock market closed yesterday with the most impressive demonstration of strength and activity seen in many a week. Until the final quarter hour of the session trading proceeded in a humdrum fashion, and it would have been difficult to point out a feature in the period to distinguish the day from other dull days of the Summer. Around 2:45 o'clock, as though in response to a preconceived arrangement, a number of the largest commission houses began to buy. They went after Steel in big blocks. Union Pacific was practically neglected, but Reading, Amalgamated, Smelters, and most of the other leading speculative issues quickly attracted a heavy demand, and prices moved forward with vim. A lot of stock, apparently, was taken up by a startled short interest, but the retreat of the shorts was looked upon as a secondary factor in causing the advance. The fact that the "talent," as the best-known brokerage firms are collectively designated on the board, were buying all around the room encouraged operations of traders on the long side, and many followers of the market left the Street more bullishly disposed toward stocks than they had been in the morning.

Making Vacation Expenses.

The spurt in Steel toward the end of the session brought quick and fairly extensive profits to those traders who were agile in getting in and out. Others who had guessed correctly in advance what prices were going to do also added materially to their income. A prominent floor trader traveling in Europe, made enough to meet the expenses of his vacation, according to a story heard in the Street after the market closed. He cabled over an order to buy 1,000 shares at 62⅝ and sell them at 63¾. The order was filled both ways by a friend, who charged him $2 per hundred shares commission. His profit was 1⅜ points, or $1,375, of which the broker who executed the orders extracted $40 for his work.

The School for Admiration.

Many a good advertising man has been turned from his natural vocation by a call from the people that he represent them in Congress. "Leave to print," a mailing list, and an electrotype of his signature are all the tools that a Congressman needs for exploiting his work in the public welfare. Take the recent case of the Kansas representative who was accorded the privilege of the floor for an attack upon the Stock Exchange. It is said that there is not a home in Kansas, no matter how humble, which cannot boast a copy of that noble effort, franked there by its maker. Furthermore, something of the Washington atmosphere was attached to each printed page by a little editing. At the close of a particularly stirring paragraph the printer inserted "applause." The audience was evidently with the Kansas Demosthenes, for a little further on the printer interpolated "great applause." Something of the enthusiastic pitch to which the lawmakers were aroused may be gleaned from the final comment, "tumultuous applause." Curious to know how many of the 435 Represetnatives participated in the tumult, a broker wrote to Washington. He learned that besides the Speaker and the speaking member twenty-four faithful servants of their constituents answered to roll-call on that day

Hope for End of Strike.

Local officers of the mining companies which were closed by the Lake Superior strike believed yesterday that they saw signs in dispatches from the scene of trouble of an early resumption of work. The news was too meagre to allow substantial hopes to be built upon it, but those interested in the smaller properties considered the announcement that the Calumet & Hecla Company had begun work in two shafts as an indication that the strike was falling to pieces. The mines around Calumet have been hotbeds of disturbance whence the influence of labor leaders radiated out to the distant territory with power that lessened as the distance increased. If the centres of trouble begin to show weakness of the union's grasp on the situation, the mine owners hope that miners in outlying districts will quickly return to their old jobs.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Quicksilver Mining Company announced yesterday that $25,000 7 per cent. promissory notes had been sold to provide working capital.

Farson, Son & Co. have issued circulars describing these new equipment bond issues: Chicago & Northwestern equipment 4½s; Pennsylvania Railroad general freight equipment 4½s, and Denver & Salt Lake Railroad equipment 5s.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Southern Pacific certificates of interest and Union Pacific rights were active and heavy in the outside market yesterday before they were taken over to the Stock Exchange.

Mining stocks sagged under moderate transactions. A feature of the session was the strength of New Haven convertible debentures.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

United States Steel's rapid advance in the late afternoon was accompanied by a heavy expansion in business on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The highest at which Steel sold on the Consolidated floor was 63⅞, which was a small fraction under its highest on the New York Stock Exchange. The whole market, which had shown hesitation earlier, received an upward stimulus. There was hurried covering of short contracts which had been put out by traders who had been looking for a reaction. Business totaled 42,120 shares, of which fully 60 per cent. was done in the final two hours.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Market Did Little Business—Dullness on the Continent.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 12.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"The rates for daily money and short fixtures were maintained in spite of the arrival at the Bank of England of a very large amount of sovereigns. The India Council reduced its rate the month by ¼ of 1 per cent to 3 per cent. Discount quotations gave way comparatively little as a result of the gold influx. It is expected that another large amount will be received by the Bank of England to-day.

"Stock Exchange business was on a small scale in all markets. American shares moved in both directions, while Canadian Pacific shares rose 1⅝, and Grand Trunk stocks were rather firmer."

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 87f 45c for the account.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Trading was dull on the Boerse to-day.

PAYS 100 PER CENT IN STOCK

Hudson Motor Car Co. Shows Big Business Increase.

Directors of the Hudson Motor Car Company declared a stock dividend yesterday of 100 per cent. The disbursement will increase the company's capital stock to the extent of $1,000,000.

The annual report of the company, covering the fiscal year ended on July 31, showed a gross turnover of business amounting to $10,500,000, an increase of $3,500,000 over the previous year. From net income after the payment of dividends $250,000 was carried to the surplus account.

Oxford Mills in Receivers' Hands.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—The Oxford Linen Mills of North Brookfield were placed in the hands of Allen G. Buttrick of Lancaster and Frank E. Drury of Worcester as receivers to-day by Judge Morton in the United States District Court. It is understood that a plan of reorganization is contemplated. The court also dissolves an injunction by which William D. and Charles D. Plunkett were restraned from foreclosing a mortgage on the company's real estate, satisfactory arrangements having been made to protect the receivers.

FIX NET PRICE OF 88 ON S. P. CERTIFICATES

Union Pacific's Offer to Its Shareholders Is 92, with the Dividends.

PLAN A BIG SYNDICATE

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. May Have as Associate Underwriters 600 Firms and Individuals.

The $88,357,600 of Southern Pacific stock remaining in the Union Pacific's treasury after the exchange of $38,293,000 for Baltimore & Ohio stock owned by the Pennsylvania will be offered to shareholders of the Union Pacific, both common and preferred, at 92. This price, which was fixed by the quotation on Southern Pacific established in the open market, was made public yesterday after a special meeting of the Union Pacific board.

In reality the offering figure is four points under last night's closing price and carries a small "right" for each share of Union Pacific. Since the controlling road was enjoined from receiving any further dividends on its Southern Pacific two quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent. have accumulated. A third dividend will be payable Oct. 1, on which 1 per cent. will have accumulated by Sept. 2, the date at which the offer to Union Pacific shareholders terminates, making the net price of the Southern Pacific stock 88.

In connection with the offer to stockholders one of the largest underwriting syndicates on record is to be formed. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are to manage this, and it is expected that there will be associated with them in assuming any risk of having to take shares not purchased by Union Pacific stockholders fully 600 banking firms and individuals. A large number of foreign houses will participate.

The underwriting commission will be 2½ per cent., so that any stock remaining unsold will be allotted to the underwriters at a net cost of 85½. In addition to this commission the managers of the syndicate are to receive an extra allowance.

This would indicate that the Union Pacific treasury will be in receipt of $78,640,000 in cash, of which $3,535,000 represents the accumulated dividends on Southern Pacific. It is understood that some of the members of the Union Pacific directorate favor distributing a part or all of this sum to Union Pacific stockholders as an extra dividend when the sale is completed, but the matter has not been discussed at any meeting.

Under the terms of the court order, the $88,357,000 of Southern Pacific stock left after the exchange with the Pennsylvania was deposited with the Central Trust Company, which has issued certificates of interest for the shares. These certificates will be sold in lieu of the actual stock, and the holders will not be allowed to exchange their certificates for the real shares until they make a declaration under oath that they own no Union Pacific stock. They are free to sell the certificates, or to sell their Union Pacific stock, exchange their Southern Pacific certificates for stock and then repurchase their Union Pacific, according to bankers' interpretation of the situation.

"FIRST PRINCIPLES"

Safety of principal and punctual payment of interest are the basic principles of conservative investment.

Municipal bonds have these essentials, and pay well at present prices.

All property owners know they must pay taxes. This fact gives a legal municipal bond the maximum of safety, as such public obligations are secured by a lien against all taxable property, and also by the faith and credit of the entire community issuing them.

We specialize in, and can recommend tax exempt municipal bonds; yielding 4½ per cent. and over, and will supply detailed information on request.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Confusion of sentiment among traders, resultant from conflicting weather reports in dry regions of the Southwest, brought erratic price movements in the corn market yesterday. Quotations broke more than a cent a bushel in early operations, but a gradual recovery followed, which reduced losses one-half before the close. Wheat was easy and quiet. Cotton scored a good advance, after the call, but slowed down later and closed practically unchanged. Provisions gained some ground. Active selling depressed cottonseed oil.

WHEAT.

Prices in the wheat market were slightly lower around the opening, owing to the sharp early break in corn and influenced by rather heavy markets abroad and reports of liberal offerings of native wheat on the Continent, as well as more favorable weather in Russia and Australia. Offerings during the day proved small, however, and prices rallied and closed steady at net unchanged to ⅛c higher. There was an absence of aggressive trading either way, and price changes were narrow. Bears were inclined to be conservative, and there was some fear expressed of the probability of a wet harvest in the Northwest, where weather conditions were again unsettled with showers.

Receipts at interior points, while not as heavy as last week, were still liberal, and the visible supply in the United States increased 3,868,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 4,593,000 last week and a decrease of 678,000 last year. The total visible is now 41,546,000, compared with 16,083,000 a year ago.

The increased offerings in Europe have apparently taken the edge off the export demand, and no sales were reported during the day, although wheat is moving out liberally on old purchases, and clearances from seaboard ports were 1,232,000 bushels, compared with 348,000 last year. World's exports for the week were 12,800,000 bushels, compared with 9,392,000 the previous week and 10,096,000 last year. Advices from Chicago said that it was reported there that a cable had been received from Argentina reporting frost, but that little stock was taken in the theory of frost damage to wheat at this time of the year. In the local market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at 93c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York, export basis, and 94½c, free on board, to arrive; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 97¼c, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

The corn market was erratic owing to a difference of opinion regarding the crop situation and the effect of recent rains. The map showed good precipitation over practically the entire belt, with the exception of Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma, and gave promise of rain in that section in the near future. Prices at the start broke 1⅝c to 1¾c, but during the day developed a steadier tone and closed at a net loss of ½c to ⅝c.

The Southwestern cash markets were firm, and Kansas City was said to be buying in Illinois and Iowa, while at the same time country acceptances were said to be larger. Receipts were small and the visible supply showed a decrease for the week of 1,167,000 bushels, compared with an increase last year of 401,000. In the local market export corn was quoted at 80c, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

The oats market declined early with corn, but rallied with that market and closed steady at net unchanged to ⅛c advance. Receipts were liberal at interior points and the visible increased 26,000, compared with an increase of 219,000 last year. The local cash market was weak; standard white quoted at 47 to 47½c, No. 2 45c, No. 3 46 to 46½c, No. 4, 45½ to 46c, ordinary clipped white 46 to 47½c, fancy clipped white 48 to 49c, all elevator.

COTTON.

As the result of weather reports indicating that Saturday's predictions of a break in the Southwestern drought had failed to materialize over Sunday, there was an active covering movement at the opening of the cotton market yesterday. The continued dry, hot weather failed to stimulate any fresh buying of importance, however, and the early advance was lost, with the market closing steady at a net gain of only 3 to 6 points. The absence of any important trade demand, favorable crop accounts from the Eastern belt, a feeling that the good rains reported in Arkansas might yet work into the drought section, and an increasing new crop movement probably restricted buying, and after the first flurry of covering had subsided the market seemed to be without any active support.

The opening was firm at an advance of 10 to 11 points, with December contracts selling at 11.05, or about 13 points above the low level of Saturday. There was quite an active demand on the call, but the volume of business soon tapered off, and the official forecast for unsettled weather in Oklahoma, with showers in Arkansas, evidently helped to modify uneasiness over the Southwestern weather situation. At any rate, prices quickly turned easier, and during the early afternoon sold back to practically the closing figures of last week. The official detailed weather reports showed only a few light showers in Texas, with generally dry and continued hot weather both in that State and in Oklahoma. The noon weather advices indicated no change in these conditions, and probably helped the rally of 3 or 4 points toward the close.

Weekly crop news published by Memphis and Georgia authorities were generally optimistic as to crop conditions east of the river, but noted deterioration in the Western belt. Local bears believe that this deterioration is from a very high promise, and also contend that rains in the near future might greatly improve the situation, while, aside from the crop outlook, they still predict lower prices this Autumn, on the ground that threatened legislation against trading in futures will restrict speculative support and encourage spinners in holding off during the height of the new crop movement. Galveston reported new crop receipts of 759 bales yesterday while 4 new bales were received at Savannah and 1 at Mobile. Southern spot markets officially reported were unchanged.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was lower early in the day under further liquidation prompted by the decline in corn, but prices rallied sharply on covering and closed at the top. Hog receipts were moderate and prices were generally higher in the Western markets. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 40,000; estimated for Tuesday 15,000; Kansas City received 5,000, and Omaha 3,500.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The declining tendency noted in the cottonseed oil market recently has apparently attracted more aggressive operations on the selling side and prices were weak and lower under liquidation on the part of longs as well as what was thought to be short selling. There was, moreover, heavy pressure in October and November, which was believed to be hedging operations resulting from more liberal sales of crude oil in the South. The recent weakness in lard also had some influence on sentiment, as it has apparently resulted in a less active demand for compound.

COFFEE.

After opening firm at 2@9 points higher in the face of weakness in Europe, prices continued to advance until the active positions showed net gains of 26@31 points from the final of Saturday. Rio and Santos spot markets were 50 reis higher, and futures showed an advance of 50@100 reis. Late in the day the market lost part of the gain under profit taking, but closed steady at a net advance of 15@21 points. Havre market was 1@1¼f lower early, but rallied and closed net unchanged to ¼f higher, while Hamburg, after showing an early decline of ¾@1¼ pfennigs, closed net unchanged to ¾ lower. The cost and freight market was steady, with sales reported of Santos 4s at 11.15@11.25c, and 4s and 5s at 11.10c, while Rio 7s sold at 8.80c.

Spot coffee firmer; 9¼c Rio 7s.

Warehouse deliveries of coffee in the United States last week were 78,272 bags, against 87,105 last week and 94,968 last year.

Receipts at Rio and Santos last week aggregated 457,000 bags, against 379,000 last week, 340,000 last year, and 837,000 two years ago.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

BEEF.—There were no changes yesterday in wholesale prices for Western beef cuts in this city.

SUGAR.—The refined sugar market was unchanged yesterday, on a basis of $4.70 for fine granulated. The London beet sugar market was lower, August being quoted at 9s 3½d, September at 9s 3¾d, and October-December at 9s 4¼d. The local raw sugar market was quiet, although prices were firm.

MOLASSES AND SYRUPS.—The molasses market was dull and unchanged. Syrups were quiet at unchanged prices.

RICE.—Conditions in the market were unchanged. Trading was quiet, with prices firmly held.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—Trading in this market was quiet, with buyers little disposed to buy heavily for forward shipment. It is thought that the total amount of business done so far this season is much behind last year. Cornmeal advanced to $3.70, Spring bran to $24.10, standard middlings to $24.75, red dog to $29.75, and city bran to $22.40 for bulk and $24 for sacks.

OILS.—There was no change noted in the oil market.

NAVAL STORES.—The turpentine market was steady, with only a small jobbing demand. Resin was quiet, prices being about as last quoted, although concessions are probable. Tar was firm, with prices about as last quoted. There was only a seasonable demand.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

A steady tone prevailed at the Metal Exchange yesterday for copper. There were 25 tons of the spot delivery sold at 15c. Tin was higher with a firm undertone. Lead and spelter were steady and unchanged.

PAR VALUE OF STOCK OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY

REPRESENTED BY CERTIFICATES OF INTEREST ISSUED BY THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE, UNDER THE FINAL DECREE, DATED JUNE 30, 1913, OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE DISTRICT OF UTAH IN THE SUIT OF UNITED STATES OF AMERICA vs. UNION PACIFIC R. R. CO., et al.

To Stockholders (Common and Preferred) of the UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY:

Supplementing the circular of the undersigned Companies dated July 11, 1913, offering to stockholders registered on the books of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at the close of business on August 7, 1913, the right to subscribe (to the extent of twenty-seven per cent. of their holdings of Union Pacific stock, preferred or common) to Certificates of Interest in 883,576 shares of the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Company, notice is hereby given as follows:

The date on which the right of subscription will terminate (hereinafter called the "subscription date") is September 2, 1913.

The price of subscription is $92. for each share represented by such Certificates of Interest, payable in full on or before the subscription date, or, at the option of the subscriber, in two instalments, viz.: $25 per share on or before the subscription date, and the balance (i. e., $67.), with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum to the date of payment, on or before the second day of September, 1914.

The said price of subscription is equivalent, as of the subscription date, to $88. per share and accrued dividends, since the Certificates of Interest offered for subscription will represent, as of the subscription date, in addition to the stock, the two quarterly dividends thereon payable April 1, and July 1, 1913, of 1½ per cent. each, which have been collected and are now held by the Trustee, as well as the portion of the dividend for the current quarter which will have accrued on the subscription date.

The Subscription Warrants issued by the undersigned Companies, evidencing the subscription right, must be surrendered by the stockholders or by the persons to whom the Warrants have been assigned, with the subscription form endorsed thereon duly executed, on or before the subscription date, either in New York at the office of the Trustee, the Central Trust Company of New York, 54 Wall Street, or in London at the office of Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., 8 Bishopsgate, E. C., accompanied in either case by payment of the first instalment, or of the full amount, of the subscription price, as the subscriber shall elect, and all Subscription Warrants not so surrendered with such payment on or before the subscription date shall be void and of no value. Checks or drafts in payment of subscriptions must be drawn either in favor of the Central Trust Company of New York in New York funds, or in favor of Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., in London funds at the rate of exchange as fixed by them.

Said Trustee, directly or through Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., as its agents in London, will, on surrender of the Warrants and on payment of the first instalment, issue Subscription Receipts which will be transferable by assignment, and will also, upon full payment and surrender of the Warrants or Subscription Receipts, as the case may be, issue Certificates of Interest registered in the names of the purchasers. To those making full payment in London, Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., as agents for the Trustee, will in the first instance deliver temporary receipts, exchangeable, free of expense to the holder, for Certificates of Interest as and when received from the Trustee. Subscription Receipts and Certificates of Interest delivered in London will bear the English stamp. The Certificates of Interest and Subscription Receipts will be in the form appended to the above mentioned Final Decree of June 30, 1913.

No affidavit is required to be signed as a condition of subscribing. There is no restraint upon the acquisition or subsequent holding of Certificates of Interest by stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. The affidavit as to non-ownership of Union Pacific stock is not required to be filed until Certificates of Interest are presented for exchange into shares of stock of the Southern Pacific Company deposited with the Trustee, and as a condition to such exchange, or as a condition to obtaining a proxy to vote at stockholders' meetings of the Southern Pacific Company.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

THE JOHN F. STEVENS CONSTRUCTION COMPANY, general contractors and engineers, of 55 Wall Street, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday, alleging assets of $301,551 and liabilities of $318,743. The assets were listed as stock, $50,000; plant equipment, $94,300; accounts, $133,331; claim for damages for breach of contract, $4,000; two auto trucks, $10,000; cash on hand, $302; cash in bank, $688, and books, $30. Judge Mayer appointed Joel Rathbone and Frederick W. Stelle, receivers, under bond of $50,000, with authority to continue business for twenty days. It was stated that if existing contracts are carried out there would be a profit of $200.000 and all creditors would be paid in full. The creditors listed include: John F. Stevens, President, $132,000, notes and cash advanced; National City Bank, $50,000; American Bridge Co., $6,249, Austin & Ireland Lumber Company, $2,832; Paul Elliott Importing Company, $2,116; Horton Lumber Company of Stillwater, $3,227; Johnston & Murray, Syracuse, $4,085; New York Edison Company, $3,237; Lidgerwood Manufacturing Company, $5,086; New York Central Railroad, $4,803, and Yellow Pine Company, $8,644.

JOHN ROLLMANN, butcher, of 763 Columbus Avenue, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday, with liabilities of $203,706 and assets consisting of a half interest in a six-story apartment house, 630 West 135th Street, which interest is mortgaged for $10,000, and he puts in the equity as of no value. This is his second time in bankruptcy. An involuntary petition was filed against him on Oct. 31, 1910, which is still pending in the United States District Court. Of the liabilities, $137,896 is on bond and mortgage, and among the creditors are: Stella Abrahem, $65,000, mortgage now being foreclosed; Annie G. Johnson, $17,000; Herman Wronkow, $25,000; estate of Herman Wronkow, $20,860 judgment; Anthony W. Miller, White Plains, $11,500, and Peter Clemens, $10,896.

J. L. PERLMAN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Julius L. Perlman and Sol Nussbaum, doing business as J. L. Perlman, dealer in men's furnishing goods at 855 Prospect Avenue, by these creditors: Martin Grossman, $600; Morris Herman, $100, and Abraham Cohen, $70. Liabilities are said to be $5,000 and assets $1,000.

GREGORY'S RESTAURANT, Incorporated, at 17 West Thirty-second Street, in the Hotel Aberdeen, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $2,650 and assets of $3,956. Judge Mayer appointed William Blau receiver.

ADOLPH SANDERS, dealer in men's goods at 1,565 Third Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $2,976 and assets of $1,005.

HENRY ERICKSON YOUNG, driver for express wagons, of 54 West Ninety-eighth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $538 and no assets.

FINROCK IRON WORKS. — Judge Mayer has appointed Milton M. Sittenfeld receiver for the Finrock Iron Works, 405 East Ninety-ninth Street, bond $1,000, and he may continue business for twenty days. Liabilities are over $25,000 and assets $5,000.

R. BASCH & CO.—Judge Mayer has appointed Alex Rosenthal receiver for Rudolph Basch, trading as R. Basch & Co., clothing manufacturer at 817 Broadway.

Rice to Join American Audit Co.

Harry M. Rice, Commissioner of Accounts for the City of New York, has been elected a Vice President of the American Audit Company, according to an announcement sent out by the company yesterday. Mr. Rice will join the Audit Company on Jan. 1, upon the completion of his term of office.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The Duplan Silk Company has secured control of the new silk manufacturing firm at Lyons, known as the Tissages de Vizille, together with the mill formerly owned by Tresca Freres at Vizille, France. This mill will produce novelties both in plain and fancy silks. The Duplan Company will maintain branches in both Lyons and Paris.

E. Owen Price, who recently represented Arnold B. Heine & Co. in the Middle West, and H. H. Landwehr, who formerly traveled in Ohio and Kentucky for the Krower-Tymberg Company, are now in their respective territories representing the Chicago Embroidery Company.

J. Clifford Woodhull and Francis R. Masters are to become associated with the commission house of William Whitman & Co. about Dec. 1.

Imports of dry goods in the port of New York for the week ended Aug. 2 were valued at $2,813,526. Withdrawals from bonded warehouses during the same period totaled $721,509, and imports of general merchandise were valued at $12,123,487.

The total sugar stock of Europe and America, according to a report just received, is 2,530,315 tons, against 1,783,326 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The increase of stock is 747,049 tons, against 767,883 tons last week. Total stocks and afloats together show a visible supply of 2,645,375 tons, against 1,903,325 tons last year, or an increase of 743,049 tons.

The J. E. Manix Company, 320 Church Street, will hold a meeting of notions buyers to-day.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

Hand-blocked shapes of velour de laine and plush are being shown to the better millinery trade in negre brown, curbeau, vert fonce, terra cotta, sarcelle, and other novelty shades and materials. Hats larger than have been worn for several seasons are shown, but not extreme sizes.

Because of the superstition that peacock plumage brings bad luck to the wearer, manufacturers of this popular millinery plumage are cutting the "eyes" out of the feathers and selling the disguised fancy as a new form of numidic aigrette.

A lamp placed on the market by a prominent company is quite a departure from the ordinary ones. It is entirely of glass, the standard being designed with three distinct arms that branch out gradually and are then brought together at the top to hold the fittings that support the dome. The peculiarity of the glass in the shade is its stippled exterior, the decoration being on the inside.

Mourning fashions now include large roses of English crepe, with matching leaves. They are shown in white and black materials, and are used in place of natural flowers or for trimming hats.

Net top effects, especially those with run silk and metallic thread designs of a light character, are to be among the best of merchandise this Fall.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

An ingenious life preserver, said to possess marked advantages over the type now in use, has been invented by Allain Reed, an employe of the Merchant Marine Service of Havre. It consists of a garment of strong material of the same shape as an ordinary vest, but equipped with inflatable rubber crowns or tubes, somewhat on the principle of water wings.

A leading hardware dealer in the Province of Mysore advises that there is a good opening in India for American folding, collapsible waterproof boats, if such boats can be really waterproof and not subject to serious deterioration from intense heat and sunlight.

While cottonseed oil is used to some extent by bakers for pastries and cakes, it is principally used in the coastal sections of South Africa by natives and Asiatics for frying fish. It is also used quite extensively by the Hebrew residents of South Africa for cooking purposes.

There has been a considerable increase in the imports of tobacco of all grades into Hongkong during the past two years, and there has also been a marked increase in the export of Chinese tobacco to other countries. Imports of American tobacco have been increasing, but whether there will be further increase is considered problematical.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSAL FOR EXTENSION TO DRAINAGE PUMPING STATION NO. 1.
Sewerage & Water Board of New Orleans.
New Orleans, La., May 28th, 1913.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Secretary, at the office of the Board, Room 508, City Hall Annex, until 12 o'clock noon the 15th day of August, 1913, for the construction of an extension to Drainage Pumping Station No. 1, including suction and discharge basins, which contract is designated 55-D.

Plans, specifications and blank form of proposal may be obtained at the office of the Board.

A deposit of $100.00 will be required of each applicant for a set of plans and specifications, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of the plans in good condition.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

N. B.—Due to insufficent advertising in the Official Journal, date of opening bids extended from July 28th to 12 noon August 15th, 1913.

GEO. G. EARL, General Superintendent.
F. S. SHIELDS, Secretary.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Trade Barometer's Good Showing.

The demand for typewriters is said to be one of the most accurate barometers of business conditions. Judged by this standard, the country's business has shown little indication of slowing up under tariff uncertainties, according to C. W. Hand of the Underwood Typewriter Company.

"Sales have been unusually heavy this Summer with us," said Mr. Hand yesterday, "despite the reports of uncertainty in business circles. One of the best features of the business has been its genral character. No one section of the country has appeared busier than the others. Personally I see no foundation for the pessimistic ideas that have been advanced in certain quarters of the mercantile world. I do not anticipate a great deal of competition here with foreign machines under the new tariff. American manufacturers are successfully competing with European makers in their home markets. I believe that the foreigner will have a hard time breaking into this market to any extent."

Precious Stones Advancing.

There is a constant upward tendency in the prices of precious stones. Diamonds and pearls are higher than they were a year ago at this time, and sapphires continue to advance. This is especially true of sapphires in sizes over one karat. The output of these gems is practically at a standstill, and the demand for them is increasing. It was said yesterday by a trade authority that sapphires would soon become as valuable as fine emeralds. Emeralds are scarce also, and the price of a good one-karat stone ranges upward from $300. A good two-karat emerald is worth from $750 up, which is a great deal more than the value of diamonds of like quality and size. Good rubies are not so much in demand as emeralds and sapphires, but they still sell well to discriminating purchasers. A good ruby, weighing close to four karats, sold recently at wholesale for nearly $10,000. Among the so-called semi-precious stones aquamarines and black opals lead. Aquamarines are especially adaptable for use in medium-priced jewelry, and have the property of appearing more beautiful under artificial light than under natural light. Fine black opals are getting very scarce, as the producing fields are rapidly becoming exhausted.

An Aid in Keeping Appointments.

A department store in Seattle has recently installed a new item of service for the convenience of its patrons. Although the store has ample waiting rooms, many customers plan to meet at the street entrance. Near this entrance, on a shelf, has been placed a ledger, in which friends may write messages to one another in cases of conflicting engagements. For example, two shoppers may have made an appointment to meet there at 1 o'clock. One shopper waits until 1:30, and then writes in the ledger: "I have waited a half hour for you. You will find me in the suit department." Shoppers have become accustomed to looking over this ledger, to save time and annoyance.

Self-Regulating Cigar Moistener.

Cigar dealers have long realized the necessity of equipping their cases with a cigar moistener that would adapt itself to weather conditions. This problem is said to have been solved by an automatic device recently placed on the market by a Milwaukee house, which throws off moisture rapidly on dry days and slowly on damp days. The water in the tank is drawn to the surface by means of a wick, and one filling of the tank will last ten days.

⁂

Swedish Wood Pulp and Paper Free

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—To Sweden to-day was conceded the right to send wood pulp and paper into the United States free of duty. The State and Treasury Departments decided that the recent decision of the Customs Court that nations having "most favored nation" treaties with the United States were entitled to free wood pulp and paper, because that privilege was granted to Canada, was applicable in principle to Sweden. Claims of other countries are under consideration.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Contract Given for Lincoln Trust Company's New Building on Fifth Avenue—West Side Apartment House Leased—Bank Rents Bronx Corner for New Branch Office.

The realty market in and around Manhattan was at a quiet ebb yesterday. In respect to new transactions little of importance was recorded. An item of Fifth Avenue interest was the announcement that the contract for erecting the new three-story building at 204 Fifth Avenue for the Lincoln Trust Company has been given to Charles A. Cowan & Co. The new structure will adjoin the northwest corner of Twenty-fifth Street. The frontage is 28.3 feet, and the plot runs through to Broadway. C. P. H. Gilbert is the architect. The Lincoln Trust Company now occupies the building at 208 Fifth Avenue, just above the parcel to be improved.

Buyer of West Side House.

Robert S. Streep is the purchaser of the dwelling, 45 West Eighty-fourth Street, sold last week by Mark Rafalsky & Co. for Marie L. Peters. A few months ago Mr. Streep sold the dwelling at 110 West Eightieth Street.

Apartment House Leased.

William H. Matthews & Co. have leased the 75-foot front elevator apartment house at 503 and 505 West 111th Street, known as the Clara Court, for Alfred Blumenthal.

Bronx Borough.

The two-story building at 1,072 Grant Avenue, on plot 32 by 100, has been resold by Alexander Rankin. The plot forms the southwest corner of Grant Avenue and 166th Street, and was recently acquired by the seller from the Melrose Building Company.

McLernon Brothers have sold the three-story brick dwelling at 2,397 Walton Avenue, on plot 20 by 100, for N. S. Dilberger to a client for occupancy.

Bronx Lease for Bank.

The store on the northeast corner of Wendover and Bathgate Avenues has been leased to the Public Bank of New York, and after alterations a branch of the bank will be opened there. The lease was negotiated by H. J. Radin for Hayman Rasing, and is for ten years.

Brooklyn.

Meruk & May have sold to Charles Tritschlee a plot of eight lots with a frontage of 80 feet on Myrtle Avenue and 80 feet on Onderdonk Avenue, just east of Covert Avenue, and running through the block. The buyer will improve the plot with three-story brick business buildings.

Frank A. Seaver has sold the one-family house at 62 Mackay Street for Thomas Bennetto to a client for occupancy.

Long Island.

Taendler & Scholz have sold for Seraphin Baier five lots at Rockville Centre Terrace, Rockville Centre, to Jacob Gittin of Brooklyn, who gave in payment two two-family houses on Shoe and Leather Street, Woodhaven.

Eight lots on the west side of West First Street, near the Sheepshead Bay Road, have been sold by the Somerville Realty Company to the Reading Realty Company, and the plot 40 by 100 on the east side of West Thirty-sixth Street has been sold by the same company to E. A. Bridges.

Staten Island.

Cornelius G. Kolff has sold for Henry S. Seawood the frame cottage on plot 55 by 61 on Cedar Street, near Columbia Street, West New Brighton, to Catherine Nolan for investment.

Leases.

Pease & Elliman have leased, in conjunction with M. Cozzens, the store at 9 West Twenty-eighth Street to Max Schleer.

The store at 3,861 Third Avenue, in the Bronx, has been leased by H. J. Radin for the Zarland Realty Company to Louis Neurburger.

Irvington Estate Leased.

Pease & Elliman have leased for Stephen C. Millett his country place, known as Caldwell House, at Irvington, N. Y., to George M. Landers. The property contains about forty-eight acres, occupying one of the highest points on the ridge east of Broadway and commands a wide view. Nearby are the C. H. Matthiessen and R. B. Dula country places.

W. D. Phipps Buyer of Dunmere.

Walter D. Phipps of Boston was the buyer of the former R. G. Dun estate at Narragansett Pier, known as Dunmere, which was sold at auction last Saturday by Joseph P. Day. J. W. Spring represented Mr. Phipps at the sale and got the property for $60,000.

Realty Notes.

A meeting of the United Real Estate Owners' Association will be held this evening at the Grand Union Hotel.

A lis pendens in forty-five actions of foreclosure against the Currie Realty Company, a corporation operating in Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Graham Avenues, Long Island City, was filed yesterday by the United Assets Corporation. The Currie Realty Company carried on operations amounting to about $500,000. The United Assets Corporation holds mortgages on the property.

Referees' Notices

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York.—NEW YORK POST GRADUATE MEDICAL SCHOOL AND HOSPITAL, Plaintiff, against RACHEL SAMUELS et al., Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 21st day of July, 1913, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 20th day of August, 1913, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by JOSEPH P. DAY, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL those two certain lots, pieces or parcels of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, which on a certain map, entitled "Map of the James Delancey Farm (western part)," filed in the office of the Register of the County of New York as Map No. 492, are known and designated as Lot No. 848 and part of Lot No. 849, and which taken together are bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Eldridge Street distant southerly one hundred and five (105) feet two and one-half (2½) inches more or less from the corner formed by the intersection of the easterly side of Eldridge Street with the southerly side of Stanton Street, which point is at the northerly wall of the northerly building on the premises herein described, running thence easterly along the northerly face of said wall and on a line in continuation thereof eighty-seven (87) feet six (6) inches; thence southerly parallel with Eldridge Street forty-five (45) feet more or less to a point opposite the southerly wall of the southerly building on the premises herein described; thence westerly to and along the southerly face of said wall eighty-seven (87) feet six (6) inches to the easterly side of Eldridge Street, and thence northerly along the easterly side of Eldridge Street forty-five (45) feet more or less to the point or place of beginning.

Dated New York, July 26th, 1913.

JOHN H. ROGAN, Referee.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—An area of high barometric pressure, with fair and cool weather, is over the lake region and North and Middle Atlantic States. To the south and west of this area, where the pressure is falling, the weather has been somewhat unsettled, and scattered showers occurred Monday in Virginia, North Carolina, and the middle Ohio and upper Mississippi Valleys, but the rainfall was light at all places in these sections.

Showers occurred Monday also in Florida and along the Gulf Coast to the Mississippi River.

The weather continues warm and dry in Kansas, Missouri, and the States southward to the Mexican border.

Temperatures have risen quite rapidly in the Northern Rocky Mountain and Northern Plains States.

EDUCATION NOTES.

Vacation School 146, Eighteenth Street, near Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn, will give an exhibition to-day. In the class rooms, where millinery and other useful trades are taught, the girl pupils will wear the articles which have been made by themselves.

Associate City Supt. Andrew W. Edson, who is filling City Supt. Maxwell's place during the latter's absence on vacation, will end his work in that office this week and will probably take a short vacation himself. He will be succeeded by Dr. John H. Haaren, who will be Acting City Superintendent until Dr. Maxwell's return to this city from Norfolk, Conn., about Sept. 1.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Education will hold its stated meeting to-morrow afternoon. Its next meeting after that will be on Sept. 10, the same day that the Board of Education will hold its first meeting of the school year 1913-14.

The reports of the majority and minority of the Committee on Elementary Schools with regard to the case of Mrs. Bridget C. Peixotto, former teacher in charge of the Throggs Neck Public School, have been printed, and copies have been sent to all the members of the board. It is likely that the board will take action in her case at its first meeting in September. Mrs. Peixotto absented herself from her duties, saying that she was suffering from mastoiditis. The committee, after a hearing of her case, decided that she absented herself in order to bear and rear a child. The majority report is in favor of her dismissal. The minority reports, submitted by Dr. Ira S. Wile, is in favor of Mrs. Peixotto's retention in the public school service.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following reports of Assistant Chief Examiner Murray:

Transmitting report of Mr. Fuld, examiner, showing the progress made in the keeping of efficiency records of employes of city departments.

Relative to his investigation of the statements as to experience made by the second group of candidates on the list of title examiner.

The commission has approved the recommendation of Examiner Fuld that the reports of his investigation of the lists for mechanical draughtsman, (sanitary,) engineer inspector, (architectural,) automobile engineman, and accountant, (supplemental,) be filed.

The name of William Boland, veteran, 239 East Eleventh Street, headed the recently promulgated eligible list for court attendant. His rating was 79. The highest rating, 94.60, was obtained by Michael T. Delahanty, 1,161 Third Avenue, whose name on the list came next to that of Veteran Boland.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces for Aug. 20 an examination for marine fireman in the service of the United States Quartermaster in this city. The salary is $720 a year. CLEAN-UP WORKERS BROKE HEALTH LAW

Three Arverne Women Active in Sanitary Crusade Themselves Failed to Obey Code.

WARNED BY MAGISTRATE

Borough Officials, Accused by Women, Sought Revenge, Said Defendants' Lawyer.

Three women and one man, who are among the most active workers in a movement recently inaugurated in Arverne to keep the streets clean and to have the garbage removed daily, were themselves found guilty yesterday in the Jamaica Police Court of having violated the Sanitary Code.

The clean-up movement was started several weeks ago by prominent women of Arverne. They said collecting garbage three times a week as the borough officials did was not enough, and that to leave the streets littered with papers and refuse, as they accused those officials of doing, was intolerable. So they invited all the residents to contribute $1 each, and most of them did. With this money the streets were cleaned, sixteen big tin refuse cans were purchased and placed at prominent street corners, and arrangements were made for a private collection of garbage every day. Then the organization invited Borough President Connolly of Queens to look Arverne over.

"You won't know the place it's so much cleaner," said the women.

Mr. Connolly accepted the invitation, made a tour of inspection, and praised the women on their civic pride and accomplishments. A few days later the women were surprised to learn that several Health Department Inspectors were making an inspection of Arverne.

"Why, it isn't possible that they'll find anything we overlooked!" exclaimed the leader of the clean-up league.

But the inspectors did. They found several uncovered garbage pails standing in front of houses. So the inspectors issued summonses and the five appeared in court yesterday. One of them was Morris Berkowitz of Jessica Avenue and Story Place, whose wife is president of the clean-up society, and at whose home a meeting is to be held tomorrow night. The others were Mrs. Regina Stark of 1 Remington Avenue, Charles Levine of Alexander Avenue, Mrs. Johannah Ottens of the Boulevard, and Mrs. Bertha Prince of the South Side Boulevard, all but one of whom are enthusiastic workers in the organization.

The workers were defended by Miss Irene D. Ottens, a woman lawyer, with offices at 620 Boulevard. She told of the good work done in upholding the Sanitary Code and improving conditions left unnoticed by the borough officials. Magistrate Miller found all the defendants guilty, and suspended sentence, with a warning.

"I believe the horrid old Street Cleaning Department put up the Health Department to do this because we complained to President Connolly about the way the streets and the garbage collections were neglected," said Miss Ottens, as she left the court room.

PRESSMEN GO ON STRIKE.

Resumption of Labor Troubles in Plant of Doubleday, Page & Co.

It became known last night that twenty-two union pressmen and press feeders employed at the plant of Doubleday, Page & Co., at Garden City, had gone on strike. William F. Ehrhardt, President of Printing Pressmen's Union 51, said the trouble had come about because union men were discriminated against. Four or five, he said, had been discharged without cause. On the other hand, Russell Doubleday, while confirming the report of labor troubles, asserted that no men had been discharged because they were union men. It was well known, he said, that the plant was an open shop. Frank N. Doubleday, President of the firm, said that of the twenty-two, seventeen were boys employed as feeders and five were pressmen. He said that the trouble had come about because, at the instigation of a delegate from New York, the twenty-two had demanded a closed shop.

William H. Page, a Director of the company, was named as Ambassador to the Court of St. James's by President Wilson in the Spring, and immediately a controversy arose which culminated with a request for his recall on the ground that he was an opponent of organized labor.

According to the Ehrhardt version of the present trouble, a committee called upon the firm to protest against the discharge of several men and was refused an interview. Then, he said, the union men were told that they were not wanted, and a lockout was declared against them. On Friday, he said, the company offered to take some of the men back, but the union men refused the offer and declared a strike.

President Doubleday replied that there was no lockout. There were perhaps 140 men employed in the pressroom, he said, and the action of the twenty-two was unimportant.

NOW THEY TALK GAYNOR.

Indication of Tammany's Purpose to Renominate the Mayor.

While there was no outward evidence yesterday that Tammany was considering the renomination of Mayor Gaynor, there was indication in the way of talk by district leaders that such was Tammany's purpose. It is known that several district leaders have journeyed to Good Ground recently and obtained the tip from Leader Charles F. Murphy that the Mayor was the best candidate in sight for Tammany, and that he would undoubtedly be renominated.

There was a conference yesterday at the headquarters of the Mayor Gaynor Fusion and Nominating League at 27 William Street, at which it was decided to circulate several thousand petitions calling for the renomination of the Mayor. Two new organizations were affiliated with the league—the Gaynor League of Foreign-Born Citizens and the East Side Gaynor League. Other organizations represented were the Committee of One Thousand, of which William Lustgarten is Chairman; the Gaynor Enrollment Committee, of which Charles W. Higgins is Chairman and Major John W. Tunbridge is Secretary, and the Citizens' League of Brooklyn, of which Henry Weisman is Chairman.

The first Gaynor banner will be flung to the breeze at Houston Street and Second Avenue on Wednesday night by the Mayor Gaynor League of Foreign-Born Citizens, of which Joseph Barondess is Chairman.

PAYS FINE IN INSTALLMENTS

Magistrate Allows Chauffeur to Pay $5 Down and $5 a Week.

A plan that will prove a boon to impecunious lawbrakers was put in force yesterday afternoon by Magistrate House in the Essex Market Court. The Magistrate allowed a chauffeur who pleaded poverty to pay a $25 fine on the installment plan, $5 down and $5 a week, thus obviating the unpleasant alternative of sending him to prison.

When Isidore Wein of 121 Broome Street, who was arrested early yesterday morning by Traffic Policeman William Crawford, charged with exceeding the speed limit along the Bowery, was fined $25, the minimum for a first offender, by Magistrate House yesterday afternoon, he said to the court:

"Your Honor, if I could pay $5 down and the balance in $5 weekly installments, I could pay my fine with but little inconvenience."

The Magistrate looked for guidance in the direction of Assistant District Attorney Lockhardt, but the prosecutor was for once at a loss for an opinion, as paying fines on the installment plan was, to say the least, an unusual mode of procedure.

"I've got a good job. I'm employed by an automobile tire company, and I assure you that you'll get the $5 each week," Wein pleaded.

"But you are not released on any bail under your proposal," the Magistrate said.

"Oh, that's all right. You'll get your fiver every seven days," the chauffeur asserted.

"I'll do it,' announced the Magistrate after some deliberation. And Wein quit the court a free man, little suspecting that he had established a precedent in jurisprudence.

On Saturday, while crossing the Bowery, Magistrate House and Assistant District Attorney Lockhardt were nearly run down by a large auto going south at high speed. A complaint regarding the reckless speed of automobiles along that thoroughfare was made to the police, and the arrest of Wein followed.

HIS ESTATE WAS ALL LOOT.

Property Worth $30,000 Held by Vogel Identified by Victims.

The appraisal of the estate of Joseph Vorndran or Henry Vogel, as he was known to the police, was filed in the Surrogates' Court yesterday. This was the last chapter in the sordid story of a notorious criminal and Fagin, who, when he was run to earth by the police on Nov. 18, in the Elsmere Hotel, at 161st Street and Courtland Avenue, shot seven of his pursuers and was killed with a woman known as "Lottie," who posed as his wife.

It was supposed that Vorndran had acquired wealth through the loot brought to him by his pupils, but so many stolen articles were identified after his death that the estate was found to be in debt. According to the appraiser there was only $100 to meet debts of $350.

When Vogel was killed a key to a safe deposit box in the Germania Bank was found in his pocket. The bank refused to allow the police to open it. As none of his relatives could be found and criminal charges could not be brought against a dead man, there at first seemed no way of gaining entrance to the vault. Edgar J. Bernheimer, a lawyer of 10 Wall Street, who sought to identify articles stolen by Vogel from his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mae Bernheimer, was told of this difficulty and solved it by having Mrs. Bernheimer appointed administratrix of the estate as a creditor. Under her order in this capacity, the police were allowed to open the box.

The box contained fifty-seven articles of jewelry and stocks and bonds stolen from the home of Alfred J. Stern of 1,864 Seventh Avenue by the woman known as Lottie, who had been employed as cook there. It was by tracing this woman after the Stern robbery that the police picked up Vogel's trail. Of the $30,000 worth of jewelry and furnishings found in Vogel's rooms, all except $50 worth were identified by their real owners. The true assets of his estate came from furniture in Vogel's flat at 529 West 151st Street. This had apparently been bought by the thief.

BRINGS THEATRE MODELS.

Prof. Brander Matthews Has Material for Columbia University Museum.

Prof. Brander Matthews of Columbia University, who has been in Europe combining pleasure with work, and who while abroad got together many models of famous French theatres, arrived from London on the Atlantic Transport Liner, Minnehaha yesterday morning. One of the models is of the Palais Royal, and another is of the theatre used by Moliere untol his death in 1673. All of the models are for the Museum of Columbia University

When Prof. Matthews landed yesterday morning it was the end of his fortieth voyage across the Atlantic. Every one of the forty he said had been enjoyed to the fullest extent, yet, as was the case at the end of all the other Westward voyages among the forty he was glad to be home again. Mrs. Matthews was with him.

Widow Gets O'Sullivan Estate.

The will of Judge Thomas C. O'Sullivan, who died on July 29 at Spring Lake, N. J., was filed for probate yesterday in the Surrogates' Court and disposed of property estimated in the accompanying petition as "more than $1,000 realty and more than $1,000 personalty." All the property is bequeathed to his wife, Mrs. Minnie E. O'Sullivan. The executors, who are requested to act with Mrs. O'Sullivan in directing the education of the children, are Senator James A. O'Gorman, Daniel Meenan, and Emmet J. Murphy.

SUICIDE NOTE FAILED TO FOOL THIS WIFE

Mrs. Weilbrenner Played Detective After Husband Left Bag on Brooklyn Bridge.

CLUE FROM A YOUNG WOMAN

Trail Led to Boarding House Up-State, Where Wife Surprised the Missing Man at Breakfast.

A week ago William H. Weilbrenner of Clinton and Bergen Avenues, Jamaica, who until recently had been foreman of the Belmont Park race track during the last season, left a suitcase on the Brooklyn Bridge, together with a note intimating, so the police interpreted it, that he was about to commit suicide. But instead of donning widow's weeds Mrs. Weilbrenner did a little detective work and discovered that her husband, before disappearing from home, drew a considerable sum of money from a Jamaica bank, collected several outstanding debts, tried hard to sell his automobile, and withdrew his silver-mounted shaving mug from his barber's shop.

None of these facts looked like the activities of one on suicide bent, so Mrs. Weilbrenner enlisted the aid of Detective Dennis J. Killane of Jamaica, who soon learned that in spite of Weilbrenner's reputation as one devoted to wife and children and home he had been spending much time with a young woman of Queens.

The detective was introduced to this young woman, and during a walk with her gained possession of her handbag. On searching it he was rewarded by finding a note addressed to the young woman by "R. S. Walker."

"My dearest darling," it began, and its punctuation was little crosses. It gave the recipient detailed instructions for going to Troy by boat, thence by train to West Sands Lake, where the writer said he was stopping at the boarding house of Miss Anna Ferguson. Mrs. Weilbrenner identified the handwriting as that of her missing husband.

Last Friday Killane and Mrs. Weilbrenner, the latter with her face hidden in a voluminous automobile veil, traveled to West Sands Lake, and, posing as brother and sister, registered at the boarding house. The next morning as they entered the dining room they found Weilbrenner enjoying breakfast at a corner table, laughing and joking with other guests. But he quickly drooped when, removing her veil, his wife said:

"Well, William, I see you're still alive and well."

Then Killane stepped up and arrested the husband on a warrant charging abandonment. Owing to legal formalities, Killane was unable to bring his prisoner back to New York at once, so he lodged him in the Rensselaer County Jail and returned alone, leaving Mrs. Weilbrenner at West Sands Lake. Killane got word yesterday that he might have his prisoner, and left last night for Rensselaer County.

TRANSFERRED AT SEA.

Minnehaha's Captain Rids His Ship of Two Stowaways.

On the second day out from London, on Monday, Aug. 4, Capt. Claret of the Atlantic Transport liner Minnehaha, which arrived from London yesterday, was informed that he had two stowaways on board. The Minnehaha was communicating by wireless with the eastbound Minnewaska of the same line, when the presence of the stowaways was made known to the skipper.

Capt. Claret asked the commander of the Minnewaska to shape his course so as to meet him an hour or two later. This was done and the stowaways were transferred to the Minnewaska, which took them back to London.

CITY BREVITIES.

A sentence of eleven months in the penitentiary was imposed yesterday in Special Sessions upon Joseph Kupperman, who was convicted of having stolen a baby carriage last week from Mrs. Marie Levino of 21 East 110th Street.

Joseph D. Duffy and Ulrich J. Huberty, appointed to revise the City Building Code, filed suit yesterday in the Supreme Court for $5,000 each, as the compensation due them from the city. They demanded pay from Controller Prendergast, but were told that he had no authority to make such a disbursement.

Dr. V. A. Jahmando, a Hindu herb specialist, was fined $50 yesterday in Special Sessions. For lack of $50 he will spend ten days in jail. The complaint was made against him by the County Medical Society on the ground that he had sold "astrologically prepared" herbs.

The Settlement Committee of the striking knitters announced last evening that more than 50 per cent. of the employers had made settlements with the knitters, and that their employes would return to work to-day.

The umbrellamakers of this city are preparing to strike for higher wages and a shorter workday, according to the organizers of the United Hebrew Trades. An umbrellamaker's union has been formed and meetings have been arranged. It is said that the strike will be called on a day of drenching rain.

MUFFLER TO STOP SKIDDING

Exhaust Gases Force Sand Under Rear Wheels of Autos.

Not long ago in these columns was described an English device for preventing skidding by forcing sand under the rear wheels of an automobile as soon as lateral motion began. This principle had already been anticipated in this country, it seems, by an invention of Benjamin Douglass, Jr., a lawyer of this city, which uses the muffler as a skid preventer. Mr. Douglass is an enthusiastic automobilist and after a number of unpleasant experiences of slipping and skidding in wet weather he determined to work out some method of giving the car a more secure footing under conditions of this kind. His patent, which was allowed in March, contains this descriptive clause as claim number one:

> The combination in an automobile of an explosion engine, an ordinary muffler, a secondary muffler comprising a closed receptacle normally partly filled with sand into which exploded gases are discharged and substantially silenced, connections from the explosion engine to both the mufflers, and connections from the secondary muffler to convey the substantially silenced gases and some of the sand in front of and on either side of one or both of the driving wheels of the automobile.

The secondary muffler which is the crux of the device is provided with one or more slotted pipes, and sand is forced through these by the exhaust gases into the path of the rear wheels at the will of the driver. Still another anti-skidding device using sand was patented by Lester Samuels in November. In this case the sand is forced on to the tires instead of on the ground in front of them, on the principle that in this way it can not be wasted and escape the slippery areas.

Those who incline to thrills in connection with motoring may now try a new sport, called motor cycle leaping, which has been developed by an employe of one of the big rubber companies at Akron, Ohio. The sport is like ski jumping to the extent that it is performed on a down grade, and the leap takes its inception at a mound. In the case of motor cycle leaping this is furnished by an ordinary water bar or "thank you, marm." The faster the speed the further the leap. By taking a down grade at a smart rate, and jumping the machine with his knees when the water bar was reached the originator of this sport recently made leaps of from 20 to 24 feet at a maximum height of 18 inches. One of the vital things for the rider to remember is not to apply his brakes while in the air, for if he should land with brakes set an ugly spill over the handle-bars would almost certainly result. Motorcycle leaping may be practiced on the level as well as on down grade, a raised section of the road being the sine qua non. The greatest distances, however, can be made downhill.

Many more used cars are being sold this season, according to one of the dealers in this branch of the trade, than at a corresponding time last year. Runabouts and six-cylinder touring cars are in special demand. The demand for used 1913 models, now that some of the 1914 models are out, is said to greatly exceed the supply.

FUNSTON FAINTS AT DESK.

Victim of Conditions in Old Mercer Street Station.

Police Lieut. William Funston of the Mercer Street Station, soon after he reported for desk duty yesterday morning, threw up his hands and dropped to the floor. Dr. Sawyer of St. Vincent's Hospital, after an examination, said that Funston had merely fainted. Lieut. Funston responded quickly to treatment, and was taken to his home at 18 Fourth Street, Broklyn.

Funston was appointed to the police force in 1897, and was made a Detective Sergeant by Chief Devery, and attached to Headquarters. He remained at Headquarters until a year ago, when he was sent to do patrol duty by Commissioner Waldo. He was assigned to the Mercer Street Station—one of the oldest and most unsanitary police stations in the city. The main room of the building is low ceilinged, and the plastered ceiling is covered by sheet metal to prevent the plaster from falling. The metal reflects the heat of the lights upon the desk below. There has been much complaint about the conditions.

When the Lieutenant was stationed at Headquarters he was assigned to act as bodyguard to most of the important personages who visited the city.
